SCRANTON SOCIAL NEWS AND GOSSIP

Brief Mention of What Is Doing in the Pleasure World.

PROSPECT FOR LIVELIER TIMES

Everybody Has Returned to Town Young People and the Many Visitors Are an Incentive for a Social Revival -- Doings of the Week. Number of Marriages -- Movements of Well-Known Scrantonians.

The social season is on, and now, whatever there may have been of recent quietness, a several weeks' round of pleasure may be expected. The Country club's tennis tourney is a preface of what is to follow. Nearly everybody has returned to town and the younger people, especially, will not be satisfied with "doing nothing" before their return to school or college. There are many out-of-town visitors here and their presence will be an added incentive for social diversion.

A leap year party was given last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Fuller, at which the following young people were present: Miss Holmes, Albany: Miss Barker, Chica-Miss Waring, Plainfield, N. MUSICAL NOTES.

Miss Sadle E. Kalser, of Wilkes Barre, the sweet soprano who is pursuing her second year of study in London, and who is well known in Scranton, recently had the good fortune to be engaged as soloist for a large concert in Bristol, one of the most musical of the large towns of England. Her reception was very cordial. The Bristol Times and Mercury says of her: Miss Sadie Kaiser, R. A. M., possesses a delightfully clear and agreeable soprano voice, of great power and culture, nue, and Miss Margaret Farrell, of Ce- and that she well knows how to control it was convincingly shown in her rendering of the difficult and ornate Jewel song from "Faust," which roused the audience to vociferous demands for an encore. She also gained much favor with her artistic conception and expression of the Waltz song, from 'Romeo and Juilet," also by Gounod whose music she seems to understand most thoroughly, although she was equally at home in the impassioned "Fruhlingslied" of Coenen, and the twittering "The Throstle," which she sang most piquantly." She has been re-engaged to appear again at another concert there, which is a compliment to her debut. She has completed her second year at the Royal Academy of Music, and has received a certificate from Sir Alexander Mackenzie, the principal, qualifying as a teacher of singing and a public artist. She is now. and has been for some time past, under the private tutelage of Signor Alberto Randegger, studying the great oratorio roles and other sacred music,

The committee of arrangements for the opening of the new High school building on Thursday afternoon next have engaged Miss Katherine Timber man, the new contralto soloist and voice teacher of this city, to sing several selections. The announcement which has already been made with reference to Miss Timberman's concert career abroad has been sufficient to arouse the keenest interest in her first public appearance in Scranton.

Mr. Fremdke, one of the few great planists of New York, who will be the soloist at the first concert of the New York Philharmonic orchestra this season, is expected to appear here with Mr. and Mrs. Thiele, also of New York. but now residing in this city. The concert will be given sometime in October, under the auspices of one of our leading societies.

Reeve Jones has opened his new studio at the residence of the late Herr Kopff. Mr. Jones expects to give a number of plano recitals with his advanced pupils this season and quite a to accept pupils on the violin, knowing his ability as a violinist, but as yet Mr. Jones has not decided on the mat-

SENT FROM SYRACUSE.

Scranton Receives a Batch of Paupers from That Place---South Side Widow's Strong Nerve.

Syracuse is the latest city to size up our poor board as an easy mark. Two weeks ago the poor authorities of the Saline city, following the example set by Hoboken, Jersey City and it might be added Wilkes-Barre, bundled a whole family of paupers on to this district. Their name is Fabrinski, They were in this city but a few days when they were seeking aid from Mrs. Duggan, of the associated charities. Yesterday they were before the poor board asking relief. They stated they were residents of Syracuse for two years and received $6 a month from the poor board there. The father is an invalid and as they would be a continual expense the Syracuseans shipped them to this city. They will be sent back. One Mrs. Fabrowski, of the South Side, appeared before the board in company with her nerve. She wanted help, although in answer to Mrs. Swan's interrogations she admitted,unblushingly too, that she had several hundred dollars in a building and loan association, $300 in a bank and has been keeping a speak-easy since her husband died nine months ago. The board took great pleasure in showing her the door. M. H. Davis, of Lincoln, Wayne county, father of Mrs. Frank Ellis, appeared before the board seeking to secure possession of the youngest of the three Ellis children, who are now at the Home for the Friendless. The board promised to consider his request and let him know two weeks hence what would be done. Mrs. Catherine Ruane came before the board with a protest. She is the second wife of Michael Ruane, of the South Side, an insane patient at the Home, whose estate was sold recently at the direction of the board to pay for his maintenance at the farm. The district realized $165 from the sale, which is only one-half the amount of its bill, but notwithstanding this Mrs. Ruane would have a share in it. She claimed to have paid the burial expenses of Ruane's first wife and also the taxes on the property out of her own money and thought that she at least should be reimbursed for these Ruane to share in the proceeds and joyed themselves

Rev. J. F. Jordan. Herbert, the son of Rev. J. M. Lloyd, is home from the hospital much improved from the injury which he received some time ago. The matter of vaccination of school children before their admission to the borough schools has been accomplished without any friction in the least. There has been a ready acquiescence in the requirements of the law. The certificates of successful vaccination have been filed and there is a full attendance in all departments. The performance last evening of the operetta, "The Old Woman That Lived n a Shoe," by the C. B. U. of the Calvary Baptist church, was a grand treat and much credit is given to the children for performing their part in such an excellent manner. CLARK'S SUMMIT.
