BRUTAL FATHER BEAT HIS DAUGHTER

She Escaped and Rushed to a Woman for Protection.

FACE CUT AND BODY BRUISED

After Being Arrested, the Father by a Ruse Secures a Gun and Defies the Officers—Finally Locked in the Police Station—Associated Charities Will Take the Child.

A woman living in Keyser Valley was startled yesterday morning by the appearance before her of a ten-year-old girl, whose face was covered with blood and whose garments were torn and covered with dirt and blood.

The child is Mary Shumberg and she is the daughter of Michael Shumberg, whose wife is dead. The father and child live at 141 Meridian street and before daylight yesterday the man shamefully beat the girl, his daughter. As soon as she escaped from his hands she ran out of doors and came upon the woman as described. There were cuts across her forehead and black and blue body bruises testified to the cowardly assault of the father.

FATHER ARRESTED. The girl was taken before Alderman John, of the Fourth ward, where she gave the information leading to Shumberg's arrest. Constable Joseph Dean and Scott Shavers went to Shumberg's house last night and arrested him. He seemed quiet enough, and upon the steps he asked to be released, but he wanted to get something from his coat, he said.

When he again came out of the dwelling Shumberg held in his hand a loaded shotgun. "Now, who has the best of it?" he cried as he pointed the muzzle toward Constable Dean. Shavers came forward to assist in the scuffle. Shumberg was again subdued and the gun taken from him. He was escorted before Alderman John and after a hearing on two charges, assault and battery and pointing firearms, he was placed in the West Side police station.

The girl will today be given in the charge of Mrs. Dugan, agent for the board of associated charities.

PEOPLE TURNED AWAY.

Couldn't Get Into Davis' Theater in the Evening.

Davis' Linden street theatre yesterday opened its seventh season as a caterer to the Scranton amusement-loving public and the opening was of the kind which makes manager and patrons feel happy. May Smith Robbins in "Little Trixie" was the attraction.

Miss Robbins was here last season with the same show and things looked more than natural. Even the house had not changed much in appearance. Things are fresher looking, but the same attendants are there—Walter Williams, superintendent; Mr. George E. Davis, treasurer, the upper gallery "special," and the bustling young man who comes out before the curtain and goes up and lights the foot gas jets with a match which won't light.

A new pianist, Ed. A. Dwyer, takes the place of Tom Kosciuszko. It was after 3 o'clock yesterday when the curtain went up. The gallery of the theatre was packed, but there were a few seats to spare down stairs. The show is a good one. Miss Robbins is clever and so is her company. At the evening performance the audience overflowed. People were turned away. The show will be repeated today and tomorrow, afternoon and evening.

MUCH FUN, FEW PEOPLE.

That Was the Condition of the Firemen's Convention.

The firemen's union went to Lake Ariel yesterday, and the firemen were about the only class of people who did go, the popular patronage of the outing being so small that but three cars were needed to carry the excursionists. It was a great damper to the fire committee in charge of the affair.

It was thought that a big excursion would take place and the money to be so obtained was to have been used in coining to this city the next state firemen's convention. There was everything except people at the lake; tin sandwiches, ice-cream, etc., but the excursion would supply for a time the appetites at the county jail. Select Councilman Fred. Durr and Chief Hickey had a foot race. The councilman came into the tape two abdomens behind the chief, but the referee gave the prize to an on-looker.

The firemen will hold a picnic next week in Central Park garden and the proceeds will go toward the convention fund.

FELL WITH A CRASH.

Falling Plaster Causes Commotion in the Parrot House.

Without warning and with a resounding crash the plaster fell from a large area of the ceiling fall in the Parrot House dining room last night during the supper hour while the several tables were filled with guests. There were three tables in the apartment. The plaster fell on one at which ten persons were seated.

A Mr. Wetland, a crayon artist, was seriously cut on the head and Miss Dwyer had both of her wrists cut. Others sustained trivial cuts and bruises. The accident caused a great commotion. No warning of the falling mass could be given and it crashed upon the table, crockery and guests with a bang and clatter that was heard half a block away.

EVIDENCE AGAINST GAMBLERS.

Arbitrators Lop Off $100 from the Detective Agency's Bill.

An award was filed yesterday against the city in favor of the Barring & McSweeney Detective Agency. The amount awarded was $474.44, though the agency claimed $570. The bill was for gathering evidence against gambling houses preceding the memorable raid in the spring of 1895.

City funds available for paying the claim amount to $474.44, the same as the award. The arbitrators were Attorneys M. W. Lowry, T. P. Duffy and Roscoe Dale.

All the sessions will be held there, and

HOW LABOR DAY WAS CELEBRATED

Thousands of Workmen Observe Their Annual Holiday.

BIG PARADE AND SMALL PICNIC

Marchers Represented Nearly all the Labor Organizations in the City. There Were Music and Enthusiasm. The Picnic at Lincoln Park Not a Prominent Success.

Labor Day was celebrated in Scranton with a union picnic in the afternoon and a parade at Lincoln park, Dunmore, after the paraders had finished their march in the city. The picnic was not as largely attended as was expected by the Central Labor union officials, who had the affair in charge; but the parade was really creditable and more crowded with spectators, shows the workers in Scranton have not forgotten the great day of tribute to united labor.

The weather was made for parade purposes. The day wasn't warm, neither was it cold; it was just about right and the marchers did not complain of this new kind of work which comes in yearly installments. Every workman who belongs to a workman's organization was, in his best clothes, on the streets bright and early. Short-ly after the noon hour the streets became crowded with more and more pedestrians and at 2 o'clock, when the parade started from Franklin avenue, there was a pretty good sized aggregation of on-lookers.

IN THE PARADE.

In the lead of the line were two mounted policemen followed by Grand Marshal Stephen B. Price, Chief of Staff James McLane, and Alder Charles W. Wilhelm, John Emerich, and M. R. Stone. The Lawrence band was the first of the musical organizations.

The parade was in the first place. Mayor James G. Bailey, John Williams, of Utica, N. Y.; C. Bon Johnson, of this city, and President Philip J. Thomas, of the Central Labor union; and in the second, C. G. Boland, city treasurer; Edmund Robinson, city controller; Nelson G. Teets, secretary of Labor Day committee and state organizer for the retail clerks; John M. Knowlton, treasurer of Labor Day committee.

After the carriage the following was the order: Sisters' union, Stone Bricklayers' union, Laceweavers' union, Plasterers' union, Clear-makers' union, Turners' union, Painters' union. This ended the first division. In the next were the Carpenters' union, No. 563; Carpenters' union, No. 484; Stonemasons' union, Plumber's union, Iron Moulders' union, Typographical union; Visiting Clerks' association, Scranton Clerks' association, International Union of Steam Fitters, International Union of Scranton Progressive Union, Lathers' union, the different Mine Accidental Fund associations and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Hauer's band and Crump's West Side band, the Forest band played march music in the line.

The paraders made a presentable appearance. The Typographical union, with "Roxey" Stone on a horse in front, looked as neat as new type. The types were lined dusters with headgear similar to tourists' helmets. The white dusters of the Plasterers' suited that style of labor. It was noticed that the heads of many of the paraders in the organization were the color of the dusters. Yet they marched as brightly as the younger types.

THE LARGEST ORGANIZATION.

The Carpenters' and Joiners' union had the largest number of men in line. The Turnsmiths wore bouquets. The Laceweavers made a fine appearance. Each man carried regalia of white lace and their standard was a quantity of the material draped about a cross with poles.

In the last division of the parade was the trades' display. It was not large. The Industrial News, the official organ of the Central Labor union, headed this division. From a carriage copies of the paper were distributed.

The line of march was: Franklin avenue to Lackawanna avenue and Adams avenue, to Linden street, to Washington avenue, to Vine street, to Jefferson avenue, to Pine street, to Madison avenue.

A mistake with detrimental consequences was made when Pine street was reached. It was the intention of the parade to change to have the parade disband on Madison avenue. According to this arrangement the paraders would be along the Laurel Hill line of cars and within a short distance from Lincoln Park, where the picnic was held. But when the line reached Pine street part of the second division turned down toward Adams avenue and the picnic was minus the attendance of several hundred men who were expected to attend.

ATTENDANCE WAS SMALL.

This caused a great dampening of the festivities. Very few persons were at the park up to 5 o'clock in the evening. The speeches which were to have been given by C. B. Johnson, of this city, and John Williams, president of the Carpenters' and Joiners' union of Utica, N. Y., were delayed for want of hearers. Toward evening, however, the attendance warranted a speech by Mr. Williams and he talked at length on "The Merits and Benefits of the Order." It was an interesting argument in favor of unity. Mr. Williams eschewed the discussion of politics, though he is a candidate for the state assembly from his district in New York. He is the Labor Union's candidate and is likely to be endorsed by the Republicans. Personally, he seemed anxious to know how the people of this region behaved themselves on the silver question but he never once referred to it in his talk.

Dancing and other amusements occupied the time of the picnic.

AMUSEMENTS.

Lawrence Hamley, who has been specially engaged to support Lillian Russell in the elaborate production of her new comedy play, "An Innocent Sinner," at the Academy tonight, was the understudy for Booth and Barrett in their celebrated joint tour, and in many of the individual productions of these great artists. His own work in "The Playboy" is familiar to all for its success. He creates the striking character of Dr. Jacob in this new production—a villain true to life, but also, unfortunately, unfamiliar in drama where villains are burdened with unnatural burdens of intensity. But Dr. Jacob is just bad enough to accomplish his own ends—a very natural and frequent condition of wickedness.

It would be too much to say that com-

do you persist in using those old chipped dishes?

You probably never knew you could buy a 114 piece Haviland & Co. French China Decorated Dinner Set for $34.00, an open stock pattern at that. You need not buy the whole set—for a small family you could possibly select what you need for $15.00 or less. Haviland China is cheapest because it is tough and when chipped does not turn black. There are a great many people who are replacing broken dishes from our open stock patterns. It pays them, it will pay you. Try it!

Conservatory Class-Lessons.

The class system of musical instruction is used in the leading conservatories of Europe and America. One of Boston's ablest and most conscientious musicians after years of experience in both class and private instruction says: "When I see how much better my class pupils acquire themselves than my private pupils, it makes me feel that I wish never again to give another private lesson." Madame Marchese, of Paris, the famous vocal teacher, uses the class system only, and has her pupils remain several hours listening to the instruction of others. Pupils taught in the presence of pupils find it much easier to play or sing in public, besides becoming familiar with the difficulties of others. Mendelssohn said that "by the participation of several in the same lesson a true musical feeling is awakened; that it promotes industry and spurs on to emulation."

The class-system will be employed in PROF. J. ALFRED PENNINGTON'S SCHOOL FOR THE PIANO, VOICE, ORGAN AND HARMONY, though private lessons may be had if preferred. This school opens for the summer session on Thursday next, Studio—301 Madison avenue, corner Linden, and Elm Park church.
