WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Return of Rev. W. S. Jones from His Two Months' Trip Through Wales. Occupied His Pulpit Yesterday.

Rev. W. S. Jones, the popular pastor of the First Welsh Bar list church, returned Saturday from a two months' trip to Wales. Mr. Je es preached an English sermon last evening in his church before a very large congregation. He has gained greatly physically from his vacation. The trip was very enjoyable. During it Mr. Jones met several West Side people who are visiting in Wales. His meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D.

Davies was a joyful accident. They were on the same train for several miles in Wales; neither knew of the other's whereabouts until the train stopped at a little Welsh town.

Then they met on the station platform. Mr. Davies is much improved enjoying their sojourn. In Wales Mr. gramme has been arranged. Jones visited the home of Fred Evans, the well known Weish-American preacher, who, through an unfortunate attack of illness, was compelled to Mr. Kuhlman's nineteeenth birthday abandon his prominent church in and the surprisers were: Misses Anna Brooklyn and depart for his native home in Wales. Mr. Evans is suffer- James, Hattle James, Jennette Jones, ing paralysis. He may and may not recover, but the prospect looks dark. The attack has also preyed upon the brilliant preacher's mind. On this point-a delicate one-Mr. Jones would Mr. Evans at times shows his old-time intelligence.

On American politics Mr. Evans showed an interest, and he discussed this and other American topics with much eagerness. He asked about his American friends and conversed clearly, but at times his mind would wander to one subject, and in this particular trend the sick man was lost Then the intelligence would suddenly become renewed.

It has been reported that Mr. Jones contemplates returning to Wales. The matter was broached during the connight. When Mr. Jones is ready to make an announcement he will public- it lopped up Main avenue at an easy ly do so.

AN ITALIAN AFFRAY.

An Italian woman made a great noise on Main avenue last night. Her screams brought Patrolman Hart to James Wymbs. her side and by her he was plloted to an Italian residence on Scranton street, on the porch of which stood a short little foreigner with his face battered in and a deluge of blood streaming through over his bosom. He was the woman's husband. After some trouble Patrolmen Hart and Matthews escorted two prisoners to the lock-up. The story of the trouble is something like this: Mrs. Pasco Motario, the woman who screamed, borrowed a "muffa" from Mrs. Pasqualio Perifelio. Last night there was a christening at the Italian house on Scranton street and Mrs. P. thought it a seasonable time to return the "muffa." She had used it for two months. Her little boy had torn out the inside of the "muffa" and the original owner was "mada." Hence the melee. As Pasca Notario, husband of the muff-borrower, was running away from Pasquallo Perifellio he encountered a cupboard and the cupcision in his face.
