CORSE PAYTON AND COMPANY.

They Opened a Week's Engagement

at the Academy Last Night. ed a week's engagement at the Academy of Music last night before an audlence that was large notwithstanding the very disagreeable weather. The drama selected for the opening performance was "The Parislan Princess" to which Mr. Payton has applied his peculiar stage methods. He is not a be-liever in the serious a disciple of lightness and light and if he had his way would make "Hamlet" as laugh provoking as "The Private Secretary." As a work of dramatic art "The Parisian Princess" could be improved upon but Mr. Payton has so served it up for the public that its original short-comings have in a way been lost sight of. He introduces plenty of comedy into it as well as singing and dancing specialties that are really clever and the waits between acts are robbed of waits between acts are robbed of their tediousness by a stereoptican exhibition. The stage settings and scenery are the most elaborate ever shown

FOR A FEW DAYS MORE.

Bergmann's Wonderful Swiss Village Will Be on Exhibition Here.

When you visit the novel and interesting entertainment at 400 Lackawanna avenue you will be convinced that it is one of the most wonderful in the world. Great improvements have developed during the past few decades in all the arts and sciences, but none more startling or wonderful than those Joseph Bergmann has obtained in auto-matic motions. His great masterpiece emphatically caps the climax.

The has reached the top round of hu-man possibilities and his triumph has startled and astonished the scientific world. With a little water and a light-weight so ingeniously arranged as to weight so ingeniously arranged as to weight so ingeniously atranged as to perpetuate its own power he has set the most complicated machinery into harmonious action, filled numerous workmen with apparent life and indeed perfected all the activities of a complete "Swiss Village."

It is now combined with Professor Berger's great "Automatic Exposition." The movements and constructions are not only mysterious, but wonderfully not only mysterious, but wonderfully constructed and arranged. Go and see these phenomenal marvels and endea-vor to solve the mystery of inspired genius. It will remain in Scranton for a few days, and every man, woman and child should pay it a visit.

BOARD OF CONTROL MEETS

Transacted a Large Amount of Routine Business Last Night---Number of New Teachers Appointed.

The board of control covered a good deal of ground during the forty-five minutes it was in session last night. It first adopted a number of important recommendations of the teachers' committee: That Miss Conner be made assistant to Professor Hawker and that Miss Elizabeth Williams take Miss Conner's grade; that Miss Rose Meehan be permanently appointed to No. 24; that Miss Eliza Lewis and Miss Mary Harris be permanently appointed at No. 13; that Miss Maud Powers be appointed permanently at No. 21; that night schools open on November 9, in such schools as shall be designated by the teachers' committee at the next regular meeting; that the matter of avranging sessions at No. 10 school be referred to the superintendent and the South Side directors.

Upon the recommendation of the building committee the contract for erecting No. 23 building in the Third ward was given to E. S. Williams, his bid being $13.775. Mrs. W. H. Williams, janitress of No. 24, was allowed an in-crease of salary of $5 per month on ac-count of the opening of an additional room in that building. The proposition of the Scranton Iron Fence company to erect a fire-escape for $210, at No. 25. where the rooms on the third floor are to be opened up, was submitted by the building committee and adopted, despite Mr. Jennings' protest against awarding contracts without first securing competitive bids.

The next report of the building committee was a proposition from the Peck Lumber company to build the retaining wall at No. 10 for $1,310. Mr. Gibbons and Mr. Barker made the same objection that Mr. Jennings did in the former case and the matter was re ferred back to the committee with in structions to procure bids.

MR. JACOBS EXPLAINED. Mr. Jacobs, chairman of the committee, explained that the Peck Lumber company is working on the ground now and as it can get the stone needed for the wall from the excavation, it felt that it could do the work cheaper than any other contractor and there-fore submitted the proposition. Archi-tect Davis was consulted and gave his opinion that the figure was very rea-sonable. Mr. Jacobs added that the committee was not to be understood as submitting the propositon in the shape of a recommendation.

Another recommendation of the building committee also met with opman. Mr. Gibbons argued that when Mr. Jacobs' committee was considering the enlargement of buildings it should not stop at the chairman's ward, but include all buildings which are over-crowded and need alteration. "It's ridiculous," said he, "the way the children are crowded into the South Side schools, particularly Nos. 2 and 3. The children are coming upon us so fast, down there, that we can't keep track of them. I have no fault to find with that Let them come, but let us provides for them as the law directs," Mr. Jacobs explained that he did not expect to have this work done until next summer. He was simply taking time by the forelock as a precaution against contingencies arising such as in the long delayed No. 10 building in Mr. Notz's ward. Any other member who wanted to emulate his example was at liberty to do so. The recommendation was finally adopted. On the recommendation of Chairman Mitchell the question of securing an assistant to do the office work for Super intendent Howell, in order that he might be able to spend more time in visiting the schools, was referred to the teachers' committee, with power to SALARY NOT INCREASED. The sum of $1,000 was voted to the high and training school committee for the purchase of apparatus and chemicals for the high school chemical laboratory, Mr. Gibbons made a plea for a raise in the salary of Miss Sykes, principal of the training school, who now receives $1,200 per year, but the board turned a deaf ear to his entreaty. On motion of Mr. Welsh, C. B. Derman was re-engaged as vocal instructor for the public schools at a salary of $55 per month. Part of his duties will be to conduct the singing at the high to conduct the singing at the high school each morning.

A request was received from Enter-prise lodge, Patriotic Order Sons of America, and the Royal Arcanum of the West Side for permission to raise a flag over No. 16 school in the Fourteenth ward when the building is com-pleted. Mr. Jennings said the school al ready possesses a flag and that the pu ready possesses a flag and that the pupils are taking up penny collections to secure a larger one. He would be pleased, however, to have the board accept the offer of the two societies conditioned that the children themselves fail to secure enough to buy a flag.

The pay roll for the month of September amounted to $15,353.28, divided as follows: Teachers, $13,407.08; substitutes, $475.70; janitors, $1,470.50.

EMMETT A. BISHOP PLACED ON TRIAL

He Is an Old Man and Is Charged with Enticing Little Girls.

BROUGHT THEM FROM PHILADELPHIA

They Were Sisters and One of Them He Wanted for Housekeeper -- After Installing Her in His Apartments on Cedar Avenue He Unfolded His Designs .- The Case Went to the Jury at 5 O'clock.

Emmett A Bishop, charged with en-Enimett A. Bisnop, charged with en-ticing and inveigling girls under 16 years of age for immoral purposes, was put on trial yesterday in criminal court before Judge Archbald. District Attorney John R Jones conducted the case for the commonwealth and At-torney John T. Martin was Bishop's legal representative. On August 19 last Rev. P. C. Christ, pastor of St. Mary's German church on the South Side, was made acquainted with the fact that Anabella and Helen Einig, the former 15 and the latter 10 years old, of Philadelphia, and children of respectable German Catholic parents, were in the clutches of Bishop at rooms in the Miller block on Cedar avenue between River and Hickory streets. The little girls had fled to the convent of St. Mary's church for protection, and in that way Father Christ was made aware of it.

He sent for Mrs. W .B. Duggan and she took the children in charge and learned from them that Bishop went to Philadelphia, represented he was in the botel business in Scranton, and wanted a girl to do work for bim. He pro-mised good wages and was willing to take Helen, the 10 year old girl, along that Anabella might not be lonesome.
The parents of the girl are poor, and confiding in Bishop's assumed honesty of purpose they consented to let both girls go with him. He represented that he owned one of the largest brick buildof District Attorney Jones.

Bishop is 60 years old and has anything but a venerable countenance. He didn't seem to be very greatly disturbed yesterday at the very many uncomplimentary things said of him by the older of his victims and the district atternary. torney. Mr. Jones applied the term monster as expressive of the defend-ant's calibre.

Helen Einig, the younger of the two girls, was put on the stand first, but she became so hysterical that she had to be taken out of the court room be-fore she told more than an incoherent story of the case. She is a bright, pretty little girl.

Her sister, Anabella, was then put on the stand, and though she was nervous at times, she answered the questions put to her in a straightforward and convincing style. She has a good edu-cation, and was able to meet Mr. Martin's attempt to confuse her on crossexamination by more than once turn-ing the laugh on him.

STORY OF THE GIRL The story she told in a general way was that she was introduced to Bishop at the employment agency of a Mrs. Hunter, 733 Tenth street, Philadelphia, early last August. It was represented that he wanted a girl to work for him in his hotel in Scranton at good wages. She believed he was telling the truth position from Mr. Gibbons. It was one directing Architect Duckworth to prepare plans for the remodelling and attention of No. 2s building in the Thirteenth ward, represented by Mr. Jacobs, the building committee chairman, Mr. Gibbons argued the when panion, and that this inducement on panion, and that this inducement on his part resulted in making them be-lieve he was all right. They came and reached Scranton about 10.30 at night. He brought them to his rooms on Cedar avenue, and when she saw the dirty, dingy apartments he ushered them into. her expectation being raised to hoping for a comfortable and well-furnished household, she immediately made up her mind that there was something wrong. Bisnop gave them a bedgoom for themselves and did not in any way molest them from the night they ar-rived until a week, all but a day, later. Then he made improper proposals to her in the bedroom within the hearing of the other girl. She remained steadfast against his infamous proposition and herself and sister cried almost all night. The next morning the younger one went out and told her story to the sisters of St. Mary's convent, and they were rescued from the talons of the

FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGE. She could not give positive testimony as to her age, but she says her parents told her she was only 15 years old when she left home. The defense was that it was a case of an old man after a young wife, and a foolish girl. Bishop said he wanted a housekeeper and went to Philadel-phia just to see the place, but while there combined business with pleasure and went to Mrs. Hunter's place. She told him she had some one she could recommend to suit him and made an appointment with him to call around the next day. He did so and met the Einig girl.

While they were talking over the terms, etc., he mentioned the fact that if he got a nice person for housekeeper might marry her after awhile. The girl said she was satisfied to marry if he was rich, as he represented, and when he urged her to weigh well the fact that he was an old man and she a young girl. That didn't matter, she

Bishop said his occupation is that of carriage maker in the employ of Oscar Helreigel, of Cedar avenue, and he pro-fessed only the most honorable inten-tion in bringing the Einig girls to his parlors. District Attorney Jones was ready for him. He had a bundle of letters found in Bishop's apartments when he was arrested showing that he has been industriously engaged in the business of getting housekepeers

MR. MARTIN'S ARGUMENT. Mr. Martin argued to the jury that the girl was not so innocent as the commonwealth strove to paint. Mr. Jones in his argument said that the English language does not contain epithets black enough to apply to Bishop's base-ness. He said he had read of hardened criminals, who would hesitate at scarcely no crime, but it was only an exceptional one of them that would hurt a child. The public will approve a verdict of guilty, he said, and when the jurors go home they can look their families in the force and can the beautiful or the said. families in the face and say they have done a service for the home and the community and the honor and virtue of young girls and children of a tender age, that this crime shall not go un-punished.

Judge Archbald finished his charge at 5 o'clock, and the jury retired, and later in the evening agreed upon a verdict which was sealed and will be handed nto court this morning. THEY WERE DEAR CHICKENS.

William Wall, indicted for larcent

william wall, indicted for larceny and receiving, thought it would be bet-ter to acknowledge his guilt and throw himself on the mercy of the court. He stole six chickens from Louis B. Ayers, of Schultzville, and Judge Archbald sentenced him to spend nine months in the county tall. the county jail.

The first case tried was that of the commonwealth against Margaret Ann Schoonover, charged with malicious mischief, Mrs. Catherine A. Richardson being the prosecutor. The defendant had no one to defend her and the court assigned Attorney James J. O'Malley to perform that task. Mr. O'Malley succeeded in getting her acquitted and two-thirds of the costs were placed on Mrs. Richardson.

In the case against "Bob" Davis, in which he was charged with carrying concealed weapons and pointing a pistol, yerdicts of not guilty were taken
