Meditations on the Crime of 1873---Who Demonetized the Coon Skin?

A FEW RAILROAD WHISPERINGS labor lost.

Results of the Campaign of Educaperience of Congressman Codding. Little Items -- A Dish of Hash for Wednesday.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune. Susquehanna, Sept. 22.—The enormity of "the crime of 1873" is evidently very great, but it is still to be discovered who it was that demonetized American money of the better and earlier time. In our grandfather's days they could get a bushel of wheat for one coonskin. That was the currency which those pa-triots who severed British interference and foreign domination of their affairs established to promote the exchange of commodities. The American people demand to know who it was that demonetized the coonskin. If British domination does not appear in this ne-farious act, I am greatly deceived. You cannot now sell wheat for coon-skins in the Susquehanna board of trade. Since the coonskin was demonetized the price of that noble article has fallen, and wheat has fallen with it. The coonskin is distinctively an American product, and it stands to reason that no American who was a patriot could have been interested in its downfall. This crima has been committed through the machinations of the agents of corrupt foreign government. If coonskins were remonetized the fur-riers of Susquehanna county could immediately go to raising coons in large quantities, and then, securing the gov-ernment stamp on each coonskin, making it a legal tender for $1, they could proceed to pay off the mortgages on their property. Remonetize the coonskin, pay off the mortgages in that distinctively American currency. make this county and state free from debt and taxation. We are now ground down by the money power, which has refuriously withdrawn from us the privilege of our forefathers to sell commodities for coonskins, and to remain untransmeled by foreign influences of every sort. Give us the free and unlimited issue of coonskins, with full legal tender qualities, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. Remonstrate the coon-skin and trade will flourish, the laboring men will roll in wealth, and work and taxes will be unknown. Coonskins can be deposited in the United States treasury in unlimited quantities, and coonskin certificates against them for use in commercial transactions. Remonetize the immortal coonskin.

ONR CONGRESSMAN'S EXPER-IENCE.

Our congressman, James H. Codding. of Towanda, while attending the thirty-third degree Masonic conclave at Pitts-burg on Wednesday, made the follow-ing statement: "While we are a selfperpetuating body, yet our membership is representative, coming from different sections of the country. I find that the sentiment among the members, politically, is unanimous for honest money, and find many of them much interested in the outcome of the election. terested in the outcome of the election who have not been interested to any extent in former elections. I canvassed the Fifteenth district, my own, recently, as I had been alarmed at the re-ports that there was a large defection among the farmers. I chased the sil-ver streak from one township to an-other only to find that the defection existed in the adjoining one, and final-by I located it it the deficience adjustice. iy I located it in the districts adjoining the Fifteenth. I did not seek further, as I believe the alleged silver sentiment among the farmers exists only in imagination. For every Republican that had gone over to the enemy, I learned of source of routable Dame. I learned of scores of reputable Demo-crats who will vote for McKinley."

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

In all the years that this (fifteenth) congressional district has been composed of the four counties now composed of the four counties now com-bined in it, but two Democratic con-gressmen have been elected from it, Hon. George A. Post, formerly of Sus-quehanna, and now of New York, and Hon. Joseph Powell, of Towanda. Both are now opposed to the election of Bryan.

AS TO TYNAN'S CASE.

All the United States Government Can Do Is to See That He Is Not Treated Irregularly.

Washington, Sept. 22 .- The state department, being satisfied of the Ameri-can citizenship of Tynan, the alleged conspirator, who has appealed to Ambassador Eustis in Paris, has taken steps to ensure that any proceedings against the accused shall proceed without irregularities. The United States is estopped from interfering in behalf of the prisoner in any other manner than to see that all due formalities are complied with in regard to the English demand for exregard to the English demand for ex-tradition, which has been made on France. Should that be successful the United States will endeavor to guaran-tee Tynan a proper trial in England, where Ambassador Bayard will watch the progress of the case. The fact that Tynan is an American citizen cannot operate to release him from the French jurisdiction in which he was arrested, and if it should be found that the French law makes the interference on our part would be unrecedented.

SLY DIG AT INOFFENSIVE J. BULL

If It Is American, He Says, to Brag About What We Can Do, It Is English, You Know, to Think We Can't Do Anything -- Another Iustalment of Bryanisms.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.-William J. Bryan left Wilmington at 10.05 this morning, stopping at Chester where he made a short speech and arriving here shortly after noon. A crowd of about 500 people were gathered at the Broad street station of the Pennsylvania railroad, and cheered heartily as Mr. Bry-an passed hurriedly to his carriage escerted by the Democratic city committee. At the Hotel Lafayette Mr. Bryan's headquarters, a small crowd had gathered and cheered as he drew up. After being introduced to the members of the New Jersey state committee Mr. Bryan went to luncheon.

At 1.30 p. m. Mr. Bryan took a car-riage and was driven to the ferry where he took a heat for Washington park, a resort on the New Jersey side of the Delaware river below this city. of the Delaware river below this city. Arriving there Mr. Bryan found a large crowd assembled in the grove. He was escorted to the stand and introduced by William J. Thompson, the owner of the park and a prominent Democratic politician. A burst of cheering greeted the nominee as he came forward and he at once began to speak. Mr. Bryan said: Bryan said:

WHAT BRYAN SAID.

Bryan said;

WHAT BRYAN SAID.

A speaker went from Philadelphia to Tennessee and told them the gold standard was the beat in the world, and that we had had it for twenty years, and when he had got through a gentleman said; "Tol I understand you to say that the gold standard is all right?"

"Yes," he said.
"Do I understand you to say we have had it for twenty years?"

He said; "More than twenty years,"
Then he said; "Why area't we all right?" (Laughter.)

If the gold standard is a good thing and we have had it these many years why is it so many fait to appreciate its blessings? I will tell you, because its blessings nave only reached a few people who like it. (Applause.)

Lincoln was once asked what he thought of a certain man's speech. He said; "I think a man who would like that sort of a speech would be pleased," (Laughter.)
That is the way with the gold standard. A man who likes that sort of a thing is very much pleased with it, but the number who like it is growing less each day.

I met a prominent man yesterday who said that until the Chicago convention acted on the subject he had never investigated the money question and never supposed there was anything in it; that the papers did not seem to consider it worth anything. They regarded it as a craze, and he did not have time as a business man to pay any attention to crazes. But when a great national party adopted a platform making the money question the paramount issue he began to think about it. That was only a few weeks ago. He got to be a crank. He said to me: "If we don't win this fight if is going on until we do win, and I don't care how many years it takes." (Applause)

PERSONAL HISTORY.

PERSONAL HISTORY.

I can appreciate the feeling of that man. I went through the same experience myself. Until six years and I thought any man who talked about money was a harmless crauk. I did not listen to his arguments. They had no weight with me. Six years ago I began to study the question, trying to find out what was right, because I was taught to believe if a man would ground himself on what was right, be could wait for other people to come to him. I was taught to believe no man could afford to be wrong no matter how many he had in his company. I studied the question. I read books on both sides and compared them, and the more I read the deeper became my convinction until I became so firmly of the optains there many he had in his company. I studied the question. I read books on both sides and compared them, and the more I read the deeper became my convinction until I became so firmly of the opinion there could be no prosperity in this country until free silver was restored that I was willing to risk all I had or hoped to have on the correctness of that conclusion world. (Applause.)

"Your people are producing manufacturing products here largely. Where do you get your consumers? Wipe out the farming population and where will you sell the goods you produce? You virtually wipe out the farmers as consumers when you drive down the price of their products, so they only realize enough to pay taxes and interest. (Great applause.) You have many truck farmers. When they take what they have to sell into town they find the market is rather dull, and what they get is smail, compared with what it used to be. Does it mean the people of Philadelphia are not as hungry as they ever were? I venture the assertion there is more hunger today in Philadelphia than there was five years ago. (Great applause.) Is it because the people have lost their taste for the good things which you produce? No, there is as much taste as ever if they could get a change to try it on something. (Great laughter.) How are you going to increase your markets? By increasing the number of neople able to hay what you produce. Will you do that by making dollars dearer? No, dollars do not est. They devour a great deal, but they do not eat. (Laughter.) How are you going to create markets? By increasing dollars in the hands of the few? No, you have got to restore prosperity by stopping the fall of prices, so men will sell what they produce to get money to buy what you produce. (Applause.)

ANY KIND OF MONEY,

ANY KIND OF MONEY.

A silver man can almost like any kind of money. He is like the governor of Teanessee, who was making a speech. He said he was not particular about the money. He liked gold and silver and paper, and, in fact, a little counterfelt would not be objectionable. (Laughter.) Now, we don't care for any counterfelt, but we are willing to take gold, or greenback. And we will take the greenbacks even it the government exercises the right to redeem them in silver dollars instead of gold. (Applause.)

When they tell you they want a dollar that will buy as much as any dollar in the world, they say they want property as cheap here as it is anywhere in the world. (Applause.)

The gold standard newspapers think we won't be able to get silver into circulation if we had free colinage. I want to tell you that they will be mighty glad to have subscriptions paid even in silver dollars, if these people who they have been trying to destroy in the interests of forcign capitalists will continue to take their papers into their houses.

papers into their houses.

Bryan then quoted Prince Bismarck as being in favor of bimetallism and as saying that the United States should take the lead in adopting it. He continued:

Against this waiting policy with twenty years of adverse experience behind it, we offer an aggressive policy, by which the United States will lead the nations of the world to the restoration of gold and silver as money. You say it is American to brag about what we can do. I reply that it is English, you know, to think we can't do anything. (Laughter.) We have reached a great crists and the question presented to the American people is: Shall the United States have a financial policy of its own, or must the people receive their finances ready made from some foreign land? (Cries of no, never.) It is a question upon which much will depend. I ask you when you vote to consider the responsibility which rents upon you, and so vote that you may tell your children without a blush for which policy you voted in 1898. (Applause.)
