MAJOR M'KINLEY SPEAKS ALL DAY

Former Demonstrations Surpassed by Saturday's Jubilee.

VISITORS ARRIVE AT DAYBREAK

The Speaking Began Early in the Morning and Did Not End Until Night---Bicycie Parade with a Speech to the Wheelmen--Carrier Pigeons Sent Off by Mrs. McKinley.

Canton, O., Oct. 4 .- Organized delegations of visitors reached Canton be-fore daylight yesterday morning, and organized delegations were waiting in front of the McKinley house to be ad-dressed when darkness fell last even-The day was the most notable in this notable campaign. itallroads ran thirty special trains into the city, and regular passenger trains brought far more than their usual ourdens.

Twelve states were represented in the delegations, some of them only by small detachments of wheelmen. and others by large train loads. Speaking began at the Mickinley home before ! o'clock, and from that time was almost continuous. The delegations were frequently doubled up, and as many as seven parties were massed in one audi-ence to be addressed by Major McKin-

Major McKinley received greetings from sixteen different crowds during the day, made formal response to four-teen of these, and acknowledged the calls of the other two. The weather calls of the other two. The weather was delightful all day, and the demon-strations were held on the lawn. The speech-making began from the front porch, but the crowd soon became so large that the delegations could not get near enough to see or to hear, and the speaking was transferred to a re-viewing stand erected on the front lawn in anticipation of the bicycle parade.

sist every attempt to arouse class or sec-tional prejudice or spirit. (Cries of "That's what we'll do.")

Major McKinley took a little breath-ing spell in his library and greeted a few individual callers there. When he reappeared on the lawn seven delega-tions were massed—six hundred emcleveland, 250 employees of the Kilby Manufacturing company, 500 employees of the H. P. Nail works, 150 employees of the Cleveland Hardware company, or the Cleveland Hardware company, riers and 600 employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad company in Fort Wayne and vicinity. William Caldwell introduced the Harbison and Walker Star Fire the Harbison and Walker Star Fire Brick company employees from Pitts-burg, four or five hundred strong, and Grant Hubeley several hundred em-ployees of the Oil Well Supply com-pany of Pittsburg, the two remaining delegations of the crowd. Enoch Cox, speaking for the railroad men, said that they had come from the office, from the forge, from the bench, and from all branches of railroad work to express to Major McKinley their confidence in him and the principles he represents. J. W. Sutherland introduced the wire workers. Citizens of Venango county and the city of Franklin, Pa., 1,200 in number, with 200 students of the university at Wooster, O., constituted the next aud-ience, Col. S. C. Lewis extending, the greetings of Venango county and as-surances of support. Thomas McGhou spoke in behalf of the oil interests of the county.

PITTSBURG VETERANS. PITTSBURG VETERANS. Late in the afternoon, a company of 700 Union veterans arrived from Pitts-burg and Allegheny. They carried many battle-scarred flags and banners. The delegation was composed of the Pittsburg Union Veteran Patriotic league and the Allegheny county war veteran clubs. We have discovered in the last three years and a half that we cannot increase the output of the mines or wages of the miner by decreasing manufacturing in the United States. I favor that policy which will give the largest development to every American interest, that gives the widest opportunity to every American interest, that gives the widest opportunity to every American interest, that gives the widest opportunity to every American horer, and secures to over y American horer, and secures to over y American horer, and secures to our people the highest possible prosperity in all their occupations. Felicitious ad-dresses were delivered by Col. Charles F. McKenna and William T. Bradbury, General A. L. Pierson was master of ceremonics, and General James O'Beirne of New York was a guest of honor.

The Stamina club of Cincinnati, 350 strong, including many sound-money advocates recruited from other parties. was introduced by its president, C. C. Benedict, who said Hamilton county was sure to give 20,000 Republican ma-jority, and they were working very hard to make it 40,000.

A committee representing the me-chanics and silversmiths of the Mauser Manufacturing company of New York and Chicago presented a magnificent loving cup of gold inscribed, "In silver we believe when redeemable in gold." The cup was elaborate in design, and was in a large cabinet of royal purple. George Dessauer made the presentation address.

The last address of the day was made WANTED - WELL-KNOWN MAN IN every town to solicit stock subscrip-tions; a monopoly; big money for agents; no capital required. EDWARD C. FISH & CO., Borden Block, Chicago, III. to 2,000 Bohemians and Hungarians from Cleveland. In his speech to the veteran soldiers Major McKinley said:

About 500 men representing the Standard Manufacturing company of Pittsburg, brought with their greet-ings and congratulations a porcelain bathtub with gold decorations as a specimen of their handiwork. The tub was mounted on a bronze platform and carried on the shoulders of half a dozen men. It was presented to Mr. McKinley, and left standing on the porch during Major McKinley said: The war is all over. The north and the south are again reunited. I am to have next week a visit from 500 Confederate sol-diers, who will bring me testimosy for which temporarily. I stand. (Great cheer-ing.) It is the business of soldiers of this country, whether they fought on the one side or the other, it is their business to see that the Union which was saved shall be preserved forever. The base of the serv-ice in that state is Charlestown, and all mail sent to that office intended for per-sons residing within a radius of three and a half miles from the limits of the city will be delivered by mounted car-riers.

As rapidly as possible the rural ser-vice will be established in thirty counties throughout the country, not more than one county being selected in a single state.

YALE'S IVY TO BE REPLANTED. Two Vines to Symbolize the Union of ### North and South.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 4.-Yale's rebel ivy will be replanted, but along-side of it will be a union ivy, and the two vines will grow up together, symbolizing the union of the north and south.

When the ivy was planted last June a protest went up from northern people because it had been taken from the grave of General Robert E. Lee. In August the ive disappreared. The toy August the ivy disappeared. The committee has resolved to plant an-other ivy from General Lee's grave as soon as convenient, and beside it will e an ivy from the grave of Theodore Winthrop, one of the first officers of the union army to fall during the civil war. The planting of the twin vines will be conducted with elaborate ceremon-ies. It has been suggested that ex-

Governor Chamberlain of North Carolina, a Yale graduate, be invited to deliver an address at the time.

in anticipation of the bicycle parade. By utilizing thas stand the McKinley lawn could be filled on one side, the broad streets on two other sides, and an adjoining lawn on the fourth, but as the afternoon advanced even this area was inadequate for the crowd, and lawns beyond were invaded. The crowd was difficult to estimate, owing to the constant shifting, but there were probably nearly 30,000 strangers in the city. There were bands and drum corps without number. Looking in any di-rection, at almost any hour from broad daylight to darkness, a marching club could be seen, and such a wealth of bright-colored banners, gay uniforms, and novel descentions has not hereto-fore been wignessed here. One of the big features of the day was a demonstration of the wheelmen under the aus-pices of the National Wheelmen's Mc-Kinley and Hobart club. In this clubs from twelve states were represented, the total number of wheelmen being estimated an three thousand. Four of ive hundred in three housand, Four of five hundred of these came from Chi-cago. Cleveland sent a large party. Buffalo segt one hundred and fifty, Pittsburg a blig delegation, and Louis-ville, Ky., and Cincinnati each sent a club.

Some of the clubs called at the Mc-Kinley house independent of the general demonstration, and a general pa-rade ended with the riders, among whom were several hundred ladies massed in front of the reviewing stand. The address of Major McKinley to the wheelmen was one of the most extend-ed of the day, and the reception given it was one of the most enthusiastic of the camps ign.

The Kenwood McKinley Glee club of Chicago was a part of the wheelmen's delegation. They sang to the delight of the crowd in the yard, and rendered a number of selections for Mrs. McKinley and her friends in the house. There were several bugle corps mounted on wheels in the brigade, the shrill blasts of which pierced the air all day. A novel feature of the cheering and applauding was an accompaniment play-ed on the little bells carried by the riders. The Buffalo club brought several homing piegons, and they made an early call upon Major McKinley to have him write a greeting which the pigeons ould carry home. It was to this party that the major ould carry made one of his short addresses of the day as a prefix to the reading of the message he sent Mrs. McKinley released the pigeons. The major also acknowledged the call, with a few pleasant words, of the Cleveland wheelmen, so far in the rear of the parade that they could neither see nor hear the demonstration of the general body.

A SIGNIFICANT VISIT.

One significant visit of the day was made by the miners of the Sunday Creek Valley, in Athens county, O. During Major McKinley's gubernatoral term this district was sorely dis-tressed by hunger, and Major McKin--ley's prompt action to give them relief attracted general attention at the time. His message sent them at the time. "No man, woman, or child within the state of Ohio shall be without food, shelter, and clothing while I am gover-nor," was published and endorsed everywhere. Expressions of gratitude for this prompt relief were manifested in the cheers and comments of the crowd today and were expressed by J. M. Allen, of Glouster, who described the prosperity they once enjoyed and the distress which followed the change the distress which followed the change in administration four years ago. This delegation of about 700 people, which arrived at 7 o'clock in the morn-ing, and the 400 people from Harris-burg. Pa., and neighborhood, who ar-rived at 5 o'clock, constituted the first crowd addressed by Major McKinley. The Pennsylvanians were introduced by Captain William J. George, of the Harrisburg News. Major McKinley said to them: said to them:

Whatever injuriously or beneficially af-country's honor and their country's pros-perity than they are thinking of any po-litical organization. What we want in this country and what we mean to do in this country, is, first of all, to keep our money good. (Great cheering.) Every dollar of it, whother paper, silver, or gold, shall be worth; fully 100 cents and be worth exactly that sum, whether it is in the hands of a banker or the hands of the laborer. (Cries of "Good!" and three cheers.) or and their country's p

BARBERTOWN'S HOPES.

As Major McKinley was responding, four or five hundred people from Bar-bertown appeared on the scene and mingled with the other delegations, Mafor McKinley finished his speech to the Pittsburgers and then listened to the greetings of Barberton extended by the Hon. O. C. Barber, President of the Diamond Match company. Mr. Barber said there was a town built during the floodtide of the Republican reciprocity. floodtide of the Republican reciprocity, when it we hoped that the Republican administrations would continue thirty years longer. The changes which had come over the country had left Barber-ton much to be desired, but they hoped for better things when McKinley oc-cupied the Presidential chair. Major McKinley then added a brief greeting to the Barberton callers who had heard most of the former addresses. W. H. Kircker of Pittsburgh intro-duced five hundred men as the employduced five hundred men as the employ-ees of the Pennsylvania Railroad company in the shops at Allegheny. Mr. Kirker assured Major McKinley that the employees of the shops are unanimously and enthusiastically for him experience, they were very much ashamed of that record, and would do their best to correct it in November. Major McKinley said to them:

Major McKinley said to them: We have the best country in the world, and if it does not continue to be the best it will be our fault. We have the best railroads in the world, and we have more railroads than any other nation of the world, and it is because we have such vast internal commerce that the railroads of this country have been able and have ex-tended their lines, giving employment to American labor. The workingmen of this country are the largest creditors in this country. There is due the workingmen in prosperous times so vast a sum of money as to make them the largest cred-itors of the country, and they are there-fore more interested, or quite as much in-terested, as any other part of our popu-lation in having a sound and stable cur-rency, unvarying in value and good wher-ever trade goes. ever trade goes.

Next came the employes of the Start Tin Plate company and Mackintosh, Hemphill & Co., of Plusburg, five hun-dred strong. L. B. Jackson presented the party. He claimed for his company the making of the first gun for the Union forces in the sixties, as well as the making of the largest sheet of the in the world. He said they came to give testimony of the success of tin making in this country and emphasize their endorsement of the Republican platform, a protective tariff, and a sound money and staple currency.

A party of about 100 railroad men were introduced by Robert K. Krahn-biehl and addressed by Major McKin-ley. From Washington county, Pa., there came 2,000 enthusiastic wool growers, miners, mechanics, farmers, and citizens generally John H Mun and citizens generally. John H. Mur-dock made a general introduction for the party, and John G. Clark spoke on behalf of the wool growers. Major Mc-Kinley said to them:

Our farmers are intelligent and not dis-honorst. (Great applause.) They have been honorable in all their transactions. They are not unpatriotic, but devoted, self-sacrificing, and upright citizens, and they will vote for their own products. (Great applause and cries of "We'll vote for Mc-kinley, too.") They are not to be de-ceived by false teachings or false teachers, but this year, as in every crisis of our country's history, they will be for and on the side of American honor (applause), and mut behind them every temptation and manfully sustain the right as God gives them to see the right. (Great ap-plause.) They are true sons of noble men who founded the republic. They will re-Our farmers are intelligent and not dis.

ADDRESS TO WHEELMEN. To the bicyclists Major McKinley said said: Political clubs on wheels are novel in political contexts, and are truly American. Their presence marks a new era in cam-paign work, and I congratuate you upon the inauguration of this mighty force in American politics. Rapid transit in this novel form depends largely upon a single condition-good roads (great cheering and ringing of bleycle bells), and I belleve in them. (Great applause.) Good roads are progressing with remarkable advancement in every part of our wonderful country. It is a matter of congratulation that most of the states, influenced almost en-tirely by your efforts, have pressed the subject home upon the people with grati-fying results. The Americans are eminently a practical subject home upon the people with grati-fying results. The Americans are eminently a practical people, and were quick to see both the con-venience and utility of this beautiful ma-chine, so simple and perfect in every part and so well designed as a whole, the pre-judice could not avail against its pride nor prudishness, nor fear prevent its widest use by men, women and children everywhere. (Applause and ringing of bells.) Such a scene as I witness before me to-day would not be possible in any other country of the world. It is a spectacle long to be remembered, and it is at once an inspiration and an education. Bicycle riding is useful not only for health and recreation, but in business and in almost every department of human exertion. Major McKinley said to the Bohem-

NOTHING SLOW ABOUT IT.

New Town Started on the Prairie Is Up to Date.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Oct. 4.-Less than three months ago the Burling-ton, Cedar Rapids and Northern Rall-way company established a station mid-way between Bode and West Bend, on its Pacific division, and named it Ot-terson. Nothing but prairie was in sight of the proposed station, and the jack rabbits were chasing each other over the land. the land. Now fifteen substantial buildings are Now fifteen substantial buildings are in course of erection, including a hotel, livery stable, five stores and several residences. A grain elevator, with a ca-pacity of 10,000 bushels, is completed, while coal yards, cattle sheds and everything else to make up a town are in course of construction. A news-paper man got in on the ground floor, and the fourth issue of the Otterson Boomer has been issued. A postoffice has not yet been established, but the people receive their mail regularly. A sort of free delivery system has been established, and every day the people have their mail delivered at their doors.
