WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Old Faction of Franklin Company Are in Control—Members Proposed by the Young Faction Not Admitted.

By the result of last evening's meeting of the Franklin company the young faction are virtually no more, and the old faction is supreme. At the preceding meeting the young faction proposed eight new names. The names were given over to a committee with power to recommend or reject. The committee last night reported unfavorably to the admission of the men. Their given reason was that the company could not stand the expense of furnishing uniforms for any more new members.

That settled it. The new names were given over to a committee with power to recommend or reject. The committee last night reported unfavorably to the admission of the men. Their given reason was that the company could not stand the expense of furnishing uniforms for any more new members.

The names which were rejected last night are: Michael McLoon, John McLoon, John J. Gaffney, William T. Sprad, the permanent man, John Drott, Milton Workman, Richard W. Smith and George Sample. The action of the company at last night's meeting virtually ends the fight with the old faction as the victors.

FUNERAL OF LEO NEALIS.

In respect to Common Councilman P. J. Nealis, of the Fourth-ward, many prominent city officials attended the funeral yesterday afternoon at Leo, a 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nealis who died Sunday. The assemblage was held at the family home on Jackson street. Among the floral offerings, which were very beautiful, were an orb of flowers on a pedestal and marked in blue script "Our Boy Leo." Marie and Joseph O'Connor, play-actors, gave a floral pillow, "Stars" were the gifts of Nellie McCann and Anna Hanaway; the former also gave a casket bouquet; Miss Anna Davis gave a "star." The flower bearers were Joseph O'Connor, George Bowers, Thomas Conlin and Arthur McHale; the pall-bearers, James Burke, Frank Egan, James Stanton and Thomas Dordis. Interment, under the direction of M. F. Wynias, was made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.

ROBBING CLOTHES LINES.

Clothes line thieves made a big swoop on this side during the early hours of yesterday morning, at least four lines having been robbed of their wealth. The places visited were William York's, Jackson street; J. S. Gallagher, Jackson street; David Davis, Jackson street, and a family on West-burn street, name unknown. At each of the places visited only the more valuable clothing was taken, the common garments remaining on the line. The damage can not clearly be estimated. No clue is at hand. There was a heavy and continuous rain fall during all the night. This made the attack unexpected at the house where little dreamed when the rain in the afternoon drenched Monday's regular wash that it would be dangerous to leave the clothes on the line over night. It seems that at least four persons thought the same way about it.

F. Bonner. Rosie Rendel is a "transformer" in the "Parian" equilibrium who sets at naught the ideas of surgeons and the laws of anatomy. Comedy, refined comedy, is safely vested in the hands and brains of the "Nawns."

Next Saturday brings to the Frothingham what is everywhere considered as the best "Uncle Tom's Cabin" organization in existence in the appearance of a matinee and evening performance of Stowe's mammoth double company—39 colored, and 20 white. A special matinee will be given, the price of best reserved seats being 25 cents, while children will be admitted for 15 cents.

The Rev. F. I. Bell, a highly esteemed minister residing in Westport, Cayuga Co., N. ## DAMAGE AT COURT HOUSE

Rain Found Its Way Through the False Roof—Havoc the Downpour Wrought in Other Places.

About the only serious damage that has so far resulted from the remarkably steady and long continued rain storm which we are experiencing was to the court house. The first frost laid to protect the lower floors, while work on the top story is in progress, failed to properly do its work and Monday night the water worked its way into the interior and drenched several of the offices.

The law library sustained the greatest damage. The books had been removed to the old library quarters opposite Judge Archibald's chamber. The water came through at this point in a greater volume than anywhere else. The books on the top shelf and those arranged on the floor were thoroughly drenched and the binding on many of them was ruined. The county commissioners' office and City Treasurer Schacht's both but popular damage from the water. In the latter office, poll books and various papers and documents became soaked and pictures that hung on the wall were destroyed.

The fact that four inches of rain had fallen up to last night and that no floods are reported from the flats in the northern and southern portions of the city is explained by the fact that the downpour while continuous, was at no time heavy and consequently the channels were not overtaxed.

The School Commission yesterday afternoon that if the rain continues for another twenty-four hours that there will be a serious case of water in the city, and the rivers are actually rising all the time and must overflow if there is not a cessation within the time mentioned.

The rain did not great damage on the West Side. Water flooded the basement of the new No. 13 school on Bellevue Heights, making it necessary to close the school during yesterday. The water was several feet deep and extinguished the fires in the furnaces, and as the day was of a drizzling coldness, the building was like an unheated association at Lafayette street and workmen were engaged in pumping out the water, and by nightfall the janitor was able to reach the furnace. School was closed for the day.
