RIOT AT A CHRISTENING.

One Man Is Nearly Killed and Others Are Injured.

A christening was held near Simpson Sunday which ended in a grand debauch lasting until yesterday morning. The debauch was only ended by several of the participants disagreeing among themselves and then proceeding to wipe out their grievances with blood. All present joined in the fracas, and all kinds of weapons were used, clubs, axes, stones, fence rails, and in fact anything which would do injury in some manner. John Croshaw wielded a heavy club and that he did it with evil intent is shown by the condition of Andrew Connick. Connick was hit a terrible blow on the head and fell senseless. This only added fire to the anger of the furious huns who went at it with renewed fury. In the meanwhile Alderman Olsen had been notified and he, with several other men, rushed to the spot. The foreign element in the fight was by this time getting enough and they fled soon after the afternoon party put in its appearance. They were followed by a mob of about twenty men, who were armed with clubs, stones, and other weapons. With the assistance of Constable Healey two others were captured, among them being Joseph Zuran who has just served a three years' sentence for causing a riot. Connick was the only man injured to any extent, but his injuries are severe. He is still unconscious and his blood, and he may die at any moment.

INJURED ON THE WEST SIDE.

Little Hugh Nelson Falls Into the Deep Cuts.

A little boy named Hugh Nelson was badly injured on the West Side by falling into the deep hole caused by the ground falling into the mines. The boy with several companions was standing about the place where several foreigners came up. The boys at once commenced to amuse them and finally began to throw stones. The foreigners became enraged and drew revolvers. In the efforts of the boys to escape, young Nelson fell into the hole which at that point is twenty-five deep, the bottom being covered with jagged rocks. He was knocked insensible by the fall and lay for nearly an hour unconscious.

He was then rescued and carried home. He is covered with bruises and his leg is badly injured, but it is considered to be very fortunate that he escaped so easily.

CAUGHT IN AN ELEVATOR.

A Young Man Narrowly Escapes with His Life.

James Swift, of the Pioneer laundry, in a clever manner today at least, learned one thing yesterday, and that is that it is exceedingly dangerous to get out of an elevator while it is in motion. Yesterday Swift had occasion to use the elevator and was evidently not used to such contrivances, for he started it very quickly. The elevator is provided with appliances for such cases, and brought it to a stop, frightening Swift so that he tried to get out. In some manner he caught his head and for a moment these who saw the accident carried him to the street. Fortunately the elevator began to descend and the young man's head was released. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Everett, who found that the nose was broken and a large laceration on the head.

BIG CAVE-IN.

Large Area of Ground Sinks Nearly Thirty Feet.

This land near the fair house on the West Side is full of caves but the latest sink has been seen in this city for some time occurred Saturday night. It was very fortunate that the accident occurred when it did or otherwise there would have been many minor killed. At present it is very easy to hear the workmen below and sometimes make out what they are saying. The cave-in is about thirty feet long and twenty feet wide. It is very deep as the ground has sunk nearly thirty feet. Work has not been stopped as it will effect only the chambers immediately over the fall.

FOREST CITY.

While in the act of lifting an overhead wheel at the new blacksmith shop at No. 2 street, yesterday morning, Richard Osterlin, the blacksmith, had the misfortune to have his apron caught between the belt and wheel, which threw him to the floor, causing a severe wrenching of the knee cap and injury to the knee. He was removed to his home on Main street, and upon the advice of Dr. Blakeslee was afterwards taken to the Emergency hospital at Carbondale.

Forest City people have entertained large numbers of delegates who have attended the different conventions, associations, etc., held in this place during the year. The next convention to meet here is the white ribbon brigade, known as the Women's Christian Temperance union. This will be the twenty-first annual convention of Susquehanna county unions, commencing Tuesday evening, Sept. 23, and closing Sept. 30. Mrs. N. M. Hammer, state president, will be present during all the sessions, giving a Bible reading

Tuesday evening, a school of methods, Wednesday afternoon, and will lecture Wednesday evening. A full delegation is desired from every union in the county. The program of the sessions will appear in The Tribune later.

About 200 persons from this place accompanied by two bands, attended the Republican rally at Susquehanna, Saturday evening. Among the enthusiastic Republicans was Thomas Evans, of this place, who had an experience that he will remember. He was standing on one of the platforms of the train and as the excursionists were nearing Jefferson Junction at a high rate of speed, Thomas fell off. One or two persons saw him fall, but did not act promptly in having the train stopped, so no one went back in search of Thomas, who has had a number of daring leaps, falls, etc. While the bands were playing, and the political gathering, Thomas was gathered up himself to the station at the junction, and was soon in the blissful region of dreamland. The train upon returning found Thomas at the station with his face wreathed in smiles and decorated with a few scratches, not much the worse for his fall. When he fell he wore a black soft hat, but was now the possession of a silver cap. That was one of the things that was worrying him. He remarked that if he were a Democrat he surely would have been killed.

MONTROSE.

Selden A. Woodruff, a brother of George E. Woodruff and William Woodruff of this place died in New York on Friday last. His remains will be taken to Montrose, Pa., on Sunday. The remains of the late Dr. S. S. Mulford arrived here last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. They were immediately taken to the cemetery where Rev. E. A. Warner conducted the services of the Episcopal ritual.

A Montrose citizen while at the Birmingham fair last week took several counts of those present as to the political badges or buttons worn; his report is as follows: First count of 100, McKinley 75; others, 22; second count of 100, McKinley 93; others, 7; third count of 100, McKinley 61; others, 39. These counts were observed from the entrance gates and at different hours during the day. The old saying, "Straws show which way the wind blows" evidently holds good in Broome county.

The fire ladders expect to have a red letter day Tuesday next. They deserve all the support which Montrose can give them.

In the Montrose "Illustrated" Republican Dimock D. Seale and an unknown, "Visitor" by name, but none other than Prof. Fayette McKensie, an old Montrose boy, have had for several weeks a controversy regarding sound gold money and silver. McKensie, has authoritatively speaking, broken every one of the 378 bones in the body of "D. D. S." Mr. Seale while in Montrose has advocated free silver in a respectable manner. He has not, like those of his following, told his adversaries that they were liars, knaves and fools, but has advanced his theories in cool, dispassionate manner—but to no avail. This is commendable in Mr. Seale, but he found no solace in Montrose while advocating free silver. The people here cannot be fooled.

Speaking of free silver, a traveling man who has for some time been in the south, recently visited Montrose and told The Tribune man that there in Georgia, Alabama and other southern sections, the larger towns in a county were already agitating the question as to which would have the mint. In their ignorance they suppose that if Bryan is elected each county will have a mint for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This is a sample of what the free silver men do to secure votes.

A Bryan and Sewall club was formed Saturday night. About thirty or forty Free Silver Democrats, Populists, and others met in the arbitration room at the court house. Johnnie Wilson was made president and "Congressman" W. C. Cruser secretary. After hearty cheers for a 50 cent dollar and some vague remarks regarding a cross of gold and crown of thorns the meeting adjourned.

Among the arrivals at the Tarbell home, Mr. A. Gardner, of Morris, Wis., and W. E. Decker, of Scranton, bicycle club; N. J. Fuller, Reading; J. H. Gaffney, New York, and J. L. Ross, Hatfield, Pa.
