WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Mentally Unbalanced Individual Who Escaped from the Hillside Home Taken to Station House.

A bedraggled individual, gray-bearded, tall, dressed in tumbled about clothing with a heavy shoe and the sleeve of a white shirt sticking from the breast of his coat and with one foot bare, hopped into Davies' South Main avenue drug store at 11 o'clock last evening and coolly sat himself down in a chair. He sat there for a few moments, never speaking a syllable and all the while glancing wild-eyed about the room. Finally he was questioned by the crowd that gathered around him.

His name was Jacob Courtwright, he said; was 52 years of age, lived in Dunmore, worked in a grocery store at 435 Tom Clifford, Susquehanna county, since 8 o'clock yesterday morning. Furthermore, he had met with an accident near Clifford, the bumpers of two rail-way cars squeezing his foot. That was why the right foot was bare and why he limped, carrying his shoe and sticking in his coat.

"I have a million dollars in my pocket," he said and he was at once taken to the West Side police station.

"You're from the Hillside home, are you not?" asked Dr. Payne. "Yes," responded the gray-beard. "I have twelve wives," he continued, "four children; bought twelve car loads of hogs last week; going to eat them up myself; if I can't, twelve wives can." He knew Grover Cleveland, Dr. Strong, of the home; William McKinley, "Dutch" George and "Billy" Bryan. He knew them all.

George Duffy and Thomas McHugh gave declamations. The chairman was William Giltroy. A smoker closed the session.

HER FOOT CAUGHT.

A little girl, Millie Gould, whose home is over Jenkins' drug store, was chased by a dog last evening and the consequence was that a street car came within a few feet of crushing the child. The exciting episode occurred in front of Moore's hall. When the dog chased the girl she ran across the street and, her foot catching in the street car track, she fell prostrate. TIED THEIR VICTIMS WITH A ROPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Ribitch beaten by a Crowd of Polanders. Eight Polanders from Lloyd street were arranged before Alderman Roberts of the Second ward yesterday for a brutal assault on Joseph Ribitch and his wife Ethel, residents of the same neighborhood. Ribitch rents a part of his house to a Polish family named Dominski and recently had occasion to enter a landlord's warrant against them in order to enforce payment of the rent. This caused bad blood between them. Tuesday Mrs. Ribitch, while doing some chores in the cellar, was drenched with a pail of slops thrown through a window. She suspected Mrs. Dominski and accompanied by Mr. Ribitch went to the Dominskis to extract the cause of the trouble. The Dominskis, with a number of their sympathizers, pitched into Mr. and Mrs. Ribitch and gave them a vicious beating, going so far as to tie the husband's legs with a rope. Both the victims had their clothing torn into shreds besides being badly battered. Lieutenant Spellman and a squad of police officers were called about midnight and captured eight of the assailants. The alderman held them to bail for court.

PERAMBULATOR RUN DOWN.

James Hamilton, the United States mail wagon driver, who several months ago ran down, and by so doing, caused the death of Mrs. Rebecca Griffin, of the West Side, yesterday afternoon again ran his horse into a baby carriage at Washington avenue and Spruce street. Hamilton was driving down Washington avenue; he held the reins loosely in his hands and when turning the corner the big bay horse was traveling at a good rate of speed. A young woman was propelling a baby carriage, with the infant inside, across Spruce street and the horse's front legs struck the carriage and the infant stopped on the ground. The carriage was bent in by the collision but, luckily, the woman held on and the baby was not thrown out or injured. Patrolman Mohr and a crowd of spectators who saw the occurrence were powerless to prevent an accident if the horse had continued onward.

A committee consisting of Joseph Niles, Leo Kravinski, Stanislaus Rumowicz and Martin Roberson called at the Tribune office yesterday and said that the resolutions printed in the city papers wherein it is set forth that the appointment of a pastor for the church is pleasing to the congregation do not represent the sentiments of the majority of the members.
