

Norman & Moore

FIRE INSURANCE, 120 Wyoming Ave.

THE SUBURBAN ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

Come, Beany, 'tis time you were going to bed;
Lay on your pillow your tired little head;
"Why, Auntie, how funny, I don't go by day,
The sun is shining, I'll go out to play."
"The sun is shining, my child, at night;
But our people use the Suburban Light."

Lackawanna THE Laundry.

Drop in, WE will WIN the doubtful by our works.

Special Notice

ABOUT Sept. 20th our new store will be completed, which will be the largest Carpet, Wall Paper, Drapery and Curtain Store in the State, and we will show the largest stock of new goods in each department ever shown in Scranton.

Williams & M'Anulty

Carpets, Draperies and Wall Paper.

127 WYOMING AVE.

CITY NOTES.

The Scranton Liederhalle will elect a musical director tonight.

Saturday, Oct. 3, is the last day for taking out naturalization papers.

James Connery went to St. Bonaventure's college, at Allegheny, N. Y., yesterday to join the foot ball team.

This evening Mr. W. L. Harris will address a political meeting at Olyphant.

Rev. Foster U. Gift is attending the North Branch conference of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society at Shamokin, Pa.

In the estate of Harry Dunbar, late of this city, letters of administration were granted yesterday to John W. Dunbar by Judge Hopkins.

A. H. Hall, C. M. Watson and H. M. Streeter will deliver addresses to the Peckville McKinley and Hobart club on Thursday evening, Sept. 24.

Certification of nomination of the candidates named at the recent Democratic county convention were filed with the county commissioners yesterday by T. A. Jennings, chairman of the convention.

At 8 o'clock tonight in the Central Republican club room a ball will be organized of young men who will cast their first ballot at the coming election. All such are invited to attend. J. M. Walker and John McClellan will be the sponsors.

A verdict suit was begun yesterday for $1,450 of lumber, valued at $200, by Calkins & Co. against Thomas H. Sharp, Robert McKenna and the Delaware Lackawanna and Western Railroad company. Patterson & Wilcox are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Alfred Cooper, of Olyphant, petitioned court yesterday to grant him permission to adopt Alfred James Laylor, son of James and Margaret Laylor, as his child and heir. The boy's father is willing and his mother is dead. Attorney John J. Manning represents the petitioner.

The finance committee for the state Christian Endeavor convention met last night in the Young Men's Christian association building. While the meeting was in progress, the amount of money necessary to bear the expense of the convention will be forthcoming.

The cake walk announced to take place last night in Phila's hall, on Lackawanna avenue, was postponed until tomorrow night, when will also take place a literary and social entertainment for the benefit of the M. T. Jones household of Ruth, 221, an organization of colored women, auxiliary to the lodge of colored Old Fellows.

Matthew Connolly, of the North End, alleges that a few days ago in the presence of several persons, he was called an old black thief by Maggie and Martin Golden, his neighbors. He thinks they ought to pay about $200 for this language, and he brought a slander suit for that amount yesterday against them. He is represented by Hulslander & Volburg.

At Harrisburg yesterday a charter was granted to the Collins-Hale Manufacturing company of this city, which has been manufacturing furniture at Capone avenue and Poplar street for some time. The capital stock is $50,000 and the directors are Arthur L. Collins, Leslie Gittinger, William M. Van Dyke, C. E. Spaul, Scranton; John Kinschander, Wilkes-Barre.

A craver service over the remains of W. J. Hohl was conducted yesterday morning at his late home on the corner of Second and Third streets, where the body was taken to Philadelphia, where interment was made. The pall bearers were: W. J. Madigan, John Burford, Frank Shiffer, J. J. Coleman, J. J. Coleman and Arthur Evans. The flower-bearers were Frank Callahan and C. M. Duffy.

St. Luke's Churchmen for September just received abundance in notes of work done, work returned, and that to be done in an early day. Out of all we single the remainder of all the interesting contributions to the "Needlework Guild" that their two new articles of clothing, for the hospital and the poor, are requested on or before Oct. 15. The guild has a membership of both men and women, and some of them not members of the parish, but voluntary aiders in this special work for the needy.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday by Clerk of the Courts John H. Thomas to Michael Morgan and Della C. Mulherin, of Providence; William Taylor, of Scranton, and Emma Jeffrey, of Dunmore; Patrick Polan and Bridget Toole, of Monaca; George E. Robinson and Alice G. Pidgeon, of Carbondale; Patrick J. Brown and Bertha Robinson, of Wilkes-Barre; William Henry Watts, of New Street, and Annie F. Nolan, of Stone avenue; Owen F. Hedin and Bridget V. Holman, of Dunmore.

The literary department of the Elm Park Church Epworth League have arranged a fine program for tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock. The leading feature will be a debate on the interesting question of the authorship of Shakespeare's plays. The Elocutionary society will be conducted by Aaron V. Bower and Frank L. Luthi, while Miss Corcoran and H. H. Beddeman will uphold the traditions of the past. Some good music also, will be heard. The evening promises to be very interesting and profitable. All are invited.

For the alleged illegal sale of the household effects of John Carper, of Old Forge, Alderman Wright yesterday awarded Carper judgment in the sum of $200. The defendants in the case were George Drake and T. Stewart, who conduct a mercantile store at Old Forge, and Constable William Davis. The firm had caused an attachment to be issued for a store debt of $28 and a sale followed, notwithstanding Carper's claim of a benefit of $30.

PERSONAL.

Deputy Sheriff Frank E. Ryan is ill.

Robert Adams, of Franklin avenue, is home from a trip to Europe.

Miss Edith Morton, of North Main avenue, has returned from Lake Ariel.

Miss Maggie Walsh, of Price street, is spending the week with Stroudsburg friends.

Register W. S. Hopkins was at his office yesterday after a week spent at Tunkhannock.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

Miss Margaret Discon, of Dodgeville, has returned from Croton, N. Y., after a five weeks' visit.

Miss Mattie Kase, of Carbondale, is being entertained by Miss Gertrude Griggs, of Franklin avenue.

Miss Catherine Scanton and Miss Annie Conney, of the Metropolitan, attended a banquet at Carbondale last evening.

Ernest E. Gardner, who has been visiting his parents, at his father's home, returns to Joliet, Ill., today, where he has charge of the spike machines in the large Joliet mills.

INFORMATION FOR THE COUNCILMEN

Contained in Letters Sent to Them by Attorney W. W. Watson.

CLAIMS OF THE COMPANY STATED

Mr. Watson Also Sent Letters to Mayor Bailey and Attorney Price.

No Agreement About an Amicable Action—Arrest of Workmen Ordered—Mayor Has Not Yet Signed Resolutions Passed by Council.

That squabble between the city and the Abington Turnpike company, which has been going on for some time, is still far from settled.

Mayor Bailey has not signed the resolutions of the city council, which were adopted last night, and which are in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the case of land and by two in the case of improvements. The new assessments have determined to make no distinction between the two classes of assessments and intend to assess each at one-third their actual value. In the matter of new buildings the actual value will be assessed at what in the opinion of the assessor it would bring at a forced sale. In previous years this value was computed by taking the net value and dividing it by three in the