Washington, Sept. 3.-Li Hung Chank's reception in Washington tonight was made the occasion of a great popular demonstartion at the railway station, along Pennsylvania avenue and at the Arlington. Vast crowds were attracted to catch a glimpse of the tall old statesman, his yellow jacket, his numerous suit and the dashing troops of cavalry and everywhere h was vociferously cheered on recognition. The special train reached Washington on time, at 8.20, and Minister Yang Yu followed by the members of the delegation had entered the train and extended a welcome to the viceroy who had traveled comfortably in Vice-President Thonson private car No. There were gathered Major General Ruger and his aide, Major Davis, the secretaries of the embassy, Lord Li Ching Fong, Viscount Li, Messrs, Le Feng Luh, Ling Li Son, Lien Fang, Yu Shi Mei and E. B. Drew, Doctors Mack and Irvin, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Boyd, of the Pennsylvania railroad. The station except the passage way from the train to the street where the four troops and mounted band of the Sixth cavalry waited, was crowded with people, even the trains on the side track being filled with sightseers. When the minister arrived he at once entered into an apparently enjoyable conversation with the viceroy who laughed immoderately for a time and then called for a cup of tea.
