

Northern & Moore FIRE INSURANCE, 120 Wyoming Ave.

THE SUBURBAN ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

"Come, Benny, 'tis time you were going to bed;
Comely on your pillow your tired little head."
"Why, Auntie, how funny, I don't go to bed."
"The sun is shining, I'll go out to play."
"The sun is not shining, my child, it is night;
But our people use the Suburban Light."

Did It Ever Strike You This Way? Lackawanna THE Laundry.

Drop in, we will win the doubtful by our works.

Special Notice

ABOUT Sept. 20th our new store will be completed, which will be the largest Carpet, Wall Paper, Drapery and Curtain Store in the State, and we will show the largest stock of new goods in each department ever shown in Scranton.

Williams & M'Anulty

(Carpet, Drapery and Wall Paper)

127 WYOMING AVE.

CITY NOTES.

The Lackawanna company paid Wednesday at the Hyde Park mine and yesterday at the Archbald and Continental mines. They are the only ones of the kind in the State.

Green Ridge, No. 196, Improved Order of Heptasoph, will hold a smoker at their hall Monday evening, October 3. All members and members of other clubs are most cordially invited.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday by Clerk of the Courts John H. Thomas to Andrew Nawogowsky and Catherine Regech, of Scranton; John Doud and Nora McAndrew, of Dunmore.

The resumption of regimental drill, which was to occur next Monday, has been postponed until Monday, November 3, owing to the army being rented to the Christian Endeavorers three nights of next week.

The proposition of W. G. Gibson, James McFadden, L. Jones and Constable Yeomans before Alderman Millar, for forcible entry and detainer brought by Arthur Frothingham has been decided in favor of the defendants, and they were all discharged.

The Western hotel and the time bank have set the pace in decorating for the coming Christian Endeavor convention. The next week the city will be in gala attire to welcome the hosts who will come in the name of Christ.

Concerning the manner in which Scranton was selected as the place for holding the next convention of the State Homoeopathic Society, Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Press said in its report of the convention: "The place where the society will hold its next annual session was then taken up. Dr. H. B. Ware, of Scranton, suggested his city, and spoke eloquently of its size and importance. Dr. Annie E. Clark, secretary of the Northeastern Homoeopathic Medical society, followed, urging the society to accept the invitation of Scranton, and half a dozen other members seconded the name of Scranton, and the vote in its favor was practically unanimous."

CURE IS NOT A CANDIDATE.

Refuses to Accept an Independent Nomination in the Third District.

J. W. Cure, of Greenwood township, has declined to accept the independent nomination for legislature in the Third District, which was tendered to him. In his letter to his "political friends" in that district, regarding the nomination, he has this to say:

"Knowing the Republican party to be the greatest, grandest and most glorious political party that ever won on record, I believe it bigger than any one man or clique of men. Also, I have faith in its virtue and vivifying power, expecting it to rid itself of all death-dealing parties. And to you, my friends, who love law and order and believe our government should be of the people, by the people and for the people, and not of money, by money and for money, I will say that as I have tried to be a candidate, I have failed since I lost my first vote, and believing these great wrongs, unjust imputations and accusations, I have decided to withdraw my name from the race. I will thank you for the honor offered, and beg to be excused from accepting the nomination."

Also, I wish in this public manner to thank all of my friends throughout the district for their generous support during my canvass in making my cause their cause. And promising to be at the service of my friends in every thing that is right."

Bargains Saturday and Monday.

All 25c. cotton hose.....19c.
12 1/2c. children's hose.....5c.
Best 12 1/2c. silkline.....7c.
25c. ladies' vests.....25c.

MEARS & HAGEN.

Scranton Business College.

Prof. P. D. Yoder, principal of the shorthand department, is doing his usual good work. He has a large and enthusiastic class of students.

The night school is a revelation to visitors. Few who have not visited the school have an idea as to its size. Think of a single class in grammar, numbering 125.

New students enroll nearly every day. Some of this week from Pittston, Pleasant Mills, Dunmore, Moscow and Olyphant. Many will come on Monday.

Solid Gold Rings.

Ladies' fine solid gold rings that can't be purchased elsewhere for less than $15, are now selling at Davidow Bros' great auction sale at 75c. and $1.50. A written guarantee with every ring.

Twining, optician 125 Penn avenue, in Harris' drug store. Hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Bargains in bicycles; greatest this city ever saw. Powells at $25. Shop worn and second hand wheels all but given away at Jurisch's, Hotel Jermy.

Fine Alarm Clocks.

selling at Davidow Bros' auction sale at 50c. and 40c.

The King of Pills is Beecham's—BEECHAM'S.

FIRE AT MIDNIGHT.

Furnished Excitement in the Upper End of Raymond Court.

What might have been a serious and wide-spread fire last night in the district populated by Russian Jews on the upper end of Raymond court, was prevented by the absence of any breeze and the quick discovery of smoke. Soon after midnight a late pedestrian discovered smoke issuing from the rag and junk storage building, two stories high, at No. 426 and reported it to Patrolman Hart on Penn avenue.

The policeman experienced some difficulty in opening the alarm, box No. 16, at the Dickson works, and the building was wrapped in flames by the time box 24, at the City hall, was pulled by Patrolman Mott, who saw the flames from that vicinity, and an alarm was sent in by telephone from the Dickson works office.

In the rear part of the structure were a horse and cow which were saved from injury. Across the court is a row of small double houses, and separated from the burning junk building by lot by a few feet is the house of Nathan Suravitz, owner of the two places. The burning rags which were packed in huge bales and the frame work of the building were a food for the flames from the flames which shot high into the air.

The district fire companies soon had the fire in subjection, but it was nearly an hour before the last embers in the big bales were entirely extinguished.

Suravitz said he had no insurance and that his loss would be about $2,500. He bought the property early in the year from J. S. Miller.

COMING OF ENDEAVORERS.

Committee of '96 Headquarters Was Established Yesterday—Plan for an Excursion to Elmhurst.

Yesterday was made evident the first "outward bound" Christian Endeavor convention. Along the streets of the business section of the city might be seen during the day workmen arranging bunting for the coming of the delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention, and before Monday night it is probable that a sea of color will be presented to extend a welcome to the thousands of expectant delegates. Red and white will be the distinctive Scranton and convention colors.

Early in the day the headquarters of the committee of '96 was established in the Young Men's Christian association building, and until tonight there was a constant stream of committee members and visitors who had business pertaining to the big gathering.

The committee of '96 will meet in the association building tonight. It was made known yesterday that on excursion of the delegates to Fairview.

William Connell, Colonel H. M. Boies, A. W. Dickson and Captain W. A. May have given their approval to a unique plan for entertaining the Endeavorers Wednesday afternoon and in a way that will do much toward giving visiting delegates a splendid outing and making the next week there will be no lack of business. The idea is explained in the following letter:

Dear Sir: As citizens we are deeply interested in the success of the great Christian Endeavor convention, and we are proud to have the honor of entertaining the delegates to the convention.

The plan is as follows: On Wednesday, the 24th inst., the committee desires to take an excursion of delegates by wagon over the N. Y. and E. R. R. to Elmhurst, N. J., and back. It is desired to use in this excursion the services of the delegates, all of which it is desired to use in this excursion. We heartily endorse this excursion. We believe you will be only too glad to furnish your private team and wagon with driver, free, for the use of the committee on this occasion. If we are correct please designate on the enclosed card your approval of the plan, and return it to the committee on this occasion. We will be glad to have your wagon with driver, free, for the use of the committee on this occasion. We will be glad to have your wagon with driver, free, for the use of the committee on this occasion.

Today's mail carries the above circular letter to persons owning private teams, and it is hoped that many will respond to the call. The committee will be glad to have your wagon with driver, free, for the use of the committee on this occasion.

Knowing the Republican party to be the greatest, grandest and most glorious political party that ever won on record, I believe it bigger than any one man or clique of men. Also, I have faith in its virtue and vivifying power, expecting it to rid itself of all death-dealing parties. And to you, my friends, who love law and order and believe our government should be of the people, by the people and for the people, and not of money, by money and for money, I will say that as I have tried to be a candidate, I have failed since I lost my first vote, and believing these great wrongs, unjust imputations and accusations, I have decided to withdraw my name from the race. I will thank you for the honor offered, and beg to be excused from accepting the nomination."

Also, I wish in this public manner to thank all of my friends throughout the district for their generous support during my canvass in making my cause their cause. And promising to be at the service of my friends in every thing that is right."

DAVIDOW BROS.

Great auction sale of silverware, jewelry, etc., takes place every day from 10 to 12 a. m., 2 to 6 and 7 to 10 p. m. Don't fail to get a bargain at this great sale.

Special attention and private dining rooms for dinner parties at Lohmann's, Spruce street. Service and cuisine unexcelled in this city.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25 cents.

Gold Filled Watches.

Elgin or Waltham movement, were selling yesterday from $4 up to $7 and $8, at the great auction sale of Davidow Bros.

A large line of foot ball goods just received; prices right.

A. W. JURISCH, Hotel Jermy.

The Crystal Laundry

makes a specialty of careful work. Orders promptly attended to.

8-Day Clocks.

In onyx or porcelain—the finest in the market—everyone guaranteed, selling at less than half cost. See them at the great auction sale at Davidow Bros., 217 Lackawanna avenue.

Miss Elsie A. C. Van Dervoort, concert contralto. Vocal instruction. Studio 409 Wyoming avenue.

DIED.

GETZ.—In Scranton, Oct. 2, Jacob B., son of Catharine and Levy Getz, age 38, died on Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 2 p. m., from residence, 39 Emmet street. Services will be held at Lutheran church, corner of Adams and Elm streets, at 10 o'clock.

LOVETT.—At Scranton, Oct. 2, 1896, William, son of Lincoln and Esther Lovett, aged 5 months, died at St. Luke's church, Wyoming avenue, Saturday, Oct. 2, at 2 o'clock. Interment at Washington street cemetery.

SMITH.—In Scranton, Oct. 2, 1896, at her parents' residence, 408 West Market street, Grace Irene Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Smith, Funeral Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Interment at Forest Hill cemetery.

WYNN.—In Scranton, Oct. 2, Alice Wynn, 4 years 7 months old, Residence, 577 Emmet street, Funeral Sunday afternoon, Interment in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.

BANNER UNFURLED TO THE BREEZE

An Evening of Enthusiasm at the Central Republican Club Rooms.

Open Air Addresses Delivered by Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., and Major Everett Warren—William Connell Spoke in the Club Rooms Afterward.

His Candidacy Has Gained the Hearts of the People—Hon. W. W. Watson, Chairman of the Evening, Exercises Preceded by a Parade.

Thousands were present last night at the exercises attending the banner raising in front of the Central Republican club rooms on Washington avenue.

The handsome banner, which was placed in position in the center of the street, after the members of the various Republican clubs of the city had terminated a short parade, led by the Lawrence band, and had assembled to hear the speakers.

It was an occasion of much enthusiasm, and the men who came out were proud to have the banner raised. The cordial greeting which they gave to the mention of the names of Major McKinley, Mr. Hobart, William Connell and all the candidates in the Republican column attested the feeling of earnest intention to go to the polls on election day and win a victory that will entitle Lackawanna county to a proud position among her sister counties of the state.

Attorney Fred. W. Fleitz was chairman of the committee that had in hand the arrangements for the occasion. It was all under the auspices of the Central Republican club. Assurances had been received from the various clubs of the city that they would be glad to co-operate in making it a splendid success; and at 7 o'clock the members of the central club were out with the Lawrence band, and received the members of the other clubs as they came to the central club.

A line of march was formed on Lackawanna avenue, where the Sound Music League of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and the members of the other clubs, marched to the central club and after them came the Junior Republican club, the McKinley club, of Bellevue, the William Connell club, of the Eleventh ward, and the Colonel H. M. Boies club of the Twentieth ward.

The parade turned to Spruce street and up that thoroughfare to Washington avenue, where the banner was raised. The first column of the parade carried Chinese lanterns. Mr. Fleitz was grand marshal and Colonel Rippe, president of the club, marched by his side. Torches were liberally supplied to the ranks.

A FINE RANNER.

Over the front of the building patriotic colors were draped and Chinese lanterns were suspended. As the banner was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

From a ledge over the entrance to the building the speech-making was made. Hon. W. W. Watson was chairman and was introduced by Mr. Fleitz. The appearance of Mr. Connell was the signal for great applause. Hon. A. J. Colborn, Jr., candidate in the Eleventh district, was present also, and was loudly cheered. In his opening remarks Mr. Watson said that it was an honor to have the banner raised, and that the voters of the district might to the defense of the Republican standard when they come out in such large numbers to see a banner raised in this way.

The banner, which was drawn out through the front windows on the third story and was guided to its overhead position there was a mighty cheer from the multitude below.

Large bust portraits of the president and candidate for president appeared on the banner and between the portraits is a shield on which is seen the inscription: "Protection, Property, and Sound Money. The names of the state and county officers are written below."

STUDENTS GATHER IN LARGE NUMBERS

To Meet John Raymond Institute Instructors at the Y. M. C. A.

The opening reception of the fall work of the gymnasium and the John Raymond Institute classes of the Young Men's Christian association, which was held last night, was a very successful affair, both in point of numbers and enthusiasm.

The programme consisted of short addresses of welcome and of explanation by President A. W. Dickson and Director W. H. Buell and lively orchestra music by a selected orchestra under the direction of Prof. J. M. Chances. This part of the evening's programme took place in the assembly room where about 200 boys and young men were gathered.

Later the instructors in their respective class rooms received the students and talked with them concerning the studies they intended pursuing. A corps of teachers called on visitors about the building. A busy scene was presented at the general office where the enrollments were made. After it was all over President Dickson and General Secretary George G. Muir expressed themselves as being highly satisfied with the institute's and gymnasium's opening prospects.

GYMNASIUM IMPROVED. The gymnasium has been overhauled and put in shape for the winter work. The apparatus having been procured where needed and the bath and dressing rooms cleaned and repainted. The schedule of classes as arranged by Physical Director Hoff is as follows:

Monday—Business men, 5-6; evening class, 7-8-9.
Tuesday—Junior class, 4:30-5:30; evening class, 7-8-9.
Wednesday—Business men, 5-6; evening class, 7-8-9.
Thursday—Junior class, 4:30-5:30; lecture, 7-8-9.
Friday—Business men, 5-6.
Saturday—Junior class, 9:30-10:30; general address, 8-9-10.

In the institute department, very careful preparations have been made by the executive committee of the institute, W. H. Buell, H. W. Rowley, F. J. Platt, W. J. Hand and T. J. Foran. A new system of registration has been adopted by which the pupils can have the advice of the director on the course of study which he should pursue. There are twenty-six classes, most of which are grouped under one of the following six subjects: English, business, architecture, mining, electricity, and mechanics.

The dependent classes are wood working, plumbing, steam heating and gas pipe fitting, sign painting, free-hand drawing, anatomy and hygiene, wood-carving and music.

A new physical laboratory has been opened and equipped with the very best modern apparatus for experimental work in elementary physics. The drawing rooms have been re-arranged. The architectural drawing department and mechanical drawing room have been re-arranged. A new and greatly improved system of lighting them has been provided.

GOOD MINING COURSE. The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught by T. F. Beane, is one of the most interesting of the new classes. Any man whose business has a direct connection with mines or mining would be benefited by this course. The first year's work will be taken up with the subject of "Ventilation of Mines" which will be divided as follows: Matter, force, heat, expansion, pressure, velocity, quantity, horse-power, furnaces.

The mining course, to be taught