WAS AN UNWILLING GROOM

McLean, to Prevent Any Legal Complications, Agreed to a Marriage Ceremony--Bride from Deposit, N. Y.

Had masked robbers thrust a gun through the ticket window and ordered the bride to get out of the car. The Ontario and Western station agent at Park Place could not have been more surprised and excited than he was yesterday afternoon when a woman was seized at the window he wheeled around in his chair and saw through the grating the face of the girl whom he had recognized as being a bride from Deposit, N. Y. a few months ago. By her side was an aged but stalwart looking man whom he recognized as the girl's uncle and guardian, Rev. W. F. Pounce, a Catholic priest of Deposit. It was unnecessary for him to ask what was wanted or for them to tell him.

"Do you intend to redress the wrong you have done this girl?" the priest asked. When McLean could find words he stammered something about not being ready and that he would make matters right in good time.

"You will do it now or take the consequences" was the alternative given by the priest. McLean hesitated a moment and then he said he would do it. The priest then went to the door and called the girl to get out of the car. She came in with a warrant which he forthwith served upon McLean. It was sworn out before Alderman Fuller and the Ontario and Western station agent, a minor child, under promise of marriage, on May 1, 1896.

On the way to the alderman's office McLean suggested that they rest somewhere and see if they could not come to some agreement. This was agreed to after a two hour conversation. McLean and the girl, who was named Mary, were taken to the court's office and secured a license. McLean answered the questions solemnly and acted all through as if he was anything but pleased with the affair. When the question of the ceremony was propounded, the uncle suggested that he perform the ceremony. "All right; do it then," was McLean's reply of agreeing. When asked by the uncle whether or not he would like to go to the ceremony, he replied that he was satisfied with the place they were in. Father Pounce thereupon told him take the girl's hand, and in a few moments they were man and wife.

SMASH-UP AT PROVIDENCE.

Street Car Breaks a Wagon and Injures the Driver.

A street car coming toward town struck a wagon loaded with furniture opposite the residence of William H. Richmond on North Main avenue near the Providence Hotel, at 10 o'clock last night, and besides severely injuring Cornelius Sullivan, the driver, who lives on Elyon street, the collision broke the carriage and left on the ground an article of the latter being left intact.

Mr. Sullivan was coming from Providence. He drove across the tracks, and the car struck, and either did not hear it coming or calculated on getting safely over. The car was in charge of Motorman Ale. A telephone message was sent to the Lackawanna Hospital and the ambulance with Dr. Blanchard arrived. Sullivan was brought to the hospital. He had been rolled about of the car among the debris of the wagon and the furniture, and when Dr. Blanchard examined him found him bruised from head to foot, but with no serious cuts or bones broken. He will be able to resume work in a week.

Division Superintendent Charles Povey took a car to the scene, and the broken furniture in it and stored it over night in the Providence barn.

WALL IS A VERY MUCH MARRIED MAN

Has Been Wedded to Three Women in Twelve Years, and All Are Alive.

MARRIED FIRST AT FACTORYVILLE

Detective North, of Delaware County, N. Y., Here Looking Up Evidence Against Frank E. Wall Now in Jail There--Prisoner Said His First Wife Died in Scranton But There Is No Record of It.

Detective William R. North, of Delhi, Delaware county, N. Y., came to Scranton yesterday to look up evidence against a man named Frank E. Wall, who is under indictment in Delaware county for bigamy. Mr. North was sent on here by District Attorney William F. White, of that county.

The detective called at the office of Clerk of the Courts John H. Thomas and at the board of health office in city hall to look up the records. Wall was married at Factoryville, Wyoming county, this state, on July 12, 1884. His bride was Miss Addie Van Gorder, of that place, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Hanover.

A short while ago he married a Miss Morris, of Delaware county, N. Y., and for that transaction he is now in jail. He was married to a woman named Mrs. August 24, 1882, he was married to her in Scranton several years ago. No one questioned his statement, or at least no one took the trouble to find out whether or not it was true, and as the woman he married seemed to be satisfied and take for granted that what he said was true, everything went along nicely until one day he deserted her.

The next heard of him was when he turned up in Delhi, N. Y., and married Miss Morris. He claimed to her that his first wife was dead, and although he admitted that he married Miss Failing, he contended that the marriage was not a valid one. An investigation was begun under indictment to be tried next week for bigamy, but it may be a case of polygamy before the detective gets through with it.

NO RECORD OF HER FOUND.

The detective heard that the Van Gorder woman married again after she had left her, and that it was to some person in Scranton. He went to the office of Clerk of the Courts Thomas to look up the marriage license docket and find out whether or not such was the case. There is no record in the clerk's office of a Van Gorder woman, answering to her description getting a license.

The detective then went to the board of health office to find if there was any record there of such a woman dying in this city, but he found none. He proposes to remain in Scranton today to follow up his search for the woman, and if he is unsuccessful in finding any trace of her to prove that she is alive.

District Attorney White says that when the proper time comes he can easily prove that Wall's marriage with Miss Failing was not a valid one, and that his subsequent union with Miss Morris made him guilty of bigamy. But Mr. White wants, if he can get the evidence, to prove that Wall is not only a bigamist, but that he makes a practice of marrying whenever he chooses, and that's the reason Detective North came on here.
