Popocratic Nominee Crosses Over Into the Sucker State and Exhorts His Pollowers to Remain Steadfast --- The Changes Again Rung on the Gold Standard.

Mount Vernon, Ill., sept. 14.-William i. Bryan and party left St. Louis at 6.30 this morning on a special train. Belleville, Ill., was the first stop of importance and a thousand people were gathered there to hear the Democratic caudidate. In the course of his remarks Mr. Bryan said:

Mr. Bryan said:

If the people of the United States deliberately throw their influence upon the side of the gold standard it simply means that they raise the value of an ounce of gold throughout the world. If we succeed to us, the great money influence, these same influences which are opposed to us, the great money influence, these same influences will be turned upon weak, er nations, and nation after nation will be driven from the use of silver. Every new institution that joins in the crusade for gold will make our property cheaper and our money dearer and give internied advantage to the men who own money and change money and add continuing distress to the people who toil and produce the wealth of the world. (Cheers.)

We are here in a great laboring community. I call your attention, men who toil, to the fact that not in a single instance in the history of recorded time has the gold standard ever received the voluntary endorsement of those who labor. (Cheers.)

BRYAN'S PREDICTION.

I beg you therefore to remember this, that upon your vote may depend the action of the State f Illinois. We do not believe this is true, because we think our majority will be more than one, and if it shall be less than one hundred thousand we shall be disappointed. (Applause and cheers and cries of "You will not.") If it should be but one, it simply means this, that upon your action as a voter may depend the result in this state, and upon one individual may depend whether sliver shall be restored or not. I appeal to you to do your duty as you see it and let no threat or persuasion swerve you from making each vote register a freeman's will. (Loud cheering.)

PRYANS DEMOCRACY

Mr. Bryan answered the allegation that he had said that he was not a Democrat. His remarks follow:

I appreclate the fact that this meeting I appreciate the fact that this meeting is presided over by one who until this campaign has been a Republican (referring to Judge Sample.) A few moths ago I was in your mists then as the private citizen, simply represiting a course which was near to my heart, and when I told you here that the errand of my Democracy was different from the brand which was being presented by the administration, your city was advertised by those who tried to make it appear that I denied that I was a Democrac. (Cheers.) My friends, those of you who were here know that I not only did not declare myself not a Democrat, but I have always declared myself a better Democrat than any man who a better Democrat than any man who sought to undo what Jefferson and Jackon did for the American people, (Great cheering.1

REACHES INDIANA.

Fifteen handred people were bunched ingether around a speaker's platform at McLeansboro, Ills., when Candidate Bryan's train reached that place, Mr. Bryan delivered an earnest address and at the conclusion of his remarks was There was enthusiastically cheered. a fair sized crowd at Enfield, lils., and a large crowd at Carmi, Ills., and Mr. Bryan spoke briefly at each place, Soon after leaving Carmi the Bryan special crossed the Wabash late Indiana, and Mr. Bryan received his welcome to that state from committees from Mount Vernon, Ind., and Evansville, Ind. The first place where a stop was made in Inidana was Mount Vernon, Five thousand people greeted Mr. Bryan there. In his speech Mr. Bryan said;

They talk of a flood of sliver. Where is the flood coming from? They say European motions will send their sliver here, it will not come unless somebody here will give what those people demand in return. That sliver is now circulating in Europe, almost all of it, at a ratio more favorable to silver than here. You don't melt spoons worth a dollar and half into money worth a dollar and twenty-hine cents, because it does not pay. When you apply labor to silver, you make it worth more than it is at the mint, but some are afraid of a great increase in the production of sliver and an increase in money. It is estimated that the crowd which

On the way to the station the spirited horses attached to Mr. Bryan's carriage became frightened and jumped into the crowd. There was a momentary panic among those near the carriage and a great scamper for safety. One of the horses plunged back and forward furiously, getting beyond the control of the driver. At this juncture Mr. Bryan and those with him jumped to the ground just as the horses were subdued by some policemen.

In concluding his speech Mr. Bryan said he believed his chances of success were good providing he lived till election day. His greatest danger lay in being killed by kindness.

Mr. Bryan left here for Anderson a 2.50 and made short speeches at Owensboro, Hayesville, Cloverport, Erington and West Point. At the last named place a number of flaming jets of natural gas formed the principal illumination in the candidate's honor.

BRYAN AT LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.-Tired almost to the point of prostration after a fariguing warney of fourteen hours from St. Louis, his voice nearly gone from the effort expended in a score of speeches, Hon. W. J. Bryan reached Louisville at 7.50 o'clock tonight in a special train over the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad. ### DON'T BE FLEECED THE SECOND TIME FINES

Advice of Major McKinley to a Delegation of Wool-Growers.

SLAUGHTER OF A GREAT INDUSTRY

The Republican Candidate Tells How It Was Effected by the Democratic Party with Their Free Trade Bunco Game, and Ridicules the New Silver Cure-All -- Other Pertineut Remarks.

Canton, O., Sept. 14.-Major McKinley's first visitors today were a delegation of 1,000 wool growers and business men from Harrison county. In the course of his speech, Mr. McKinley said:

The last three years have been years of great trial not only to the wool growers of your county, but to the entire country. You have seen your crops disappear and your fleeces diminish in value to an extent that, prior to 182, you would not have believed possible. I remember in 1831 to have delivered an address in the city of Cadiz, to the assembled farmers, of Harrison county, in which I undertook to predict what would happen if we had free wool in the United Staes. There were few men in that great andience who believed my prediction then. What do you think of it now, farmers of Harrison county? (Cries of "We think it all right.")

In 1831 you had, according to your banners, displayed here today, 123,523 sheep of an average value of $5 per head. In 1832 you received from 30 to 32 cents per pound for your wool; in 1836, for the same grade of wool, from 14 to 16 cents per pound. This enormous loss to a great industry is trilly astounding and calls for serious consideration and prompt remedy if one can be found, and the only remedy we have in the United States is by the ballot, and if it is protection you want, you know what party carries the batner of protection. (Enthusiastic cheer and cries of "What's the matter with McKinley? He's all right.") with McKinley? He's all right.")

FREE WOOL'S EFFECT.

Prior to the enactment of the Wilson tariff haw you have enjoyed almost without interruption from the beginning of the government a tariff on your product to protect you from the competition of the cheaper lands and the cheaper labor of other countries. By the act this product was made free and opened up to the unrestructed competition of all the wool of the world. What makes that act more indefensible is first that it was wholly unrecessary, and second that it was singling out one of the greatest industries of the country for imediate sacrifice, leaving other industries having no greater claim upon the consideration of the government practically unfelled. (Cries of "That's right.") No class of our citizens have suffered so much from that tariff haw as the wool growers of the United States and none were more deserving of generous treatment than they. So inexcusable was this act that Mr. Cleveland, who favored a reduction of tariff all along the line, and who believed in free raw materials, was unwilling to sign the bill, and used these characteristic words against it: "It may well excite our wonder that Democrats are willing to depart from this firee raw material doctrine) the most Democrate of all their principles, and that the inconsistent absurdity of such a proposed departure should be emphasized by the suggestion that the wool of the farmers be put on the free list and protection of tariff at an and capitalists."

But this will not avert the fatal blow. Less organized than any other industry in the country, you were unable to secure the recognition to which you were justly entitled, and your product was made the victim of free trade, (Cries of "That's right.") You remember that in 182 it was repeatedly stated that the free wool FREE WOOL'S EFFECT.

victim of free trade, (Cries of "That' right.") You remember that in 1882 i was repeatedly stated that the free woo would increase the price of wool to the American wool grower. (A voice—"That's the biggest lie that was ever told"—great laughter.) But then you heard them left laughter.) But then you heard them fell it. (Renewed laughter and a voice, "Yes, we did.") There may have been some farmers who thought that was true then. (A voice, "Well, they know better now"—great laughter.) There are none who think so now. (Renewed laughter and applicates. THE NEW PANACEA.

It was said that if we opened up the country to the free use of wool of the world the farmers would be benefited. It was done, and with what benefit you know better than I can tell you. Now they tell you that more free sliver (haughter) is the panacea for all your tils. (Genewed hughter), And you have the same money in circulation now that you had four years ago, but you wool growers have not got ter). And you have the same money in circulation now that you had four years ago, but you wool growers have not got as much of it as you had then. (Cries of "That's right.") As free wool degraded your industry, so free silver will degrade your industry, so free silver will degrade your industry, so free silver will degrade your noney. (Applause and cries of "That's right, too,") You have already been fleeed by lose on your flocks and you don't propose to be fleeed further by loss on your money. (Creat cheering.)

We have opened up our mills to the wools of the world and both the wool and the woolen mills have suffered. The American farmer has seen his good disappear from the American market to give place to the foreign market. And the American farmer has thus lost directly in the price of his wool and almost as severely by the blow dealt to the home market for agricultural produce is through the diminished consumption resulting from fille mills. The American farmer will not tamely submit to the injustice and wring. (A voice: "We don't intend to in Harison county.") The American workingman in the woolen mills will indignantly repel that legislation whose effect is to degrade his labor. (Applause and cries of "He will, on the third of November.")
