ors and no more consumers, the cheaper will be the products.

"What increases the price of any product is that many people want it and can some one else is willing to give. The more people who want an article, the better price it will command. The more people who want your labor, the better wages you will receive. (Applause.) If there is one day's labor for sixteen workingment you would not get as good wages as though there were sixteen days' work for one workingman. (Laughter and continued applause.) And that is the sort of 18 to 1 we want in the United States. (Applause.) "The changes in the prices of agricultural products or any other commonity which have been cheapened in the production by improved machinery and more competitive fields, with greater production, does not prove that gold has advanced in value, but simply that such products have fallen in price. A bushel of wheat, even at the present low price, will buy more American commodities than the same quantity would have bought thirty or forty years ago.

money upon the Honest Money League. He addressed an addience numbering nearity 12,2000 people. Three times as many people were turned away. Mr. Cockeral is to be turned away. Mr. Cockeran said:

"We can have neither part nor act with a man who prosecutes a campaign upon a secretions that are libels upon the grandeur of our institutions and the particular of our institutions and the particular of our people. I have reclowed all of ms specifies since he left New York, and I cannot discover of what he complains, unless it be that the crime of 1873, as he calls it, has worked mischlef irreparable to the people of this country. In my specifies at Madison Square Garden I propounted to Mr. Bryan a question of great moment but as yet I have received no answer in Mr. Bryan's hundred specches which he has since made, I made this gatement then that a debarement of the currency would necessarily work a reduction in the rate of wages paid to labor. Mr. Bryan and his Populist friends will never answer the question vanced it. In 1873 the average freight rate on grain by lake and rail from Chicago to New York was 25.9 per bushel. In 1856 it was 6.3 cents per bushel. Our working people have bought the necessaries and comforts of life cheaper for themselves and families during all these years since 1873 and down to 1892. They were setting better wages, paid in gold for their labor than ever before. In the United States everything has been cheapened but men, and as nearly as 1 can ascertain it, in free silver countries, such as Mexico, Central America and South America, man atone has been cheapened, everything he buys having steadily increased with constant fluctuations by the stendy decrease in the price of silver.

"With the gold basis and the protective tariff from 1879 to 1893 the workingmen of this country were never so stendily employed; they never before were paid in better money; and their wages never before bought as many of the necessaries, comforts and luxuries of life. (Appliates and hurrahs for McKinley.)

"If a gold standard deprived the American toller of a single day's work, or his family of a single day's work is toos not, and as it promies the general prosperity and upholds the national credit and honor, I am for it and shall steadily favor it so long as I believe it is truly beneficial and advantageous to our country. (Loud and continued applause.)

"The Hon. John B. Cardisle, the distinguished Democrat who is at present secretary of the treasury, on April 15, 1895, addressed the workingmen of Chicago in a speech of great power and eloquence. Among other things, he said: "The value of the silver dollar under free coinage will fluctuate from day to day, moving up and down with the rise and fall of the commercial price of buillion contained in it, as the Mexican dollar does now; and the premium on the gold dollar would, of course, fluctuate to the same extent, thus affording an opportunity to bull families can contemplate the possibility of such a calmity without feeling that it was his duty, whether he occupies private or public station, to employ every honorable means at his command to avert it.

These are the words of truth and mobermess, and I commend them to the working-men of Homestend (applause) and the entire country everywhere as well entitled to their most serious and earnest consider-

"Gentlemen, I have always been, as you know, in favor of a protective tariff, (Loud and continued applause.) I have advocated it and believed in it because I thought it was necessary to protect the American workingman against the chemper labor of the Old World. (Voefferous cheering.) Applying that areast principle, I am in favor of protecting today the laboring man of the United States against a degraded currency. I am opposed to free silver because it degrades American maney. (Continuous cheering.) You workingmen, who are making in part the great armor plate for the use of our navies, must use that greatest armor of American citizenship, the ballot, in defending the honor and credit and currency of the United States. (Applause.)

"I thank you more than I can tell for this call from the men who toil. To feel that they are with me and the cause which, for the moment, I represent, is a source of strength and comfort to me for which I cannot make suitable acknowledgment." ought it was necessary to protect the Palmer and Buckner Formally Notified of Their Nomination---Stirring Letter from President Cleveland.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 13.—Before an immense audience in the Auditorium last evening John McAuley Palmer and Simon Bolivar Buckner received formal notice of the action of the Democratic Indianapolis convention which nominated them for president and vice-president respectively. The occasion was also notable for the reception given to a letter from President Cleveland approving the Indianapolis ticket and the movement which brought it and the movement which brought it about. The great audience simply went wild over the letter.

CLEVELAND'S LETTER. This is what the president wrote:

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 10, 1896.
The Hon, W. D. Bynum, Indianapolis:
I regret that I cannot accept your invi-iation to attend the notification meeting on Saturday evening. As a Democrat, de-voted to the principles and integrity of my party, I should be delighted to be present on an occasion so significant, and to mingle with those who are determined that the voice of true Democracy shall not be smothered, and who insist that its glo-rious standard shall be borne aloft, as of old, in taithful hands.

Grover Cleveland,

This is the letter Secretary Carlicle

sent:

Bar Harbor, Mc., Sept. 12.
The Hon, W. D. Byaum, Louisville, Ky.: Your telegram inviting me to attend the meeting at Louisville today Ms been forwarded to me at this place, and I greatly regret my inability to accept. The conservative and patriotle declaration of the Indianapolis convention on the public questions involved in the pending contest and the high character of its nominees cannot fail to arouse the real Democratic sentiment of the country and command the hearty support of all who sincerely believe in the preservation of the public honor, the public peace and the stability
