FIRE IN A PLANING MILL. Timely Discovery Prevents What Might Have Been a Costly Blaze.

Last night's fire, which occasioned an alarm from box 74 at 10.30 o'clock, was in the Peck Lumber company's planing mill on East Market street.

The mill was working late last night and it is supposed that a spark from an emery wheel dropped through a hole in the roof and set fire to the shavings beneath.

It smoldered until after the men had left and soon after broke out in a blaze. Luckily it was discovered before much damage was done...

HORSE'S NECK BROKEN.

Belonged to Meatman Carr, of Washington Avenue, and Elm Street.

A valuable horse, owned by P. E. Carr, the Washington avenue meat man, was killed on Pine street near the Moses Taylor hospital last evening.

Soon after he went in the horse started to run away and went along the avenue as fast as it could gallop, dragging the weight along at its side.
