> PLAINTIFF'S CONTENTION. The plaintiffs allege that the line of allway in the charter did not extend on Washington avenue in front of their land. That on the 16th of January, 1893, defendant company was granted permission by the city of Scranton to build a line of street railway over certain streets in the city of Scranton, which included Washington avenue from Ash street, over Washington avenue and includes the space in front of the plaintiffs' property.

That said consent was invalid because it granted the right to use Washington avenue between Ash and Gibson a distance of upwards one thousand feet on which at the time of granting said consent the tracks of the Scranton Suburban Street Railway were laid and operated. That the Valley Passenger Railway company has never by extension of amendment obtained any franchise to bulld a street rallway on Washington avenue from Gibson street to Olive street.

LAYING THE TRACKS.

That the street railway company is now engaged in laying a street railway on Washington avenue and thereafter to continue the same on Washington avenue from Olive street to Gibson street, in front of the lots of the plain tiffs which said use of said streets will obstruct access to their properties. That the consent granted by the elty of Scranton to the defendant to build a street railway expired on the 16th of January, 1895, and the same has never been extended by any ordinance of the city of Scranton. School of the Lackawanna. Books and supplies. Wholesale and
