Brief Mention of What Is Doing in the Pleasure Way.

NEW BUSINESS CLUB'S QUARTERS

Rooms in the Board of Trade Build-Short Paragraphs -- Personal Mention of Someone You Know.

The Scranton club, the new social organization of business men, will take ssession of its apartments in the new Hoard of Trade building sometime during the early part of December. The house committee in considering the designs and quality of the furniture and furnishings has aimed to have only the Conn. best and most artistic that money can buy. Few, if any similar clubs in cities of the size of Scranton will possess a more elaborately appointed house,

There are two especial reasons why a pronounced tone and perfection are desired. The club's personnel comprises the most influential, well-known | Hill, of North Filmore avenue. and well-to-do men of the city's professional and business elemnt, They PERSONAL MENTION: want the best or nothing for themselves, and naturally, do not care to entertain business men from abroad in an inferior way. In past years a Scranton man has been forced to dine or otherwise entertain his business friend from New York or Philadelphia at the hotel or at the former's home. The one method smacks too strongly of the commonplace while the other caused either inconvenience in the house or was unsatisfactory to a degree relative to the guest's capacity for being made a formal guest. The commonplace and the formality can be done away with by means of the club. Its scale may be inferred from the fact that recently its officers tried, but without success, to rent two floors instead of one and a half, which was the space first decided

JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS MONDAY

Symbolic of the Harvest, a Proper Lutheran Anniversary Celebrat on Tomorrow -- Adventists to Establish

The Jewish New Year begins next Monday at sunset The year is 5657 and the new moon will inaugurate its exstence The "Feast of the Trumpets will be celebrated at the Linden stree temple during the observance of the event. There will be three services and a sermon by Rabbi J. Feuerlicht Monday evening and Tuesday morning. All places of business controlled by Jews will be closed during the period of celebration. The fete falls on the first of the Jewish month Tisri, which came to be regarded by the ancient Israelites as the anniversary of the birth of the world. The old Rabbis even fabled that on this day God judges all the souls of men, which pass by Him like the sheep of a flock before shepherd. The "Feast of Trumpets' it was called, owing to the ceremony of the blowing of trumpets within and without the temple. January the first is a dreary New Year's tide. The Jews hose the season of sowing as the appropriate time and offered up the first fruit as a propitiation for bountiful is that it is our plain duty to urge the city, borough and township authorities to en-force the Sunday laws of the state and to suppress and discontinue all athletic sports, excursions and selling of merchandise on the Lord's day. Also, Resolved, further, That th and ministers of this association be requested to present this important matter before their respective churches, and to be personally interested in the abolition of ball playing and other sports in their re spective localities on the Sabbath day: Officers were elected as follows: President, Rev. D. M. George, Pittston; vice president, Rev. Fred Tello Evans Lansford; scribe, Rev. W. Tudwell Williams, Slatington; assistant scribe. Rev. W. C. Davis, Minersville,

The Tribune's news columns on Thursday told of the intention of the Seventh Day Adventists to form a church of their creed in this region. The new church will probably be located on the West Side where the tent missionary services have been conducted for the past two months. In charge of these meetings were K. C. Russell, an evangelist, J. H. Schilling, a student; and W. H. Smith, an elder of the The three men were sent out by the Adventists' conference of Pennsylvania. So great an interest in their doctrine has been stirred up by the evangelists that there have been sufficent converts to warrant the organization of a church. During the coming winter the Adventists will worship in Béers' hall on North Main avenue.

The Salavtion Army will hold Harvest Home services, beginning this evening and ending with a harvest sale Tuesday night. The meetings will be held in the Price street armory. This evening will be a gift meeting. Tomorrow the day will be devoted spiritual service and on Monday night a Harvest tea will be in progress bethe sale on Tuesday evening the goods collected will be marketed, the proeeds going to the army fund. All provisions unsold will be distributed among the poor. William De Garris will be the officer in charge.

DRAMATIC GOSSIP.

It is a pleasure to announce that among the many attractions to visit us this season will be Mr. and Mrs. Grandin, with their superb company organized by Manager William Hennessy, to present a series of romantic plays of a high order. Mr. and Mrs. Grandin are spoken of as the American Kendalls, their productions being similar to these great English artists', but they are and wish to be known as thorough ly American. # Home of the Scranton Country Club.

Work has been started on the foundation of the proposed home of the Scranton Country club. The accompanying picture was made from the plans of Architect Holden and shows what the building will look like when

The site is near the Oral school on a ten-acre plot of ground belonging to the Pennsylvania Coal company and for which a leasehold agreement was signed on Thursday morning by the officers of the club and by company officials. The contract for erecting the club house has been let and it will be finished in about two months. While the club plot consists of only ten acres, there has been obtained the privilege of using for golf the broad stratch of comparatively open country which lies contiguous to the club property and which is admirably suited to the new and popular game. The house site is not situated, as is generally suppreed, on what would be an extension of North Washington avenue. It lies about a half-mile back of the Pennsylvania Oral school on an imaginary continuation of Adams avenue. It is reached, however, via Washington ave-
