Whether Gold or Silver Wins

The Tribune will continue to be the winner to the progressive business man. We need not say why. The people read it, and peo-ple are buyers. Its circulation is so thorough that all communities in Northeastern Pennsylvania are brought to a knowledge of the bargains in store for them in the many business houses represented in its columns. Printer's ink has created many fortunes, and it will do for you what it has done for others if it is intelligently done. The Tribune's columns offers an opportunity.

LADIES' BOX CALF SHOES.

Our ladies' shoes for fall and winter wear are something new. They are made of a new lightweight material called "Box Calf," and we have them in lace and button, with good heavy soles, so they can be worn without rubbers if necessary. Box calf will not wet through and is besides, good and serviceable. These shoes are made with the new toe, which is very comfortable as well as stylish. We have these shoes in lace, extra high, for skating purposes. We also carry a full line of them for misses and children, made up with the same style or toe. They are the best shoes for school that can be had. We have them in Voters Who See Nothing .- Some See Through the Eyes of Others and Some See Only One Side of a Ques-Stamps a Voter as Guilty as a Ballot-Box Stuffer.

A course of talks on the moral aspects of the political campaign was be-gen last night in Elm Park Methodist churen by the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. M. Giffin. The torde of his address was "Politics Without Eyes." While the evening service always attracts a particularly large audience, the announcement of last night's subject drew to the church a throng that filled the seats in auditorium and gallery to overflowing.
Dr Giffin announced that his topic next Sunday night would be "Politics Without Conscience," and on the following Sunday, "Politics Without Date."

The singing was fully in keeping with the thought of the address, the two then congregational hymns being "My Coun- and try. 'Tis of Thee," and Lord, while for all mankind we pray Of every clime and ceast. O hear us for our native land— The land we love the most.

Dr. Giffin's text was "Blind people that have eyes," Isiah xilii 8, There was nothing in his discourse to indicate which party had his sympathy; what he discussed was more specially the po-litical blindness of so-called intelligent voters. He said:

"My mother taught me that none are so blind as those that will not see. The text of tonight suggests the need of the services of the prophet and not the occulist. It might well be applied to our case at present in our political condition. We need to know a great deal about it, but a knowledge that comes of boasting is not sense." Faith in Providence "is plous cant and one of the most despicable forms of cloaking one's lack of knowledge. I shall not tonight enumerate the ratio of this blindness but will mention some of the classes and if any one fits your case I hope you will profit by it.

ANOTHER BLINDED CLASS. ANOTHER BLINDED CLASS.

"One blind class sees through the eyes of others. It is better to be able to cast a ballot intelligently for president than to be elected president by cambaign tricks and through the efforts of henchmen. I want to say from a Christian pulpit if you vote through the eyes of another you are nothing more than a cypher; I don't know what your reason would be for being a nonentity, but I do know you ought not to be that.

"Another blinded class is that which looks through but one eye. He learns as "Another blinded class is that which looks through but one eye. He learns as much as does the man from the echo of his own voice. I should be ashamed to be content with only reading my party paper that is left at my door. A man who will not post himself on the beliefs and arguments of the opposition is worse than a bigot; the word hardly describes the man who 'goes it bind' and, right or wrong, swallows the whole thing. It's not the Judgment of the good sense to form our opinions before going into the jury box or hearing the witnesses.

"The prayer, 'O God, help us not to despise our rulers and leelp them not to be able to help us not to despise them,' is not wholly a bad one. Keeping your eyes open don't mean listening only, for if you hear you will not vote for any candidate. Study evidences and truth, if the devil is father of lies he has lots of children at election times. Its well for you to know how to judge the candidate who was so bothered about the mud-flinging that hedidn't know whether he was running for the presidency or the penitentiary. Look all along the line and know of a ticket whether it's good head has not a bad tail. "Any platform that does not contain the heart of righteousness will never stand for any legth of time. We can thank God for that. Its a case of being on God's being on our side; we're doing God's work, not He ours. You must have a personal judgment of party principles, but if a voter has it not, when he goes to deposit not He ours. You must have a personal judgment of party principles, but if a voter has it not, when he goes to deposit his ballot his hand should be palsied; he is on the par of a ballot bax stuffer. Many a man who votes knows as little of the thing he is voting for as the man who does not vote. Shame on us, of a nation which was purchased at such a high cost.

was purchased at such a high cost.

TOO BUSY TO SEE.

There is a class too busy to make use of their eyes. One of them hangs out a flag on holidays, and shoots off skyrockers on the Fourth of July, but says he's too busy to bother with politics or use his perogative beyond the point of walking to the booth, putting in his ballot and then going home with the satisfaction that whatever happened to the country he had done his duty. What a spectacle! What a use of the powers God gave you. I've nothing to say of party managers who say what's the need of using your eyes, there's nothing he lee and preaching to them would not do you any good. We want the country aroussed, not by the practical campaigning, but in studying. There's too many men who save the country by attending meetings nearly every night in the week and there imbibe a great deal of their country's product and singger home at a late hour with not enough voice left to say good night to their lives.

"Polities is as healthy as any art or science and all citizens should be politicians in the sense that he knows what is best for his country's good. We want an army of those; we want Godly politicians, enthusiastic ones. Ye, we do want enthusiastic politicians. The oil from a grimy torch in a procession may be almost as sacred as holy oil if the bearer of the torch carries it in an intelligent hand. I've marced in political parades and if I don't lose my mind I may march in another before this campaign is over. They are good, they are healthy; perpetual agitation will keep corruption out of a republic, and parades and the enhusiasts know what its all about.

"If any of you, my brothers, represent any of the classes I have referred to, you are doing your country as much harm as good in your blindness or ignorance. You have it in your grasp to be as powerful as the man you elect to office, but to do it you've got to have a Godly idea of what your ballot represents."

RECEPTION AT CATHEDRAL.

Nearly One Hundred Received Into Third Order of St. Francis.

Nearly one hundred persons were re-ceived into the Third Order of St. Francis at St. Peter's cathedral last night. Several years ago a branch of it was instituted in the cathedral parit was instituted in the cathedral par-lish. At stated times a reception is held and persons desirous of joining then become members. Last Friday a triduum, or three days' prayer, was be-gun. Rev. Father Pamphilis, of St. Bonaventure's college, Allegany, N. Y., a priest of the Order of St. Francis, came here to conduct the triduum. Those already members and the postu-lants, that is, those looking forward to the grace of becoming members, en-tered upon a three days' period of prayer for the auspicious preparation for the reception.

Father Pamphilius is a scholarly man, as well as a very eloquent preacher. He is gifted with a fine presence and has a rich, fiexible voice which can be heard from the altar to the entrance of the cathedral without a strain on his part. At last mass in the morning he preached the sermon and was very impressive. His text was from the gospel of the mass and dealt with the all-important duty resting upon every person, that of saving his soul. He preceded with an explanation concerning the Third Order of St. Francis and urged all to join it.

In the evening the reception was

HANDLEY EXECUTORS IN IRELAND.

Conducted an Inquiry at Bennett's Hotel in Enniscorthy.

The Free Press published at Wexford, Ireland, contained the following in its issue of Oct. 3: "An important inquiry is being held just now in Bennett's hotel, Ennis-corthy. It commenced on Thursday last at one o'clock. A couple of years ago Judge John Handley died a bacheler at Scranton, Pennsylvania, pos-sessed of an immense estate something like £400,000 worth. By his will be gave some small bequests to servants and friends, but he left nearly the entire of his property to the cities of Winchester and Scranton—both in the United States. His heirs or next of kin—about 16 in number, including Mr. John Handley, of Ballyhubbock; the Misses Handley, of Enniscorthy; Mrs. Colburn, of Kilmuckridge; Mr. George Murphy, of Kilmuckridge; Mr. Thomas Murphy, ex-D. VERY FINE PARADE OF TEMPERANCE MEN

VIEWED BY THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE

It Required the Parade Just One Hour to Pass a Given Point .- Many of the Scranton was honored Saturday with very creditable parade of the Catholic Potal Abstinence society of the Diocesan union. Thousands came to town cesan union. Thousands came to town to see the marchers, and the streets were crowded all day. Not until late in the evening did the throng betake themselves homeward, and there was not a single unpleasant incident to mar the occasion. It was an ideal day for a parade, nor was the weather uncomfortable for the attendance at the picnic in Laurel Hill park, conducted unnic in Laurel Hill park, conducted un-der the auspices of St. John's society, of Pine Brook, for the entertainment of visiting brethren and friends. The pic-nic was largely attended and was a success.

Between adult and cadet societies here were nearly fifty in line; and an idea of the members represented can be gained from the fact that marching was in columns of fours, and took the parade an hour exactly to pass The Tribune office. A score of bands and drum corps furnished music. Hand-some banners and handsome uniforms and regalias and United States flags appeared all along the line. It was esti-mated that there were 4,000 men in line. and quadruple that number from other places were present on the streets of the city to view the parade. Societies within the city and those adjacent thereto marched from their halls and arrived at Wyoming avenue at the place of formation at 9 o'clock. Up-the-valley societies came in on trains arrling between 9 and 10.30., and they were met at the station by the grand marshal and members of his staff and escorted to the positions assigned to them. The down-the-valley societies kept arriving as late as 11 clock, and thus delayed the starting. GRAND MARSHAL AND AIDS.

Mail Carrier Michael O'Malley, of this city, was grand marshal, and Select Councilman M. E. Clarke was chief of staff. The aids were William Daniels, C. J. O'Boyle, T. J. Mahon, John Gilgallon, James J. Mahon, M. J. McHugh, P. F. Cannon, W. B. Madigan, Michael En-nis, John J. Collins and John McHale Headquarters were at St. Thomas' college, where all division commanders and marshals of societies reported upon their arrival. The parade was made up in three divisions, and the colors of the officers of each were red, white and blue respectively. The aids were mounted.

It was ten minutes after the court house bell tolled the noon hour when Grand Marshal O'Malley gave the order to march. Mounted Officers Dyer and Captain Burke rode at the head of the parade and cleared the streets of vehicles and other such obstacles. Ropes had been stretched along Lackawanna venue and that confined the spectators n the sidewalk.

The line of march was from Wyoming to Spruce street, to Franklin avenue, to Lackawanna avenue, to Washington avenue, countermarching at Gibson street, back to Spruce street, to Jefferson avenue, to Linden street, to Clay avenue, to Poplar street, where the line was reviewed by the grand marshal and staff and the clergy. rade continued on to Laurel Hill park. where the temperance men entered into where the temperance men entered into the enjoyment of the festivities. Following the grand marshal and staff in right of line was St. Aloyslus Young Men's society of Wilkes-Barre, led by Alexander's Ninth Regiment band of thirty-three pieces. The St. Al's of Wilkes-Barre, with their 500 members and handsome appearance de-served the honorable position assigned to them. Then came the carriages in to them. Then came the carriages in which were the clergy, the officers of the Diocesan union, and ex-presidents of the union and representatives of the ladles' temperance societies.

IN THE CARRIAGES.

Those in the carriages were: Rev. E. J. Melley, of the South Side, spiritual director of the union; Rev. P. J. Me-Manus, of Green Ridge, ex-president of the union; Rev. N. J.
