Major McKinley Makes Five Speeches to Large Delegations.

WERE MASTERPIECES OF ORATORY

A Stalwart Address to Chicago Democrats Who Came 1,000 Strong. Stirring Speech to Lomestend Workingmen on the Labor Question in This Campaign -- Clear Explanation of the Currency Situation.

Canton, O., Sept. 13.-Major McKinley made five speeches yesterday. The first was to 1000 Democratic commercial travelers from Chicago who are going to vote for him for president. He said:

IN NOW ON.

In point of values it eclipses all our previous best efforts, and there is not one item in the long list of bargains which follows that is not of dirst-class quality and entirely free from imperfection of any nature.

These semi-annual sales have come to be regarded as the leading events of the year in the dry goods trade of Scranton, and those who make a practice of waiting for them are never disappointed. Our guarantee for quality goes with every purchase, and we warrant the reductions named to be strictly accurate in every instance.

The choicest and best productions from domestic and foreign looms and the newest and freshest goods on the market.

both. This cannot be effected while post-ical delusions array good men against each other. (Applause.) I sometimes think, my fellow citizens, that possibly the danger-ous menace of free silver and an irre-deemable unlimited paper currency which now confronts us was needed to convince the whole world hat the old sectional lines are obliterated and that the domina-tion of party is not test reloas to tion of party is not tentacious enough to control against the country's welfare. (Tremendous cheering,) If this shall be demonstrated, it will be worth to ha-

CAUSE OF LOW PRICES. "The depression in the price of wheat about which much is now said must be accounted for in some other way. The chief of the United States bureau of statistics states that the consumption of wheat per capita in 1856 was 25 per cent. less than in 1852. Do you think that this might be more reasonable to account for some of the depreciation in the price of wheat than to charge it to the monetary legislation of twenty-three years ago? (Cries of "Yes, yes.") It was the decrease of consumption and the increase of competitional and the increase of competition will be in the same coin."

CANNOT PETIFOGG THE QUESTION.

Mr. Sheehan also says:

Nor can the apologist for the Chicago platform petifog or beg the question. When they rejected the amendment of ferryl by Senator Hill to the effect that any change in the present standard of values should not apply to existing government.

cannot forbeat to congratulate you on the wonderful advancement you have cate in the creat industry you represent, so eloquently described by your motessman. We are now engaged in a surjetion which directly affects every to kingman in the United States tapicalises and every interest bemeath our lay. We are interested in a contest which novolves the question of sound money thather we shall have the same good noncy we now have and have had for more than sixteen veers nest or try the whether we shiall have the same good money we now have and have had for more than sixteen years past, or try the hazardous experiment of engaging in the free coinage of silver, an experiment than has worked disaster everywhere, and is bound to work it here if ever tried.

"Some phases of this question I want especially to present for your consideration. The very frequent statement is misde that the gold standard has injured the country, diminished the prices of axricultural products, appreciated the prices of gold, and wrought rain and disaster to the country. This is of course a more assumption, and is based upon the fluctuations of the market prices of commodities which in many instances have diminished in the last twenty-five years, and because of this decrease in prices it is asserted that gold has appreciated.

When they rejected the amendment offered by Senator Hill to the effect that any change in the present standard of values should not apply to existing government bonds, they nailed to the misthead of their ship the ingiorious flag of republiation and dishonor. Against the percentation of such a crime in the name of Democracy, I protest. Who are the owners of these bonds? Not foreign bankers and home syndicates, not the so-called bloated bond-holder, but the ward whose education has been provided for in the supposed involudity of a United States bank, the widow whose sole support may be the income thus received and five millions of American clitzens who have placed their deposits in our savings institutions. These deposits are not stored away in the values the banks. That which is not loaned is investigated uposits of it, in government bonds. With alleys or list paper money as our only means of research, how can three millions of United States bonds be redeemed in gold?

work. (Laughter.) I am very glad to be able to speak to you even for a moment. Some of our opponents tell us that the thing to do is to open the mills instead of the mains. That reminds me of the man who said that his horse would go all right if he could just get the wagon started (Laughter and applause.) It is putting the cart before the horse. What use are the mills produce, and now can you start them as long as those who produce the wealth of this country particularly the farmer, are not able to get enough out of what they raise to pay their taxes and interest? (Applause.) There is no more effective way of destroying the markets for what the mills produce than to lower the prices of the produces the farmer has raised, so that they will not bring him enough to pay him for raising them."

Mr. Bryan said in part:

"I want to suggest a proposition for you to bear in mind in the discussion of the money question. Our opponents tell is that we are going in the face of natural laws. I assert that the advocates of free coinage are the only people in this comparing who base their arguments upon natural laws. (Applause.) The law of supply and demand is the great law of trade, and we apply the law of supply and demand to the money question and say that when you increase the demand for gold you raise its price, just as you raise the price of anything cise by increasing the demand for it, and that when you raise the price of gold in a gold standard country, you lower the price of all the products which are measured by money."

Governor Stone of Missouri, greeted Mr. Bryan at the train, and then introduced him to the ters asking for dates for delegations other members of the party, which included Lon V. Stephens, Democratic candidate for Governor, and Mrs. Stephens, and John I. Martin, sergeantat-arms of the Chicago convention. Stops were made by the train at nearly every station on the road, and Mr. Bryan made short speeches to the crowds that had assembled to greet him. Last night in St. Louis Bryan made three speeches to an aggregate of 40,000 persons.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT AT FUSION.

Silver Democrats Want to Yoke With Kentucky Pops.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 13.-The lenders of the free silver Democratic party in Kentucky will make one more attempt to fuse with the Populists, and it is thought they will be successful. Mr. Bryan will arrive in this city tomorrow night and this occasion is deemed a fitting one to bring about an agreement with the Populists.

Consequently Chairman Johnston of trai committee has arranged for a conference tomorrow with Chairman Parker of the Populist State Central committee. It is understood that Mr. Parker's terms of fusion will be two Bryan and Watson electors,

PROGRAMME OF THE EXCURSIONS

Business Men, Wool Growers, Grand Army Posts Will Be Among the Visitors -- Railroad Men Will Also Turn Out in Large Numbers.

Canton, O., Sept. 13 .- Major McKinley enjoyed a well carned rest today. Yesterday was the most active and laborious day he has had since his nomination. He made three long and as many short speeches and shook hands with 5,000 people. Major McKinley did not go to Zoar last night as he had thought at one time of doing. The people gave him no chance to leave town. He was serended several times during the evening and greeted a great many callers. This morning Major McKinley took a short drive with Mrs. McKinley. He did not go to church. This afternoon he took a long drive into the country and was much refreshed by it. He is looking well and feeling well after his week of arduous work and is ready for the still harder work of the new week. Major McKinley will have a larger number of delegations at his home this week than he has received in the same length of time since his nomination and many of them will be very large delegations. The total number of political pilgrims to Canton this week will number more than fifty thousand. It is plain to those who are in touch with the work of the camall parts of the country have determined to visit Major McKinley. Letcome by every mail. Among those which will come this week are the following:

PROGRAMME FOR THE WEEK. Monday-Business men and wool growers of Harrison county, Ohio, Tuesday-An excursion of more than one thousand voters from Somerset county, Pa., and from Western Maryland. Every voting precinct in th county will be represented. Tuesday afternoon the Grand Army of Canton and vicinity will make a formal call on the candidate. The same day a large delegation from Mar-shall, Mich., will arrive in Conton. This delegation will represent the voters of Calhoun county.

Friday—The great Republican meeting of the campaign will be held. Speeches will be made by Senator Cullom and Thurston, by Governor Hastings, of Pennsylvania, and Congressman McCleary, of Minnesota. Delega-tions from nearly every county in Ohio are expected in Canton on Friday and large numbers of visitors are coming from West Virginia, Kentucky Indiana and Michigan, Arrangements for the accommodation of forty thousand visitors are being made. Next Saturday will be one of the notable days of the campaign in Canton. Six large and distinct delegations will visit Major McKinley. The ele gation of Chicago railway men representing all of the railways which enter Chicago will number 2,500 and a hundred coaches have been provided for them. In addition to this delegation there will be a delegation from Butler and Mercer counties, Pa., a delegation composed of commercial travelers from Pittsburg and vicinity, a delega tion from New Albany, Ind., one from Columbus, O., representing the build ing and trades council. News of ar acouraging nature was received from lowa today. A poll of all but evelve counties in that state shows that the oters are two to one for McKinley. The twelve counties not polled are strong Republican. News from all parts of the west is of a cheering character:
