

HAVE YOUR Serge or Summer Clothes MADE TO ORDER BY THE FRANK T. CARROLL CO., Coal Exchange Building, WYOMING AVENUE.

EASTERN LEAGUE BASE BALL GAMES

It was a Poor Day for the Last Division.

SOUTH PAW BROWN KNOCKED OUT

Providence Veterans Took kindly to His Curves--Wilkes-Barre Won a Very Close Game from the Ponies. Stars Could Not Solve Wadsworth.

Yesterday's Results. Providence 10, Springfield 1; Wilkes-Barre 2, Scranton 1; Buffalo 1, Syracuse 4; Rochester at Toronto, rain.

Today's Eastern League Games. Wilkes-Barre at Scranton, Providence at Springfield, Toronto at Rochester, Syracuse at Buffalo.

Percentage Record. Providence .500, P. W. L. 10 7 3; Springfield .500, P. W. L. 10 7 3; Buffalo .500, P. W. L. 10 7 3; Syracuse .500, P. W. L. 10 7 3; Rochester .500, P. W. L. 10 7 3.

RUBBING IT IN. Providence 10, Springfield 1; Wilkes-Barre 2, Scranton 1; Buffalo 1, Syracuse 4; Rochester at Toronto, rain.

Brown Pounded Out of the Box and Gave Way to Handy Man Mennery. Providence, Sept. 2--Providence had revenge on Scranton today for her two defeats by rubbing it in by the score of 11 to 1.

The Braves got up by far the shapeliest game of the week and knocked one of the Scranton club's left-handed pitchers out of the box in the fourth inning. Score:

Table with columns: Providence, A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. Providence 10, Springfield 1.

Scranton. A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. Scranton 1, Providence 10.

Buffalo. A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. Buffalo 1, Syracuse 4.

Syracuse. A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. Syracuse 4, Buffalo 1.

Rochester. A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. Rochester at Toronto, rain.

LEAHY WAS RESPONSIBLE. His Misplays Presented the Game to Wilkes-Barre.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 2--Leahy's misplays at second were responsible for Springfield's defeat today. Both pitchers were in fine form, and kept the batting side scattered. The ball of both teams was sharp and quick. Score:

Table with columns: Wilkes-Barre, R. H. P. O. A. E. Wilkes-Barre 2, Springfield 1.

SPRINGFIELD. R. H. P. O. A. E. Springfield 1, Wilkes-Barre 2.

AMATEUR BALL NOTES. The Bulldogs of this city, challenge the Browns of Olyphant, to play Friday afternoon on the Browns' ground.

The Dashers, of Old Forge, challenge the West Side Athletes for Sunday, September 6, on their own ground.

The Dashers, of Old Forge, challenge the Harmonies to a game of ball for Sunday, Sept. 13, on any ground.

The Andy Stone base ball club challenge the Washburn-Zerfass base ball club to a game on the Hollow grounds Sunday at 9 a. m.

The Bittenbenders base ball club have heard nothing from the Eureka Harmonies and Olyphant Browns, again challenge the above three clubs.

The Hardy Boys, of the West Side, wish to play the Laurel Hill Stars next Monday at Gamons' hill at 9:30 a. m.

Went Three Competition Heats in Better Than 2:04. New York, Sept. 2--In the presence of eight thousand spectators at Fleetwood Park today, William Simpson's handsome stallion, John R. Gentry, lowered the colors of Robert J. Frank, again and Star Pointer, winning the most remarkable harness race on record.

Went Three Competition Heats in Better Than 2:04. New York, Sept. 2--In the presence of eight thousand spectators at Fleetwood Park today, William Simpson's handsome stallion, John R. Gentry, lowered the colors of Robert J. Frank, again and Star Pointer, winning the most remarkable harness race on record.

Went Three Competition Heats in Better Than 2:04. New York, Sept. 2--In the presence of eight thousand spectators at Fleetwood Park today, William Simpson's handsome stallion, John R. Gentry, lowered the colors of Robert J. Frank, again and Star Pointer, winning the most remarkable harness race on record.

Went Three Competition Heats in Better Than 2:04. New York, Sept. 2--In the presence of eight thousand spectators at Fleetwood Park today, William Simpson's handsome stallion, John R. Gentry, lowered the colors of Robert J. Frank, again and Star Pointer, winning the most remarkable harness race on record.

Went Three Competition Heats in Better Than 2:04. New York, Sept. 2--In the presence of eight thousand spectators at Fleetwood Park today, William Simpson's handsome stallion, John R. Gentry, lowered the colors of Robert J. Frank, again and Star Pointer, winning the most remarkable harness race on record.

Went Three Competition Heats in Better Than 2:04. New York, Sept. 2--In the presence of eight thousand spectators at Fleetwood Park today, William Simpson's handsome stallion, John R. Gentry, lowered the colors of Robert J. Frank, again and Star Pointer, winning the most remarkable harness race on record.

deducted somewhat from public interest in the race, but it was a great race from every point of view.

TO REVISE SCORING RULES. Eastern League Baseball Writers Meet in Syracuse and Organize.

Base ball writers of the Eastern League met in this city yesterday and formed 'The Sporting Writers' Association of the Eastern League.

Two sessions of the association were held. Organization was effected and Will P. Baker, of the Syracuse Courier, was elected president.

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

The proprietors of the Yates provided luncheon at 1 o'clock and John Cronin's drag took the party to Mackay's for an afternoon. Mr. Everett attending the boxing bouts at the Alhambra, the newspaper men were tendered a banquet by G. Watt Fleming at his Salina street "Crematorium."

By the courtesy of E. C. Stearns & Company the members of the association were yesterday given a trolley ride through the chief streets of the city.

GOLD DEMOCRATS AT INDIANAPOLIS

which that could have been "the silver is worth 33 cents in the markets of the world, and we trust in God to get the other 47 cents of it." (Laughter and applause.)

Those gentlemen, Colonel Fellows said, who now sought to betray us, should have learned a lesson from the original betrayer. He demanded 30 pieces of silver for one betrayal, you are asked to do it for 16. (Laughter and cheers.)

Colonel Fellows eulogized Mr. Cleveland's action in determining that the laws should be enforced during the Chicago riots, he ventured to assert that there were ten millions of American freemen who were ready to stand behind that declaration and make it good with their lives.

Here he convention rose to a man and there was a scene of great enthusiasm. Continuing, Dr. Everett said: "We are told that we might do as well by casting our votes for the candidates nominated at St. Louis--I mean the first St. Louis convention, not the second--(Laughter.) We are told that for sound money's sake we have nothing to do but to go over to that convention. Mr. Everett, I respectfully decline that public virtue is centered in the Republican party, if it were only for this year, if it were only for this year, I might think differently of what we are to do. But we are not here for 1900, we are here for a future. There are hundreds and thousands of young men growing up and asking for whom they are to vote and who know nothing of the traditions of the party. They want to know what party to join themselves to, which is the progressive party, the party of the day and of the hour, and they want to know what party to be not the last but the first of a series of conventions. (Loud applause.)

Dr. Everett resumed his seat amid loud and long continued applause. The report of the committee on permanent organization was then presented by the chairman of the committee, Mr. James E. Taylor, of Indiana, who recommended Senator Donelson Caffery, of Louisiana, as permanent chairman, and Mr. J. K. Wilson, of Indiana, for permanent secretary and further recommended the establishment of a permanent national organization. The report was adopted without a dissenting voice.

At the close of Mr. Caffery's speech, John P. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

WHEELING NOTES. One of the track novelties of the present season promises to be the mile race for messenger boys at the meet of the West Virginia Athletic Association at Mathattan Beach on Labor Day.

This should be one of the interesting events of the great offer since it is the first race ever arranged for the benefit of a noble element in the list of public necessities.

The biggest factor in the future of cycling is the small boy. The small boy, it is almost needless to say, has been the most successful manufacturer could ask for. A few years ago he was satisfied with a cumbersome solid tire bicycle.

At the close of Mr. Caffery's speech, John P. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)

Mr. Irish, of California, was introduced and made a speech to the convention. Alluding to the Democratic convention held in Indianapolis during the war under threat, he said, of physical extermination, he remarked that they were here today under threat of extermination of that which was dearer than life. They were here to defend against further attack the public credit, the national honor and the private and personal honesty of the individual.

"We are here to denounce, right and left, the enemies of all that we have gained since '64. We are here to denounce on the right hand the Republican party, for by the extravagance of its congressional appropriations, it has so entailed a debt upon the people that it offers an excuse for a renewal of the pernicious paternal policy of protection. We are here to denounce and antagonize on the left hand the Populists of Chicago and St. Louis for by their threats, involving the free colonies of silver and a claim to a financial foundation made up of a depreciated and fluctuating currency have so destroyed public confidence as to paralyze the activities of the people of this republic, and limited their access to an extent that the present import laws cannot by congress do away with. If revenues they would if confidence and prosperity were abroad in the land, we arraign these two enemies of the plain people of the republic as co-conspirators in a complementary and reciprocal policy, which have produced the conditions which have led to our present financial and industrial depression. (Loud and long continued applause.)

The candidate of one combination standing for an advance of protection, by that artifice called protection, the other conspirator represented by a candidate for the presidency who is preaching to the people the gospel of high prices to be secured by reducing the purchasing power of our money--each policy meaning burdens upon the industry of the laborer, upon the profits of enterprises and upon the avails of business. (Loud and long continued applause.)