HASTINGS' ADDRESS.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentle-men:—In the national debates of the past, as well as in state and local political centests, the disposition to does not, or that if he does he has up to magnify the importance of the result this time successfully concealed his men the country or the locality has purpose. This has been a disappointment of these who rejoiced in his nominecessary to produce that condition nation, but have had time for reflection mind among the people of the counsince the convention. When he started in the campaign upon which we from Lincoln on his journey east his enow entered. Every voter has been a student of nolitical economy. New York. When he reached the latter Every American Interest has become involved. Party lines have been substance, from much speaking and trampled under foot. Old issues which for years formed the dividing line have largely diminished in the scrutinizing Eric, Pa., Sept. 9.—A glorious day leaders and party men who still adhere greeted the Republican league clubs of to the long-established faith of Democthe vanquished will be strange bedfel-lows to a large extent. The St. Louis convention reaffirmed the well-known principles of the Repub-lican party and registered the will of the people in the nomination of McKinley.

It reiterated its faith in the American protective policy, in reciprocity and in the Monroe dectrine; declared that the Hourse dectrine; declared that the Hourse dectrine; declared that the Hourse declared that the depublicans of this country were unalterably opposed to every measure cal-culated to debase our currency by im-pairing its credit; it opposed the free coinage of silver, except by interna-tional agreement with the leading com-mercial mations of the world, which they necked themselves by the reason by the treasury depart-ment and conveys. It silk 145 columns culated to debase our currency by impairing its credit; it opposed the free and purpose was fairly portrayed in zation," according to the free silver diethe worse confounding attempts at de-liberative action. The outcome was a logical product. The president was a money." As a matter of most absoconsured for issuing bonds and "traf-leking with bank syndicates" in order of silver by the United States in 1873, to pay the expenses of the government | nor at any other time, for there has which the failing revenues of the Wil-son bill could not provide. The Su-the government when sliver was not preme court of the United States was denounced because of its decision on the income tax law, and threatened with a course of discipline. The Fed-special issue for the Chinese tradeeral judges were assailed because of their attitude toward the railroad strikes in '94, particularly in Chicago,

The utterance of that convention or the money question has aroused the people as they have not been aroused probably since 1861. The new issue has created practically and for the time being two new parties. At the outbreak of the war of '61 Douglas declared that there could be but two parties—Union men and rebels. In the present emergency the national honor is as much involved as then. Old party lines today are obliterated, and a new line is tee, but Jones, who now pays the free drawn between patriots and Popullsts.

Upon the one side are the leaders of or free silver; Jones the then bright those who carry the red flag of an- and ambitious Napoleon of finance archy; those who would array class against class; employed against emlabor against capital; who bill, and afterward, when he had sixwould follow the phantom of socialism teen months of time to reflect upon his rather than the coublem of peace and rash act. Senator Jones, now the real good will; those who would rather dis-honestly enrich themselves than de-fend the nation's honor; who would States on June 11, 1874, declared: "I sink the ship in order to get the sal-vage. The representatives of these in whatever form it may, that attempts vage The representatives of these elements won at Chicago Disappointed, disgusted, dismayed, the followers of Jefferson and Jackson retired from that convention to contemplate the fact that if 12 of the 17 planks in its platform are truth their political lives have been a delusion, a fraud or a self-teception. It required no unasual gift of obsertion to comprehend the quickly formtermination of those who place patriotism before party, national and edividual bener above partisan suc Americanism above socialism. They resolved in 1861 that questions of party policy could wait until a reunited country would own allegiance to but one flag and one destiny, so in '96 they waive the question of tariff, reciprocity and kindred issues until it be settled once for all that national and individ-ual honor is as sacred as the Declara-tion of Independence.

THE EFFECT IN PENNSYLVANIA The Chicago convention called for a radical revision of Democratic princi-ples. It stole the banners of Democ-racy, while it trampled on its principles. The mental gymnastics employed in reconstructing the Democratic sentiment of the country was, to say the least, painful, in Pennsylvania Democratic state convention, held a short time previous to the Chicago assemblage, declared that they were in favor of a "firm, unvarying mainten-ance of the gold standard," and that they were "unalterably opposed to all devices and schemes for the debase-ment of our currency and to all evasions and compromises of a question se closely affecting individual and national credit and honor." When they found that all devices and schemes had been employed to debase our currency they received a staggering blow. They stood. however, to their own guns. The former chairman of the national commitpolitics; the chairman of the state committee resigned his office! the electors at-large and district electors, to a great extent, refused to serve; the Pennsylvania declaration was indorsed by every Democratic newspaper in the state, and a great many of them still maintain that attitude. There is not a Democratic newspaper in Philadelphia now supporting the Chicago candidates. Two sets of electors are now in the field.

I have carefully considered the platform adopted by the Democratic National convention and unqualifiedly endorse every plank therein.

OUR FORM OF GOVERNMENT. Our institutions rest upon the preposition that all men, being created equal, are entitled to equal considera-tion at the hands of the government. Because all men are created equal, it follows that no citizen has a natural right to injure another citizen. The main purpose of government being to protect all citizens in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, this purpose must lead the government, first to avoid affirmative injustice, and second, to restrain each citizen from trespassing upon the rights of any other citizen

A Democratic form of government is conducive to the highest civilization. because it opens before each individual the greatest opportunities for develop-ment and stimulates to the highest endeavor by insuring to each the full cusuch contribution as is necessary support the government which pro-tects him. Democracy is indifferent to pedlgree-it deals with the individual ather than with his ancestors. Democ racy ignores differences in wealth; neither riches nor poverty can be in-voked in behalf of or against any citizen. Democracy knows no creed, recognizing the right of each individual to worship God according to the dictotes of his own conscience. It welcomes all to a common brotherhood and guarantees coupl treatment to all, m entter in what church or through what forms they commune with their Creator.

Figving discussed portions of the platform at the time of its adoption. and again when your letter of notificaion was formally delivered, it will not be necessary at this time to touch upon all the subjects embraced in the party' declarations.

Honest differences of opinion have ever existed and ever will exist as to the most effective means of securing domestic tranquillity, but no citizen fulls to recognize at all times and under all circumstances the absolute necessity for the prompt and vigorous en-forcement of law and the preservation of the public peace. In a government like ours, law is but the crystalization of the will of the people; without it the citizen is neither secure in the enjoyment of life and liberty, nor protects in the pursuit of happiness. Without obedience to law, government is impo-sible. The Democratic party is pledgsible. The Democratic party is pledged to defend the constitution and enforce the laws of the United States, and it is also pledged to protect and defend the dual scheme of government instituted by the founders of the Re-public. The name United States was happily chosen. It combines the idea of national strength with the idea of local self-government and suggests "an indissoluble union of indestructible states,"- Our wise forefathers, fearing the tendency toward centralization as well as the dangers of disintegration, guarded against both, and national safety, as well as domestic security is found in the careful observance of the limitations which they impose, will be noticed that, while the United States guarantees to every state a republican form of government, and is empowered to protect each state against invasion, it is not authorized nterfere in the domestic affairs of any state, except upon application of the legislature of the state or upon the application of the executive when the legislature cannot be convened. This provision rests upon the sound theory that the people of the state acting through their legally chosen representatives, are, because of their more intimate acquaintance with local conditions, better qualified than the President to judge of the necessity for federal assistance. Those who framed our constitution wisely determined to make as broad an application of the principles of local self government circumstances would permit and we cannot dispute the correctness of the position taken by them without ex-pressing a distrust of the people them-

ECONOMY. Since economy exists for the protect tion of the rights of the people and not for their spollation, no expenditure of public money can be justified unless that expenditure is necessary for the honest, economical and efficient admin-istration of the government. In determining what appropriations are necessary, the interests of those who pay taxes should be consulted rather than the wishes of those who receive or dis-
