building.
The church was built fifteen years ago by Rev. John Loughran, pastor of St. Joseph's parish, Minooka. A year ago the parish of Rendham was formed and Rev. J. F. Jordan was made paster of it. He set out to build a new church and secured a site farther down the road, more in the center of the parish. The corner stone was laid a few Sundays ago. The old church was used until the new one would be ready for occupancy. Father Jordan expects to have the basement of the new one fitted up for mass next Sunday.

The cost of erecting and finishing the burned church was $3,000. It was in-sured for $1,500 in the agency of C. G. Boland & Co. Father Jordan's vest ments were destroyed.

and found guilty of feloniously wound ing Dr. J. R. Newton, but the jury recommended him to the mercy of the court. He will be sentenced Saturday. Greaves has been in jail the greater part of the time since March 28 last the night of the shooting. He fired two shots at the doctor and they took effect in the right shoulder. In a few days he was out of danger, as the wounds were not serious ones. The would-be murderer was caught by Patcalman Sant and was in full for by Patrolman Saul and was in jail for by Patrolman Saul and was in juli for several weeks until Michael Gibbons, of Minooka, bailed him out. After awhile Mr. Gibbons surrendered him, and then William Stelle went his bail. but also surrendered him in a few

STORY OF THE SHOOTING.

The evidence on the part of the com-nonwealth was that Dr. Newton and Greaves, who is a tailor, had rooms on the second floor on the corner of Pennavenue and Spruce streat. The door of the doctor's office was directly opnosite the tailor shop, and complaints were made by the doctor's patients that Greaves was in the habit of carrying beer into the building and getting intoxicated very frequently.

As some of the doctor's patients stopped coming to his office because they did not want to run up against the tailor with his beer pail, the doctor complained to the landlord, who order-ed the tailor either to quit the building or change his habits. He decided to get another place, but he called at the doctor's office to quarrel before leaving, and as he was intexicated he did not find the doctor ready to hold any conversation with him. As the dector was moving away Greaves fired two shots

Dr. H. D. Gardner, who attended Dr. Newton at the Lackawanna hospital, testified that the wounds were not dangerous ones. The bullets entered the shoulder, where they are now imbedded. giving their bearer no trouble whatso-

The defense was weak. It was to th effect that the tailor was being pursued by the doctor and the former picked up a revolver that had been taken from a suit of clothes brought to the shop to be cleaned, and that he just pointed the weapon to scare the doctor and de-ter him from laying hands on him, and that in the excitement the pistol, which was a self-acting one, exploded.

JURORS WERE SYMPATHETIC. District Attorney Jones didn't leave much of the story together when he got through cross-examining Greaves. The charge of Judge Archbald was finished at noon and the jury retired but did not bring in a verdict until nearly adjourning time in the afternoon. Some of the jurors were inclined through sympathy for the defendant's wife and two young children to acquit him, considering that he has been a long time in jail now, and the doctor is all right again. George Traub, the 19-year-old West Side youth who confessed having stolen a watch from W. H. Wright's jewelry store, was called up for sen-tence and Judge Archbald handed down an order sending Traub to the Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon for three years.

Mary Mehalko, of Priceburg, was tried for assault and battery on a public officer and obstructing the execu-tion of a legal process. She was de-fended by Judge Stanton and the commonwealth was represented by District Attorney Jones, assisted by Attorney Charles E. Olver. Henry Dierks was the prosecutor. He had a warrant for a man in the house where Urs. Me-halko lived, and when he went to serve it he claims that she interfered with the arrest and assaulted him. The jury was out deliberating upon a verdiet at adjournment.

BROKE A WINDOW. John R. Thomas, of Olyphant, was called to answer the charge of break-ing a window in the front of a building owned by A. Schultz, a clothier. Thomas was represented by Attorney John T. Martin. Schultz was put on the stand, and after he told that the window was in his clothing store that was dow was in his clothing store that was an end to the case.

This was a peculiar case. Thomas was caught in the act of smashing in the window with a stone, and he was arrested then and there; but as long as it was not a dwelling house be could not be prosecuted in a criminal way. The law of Pennsylvania makes it necessary that a building must be a dwelling house before any damage done in the way of malicious mischief can be set up as a criminal offense. If a person takes a notion to go down Lackawanna avenue and send a cobblestone through one of the windows . any of the business places along it, he is only responsible for civil damages When the indictment was drawn up Schultz told the district attorney he was living in the house. Daniel Farrell, of Throop, was put Daniel Fairett, of Throop, was put on trial for stealing scese from Cath-erine Kallata. Mr. Jones represented the commonwealth, and Attorney M. J. Walsh the defendant. There was not enough of evidence to convict and a verdict of not guilty was directed.

QUESTION OF VERACITY. Frederick M. Decker, of the West Side, was tried for assault and battery on Thomas Phillips, Mr. Jones was for the commonwealth and Attorney George S. Horn for the defendant. Decker's father and Phillips occupy the same building, the former as a blacksmith, and the latter as a wheelblacksmith, and the latter as a wheel-wright. A farmer from the back road came in one day and had some repairs made on his wagon. Philips charged a dollar for the part of the work he did and that brought on a dispute be-tween him and young Decker. He said the result of it was that Decker struck him a hard blow in the face. Two witnesses called by the prosecu-tor swore they did not see Decker

WORE THE STOLEN CLOTHES.

This Led to an Explanation of Mysterious Burglary.

Sunday night the residence of A. Bartoni, the coubler, near the county jail, was entered and despoiled of a trunk full of clothing, consisting of a suit of clothes, several shirts and a quantity of underwear. How the burgiar secured entrance was not known until yesterday when the thief was dis-covered and the mystery explained. Living on Larch street, near the jail. and consequently in the neighborhood of Bartoni's house is one William Palmer, a youth who on several occasions has spent terms of greater or lesser length in the county jail, and who was released only a few weeks ago when the grand jury failed to indict him on a charge of beating his mother. Tues-day Palmer was seen wearing a whole new outfit and the neighbors, putting this, the burglary at Bartoni's and Pal-mer's reputation together, came to the conclusion that an investigation was in order.

The investigation was made and as

TODAY'S TALK IS OF JEWELRY

Jewelry manufacturers have felt the recent depression in busi ness more keenly than almost any other line. To keep factories running that make luxuries has been doubly hard when those who manufacture necessities have been obliged to shut down. The recent pressure has forced to the wall one of the largest jobbing houses in the world, S. F. Myers & Co., of New York. Large orders which they had placed with leading manufacturers could not be shipped owing to their sudden assignment. We have been fortunate in securing some of these goods at prices that do not seem to cover the cost of making and prove the power of cash buying in quantity. Here are some of the articles and prices. We leave you to judge whether they are cheap or not:

SILVER CHATELAINE WATCHES

Solid silver cases. Movements have from 7 to 15 jewels; not all the same—some are better than others-hence first come best served. There's not a watch in the lot that's not worth $5,00, but for two days we will sell them for $1.98.

SOLID GOLD CUFF BUTTONS

The latest in link cuff buttons. Solid gold at the price of the plated ones. It's a question in our minds whether they wouldn't bring more melted up and sold for old gold. Cheap they certainty are, and $5.00, the regular price, but yours for two days for only one dollar and ninety-eight cents - 81.98. Warranted solid gold.

BABY RINGS

If the making alone is not worth more than we ask we will never make rings for a living. How a ring can be made to sell for 25c. is in itself a wonder and a tribute to Yankee ingenuity. What then must you think when we offer you a good ring for a dime-10c for a ring for baby.

FOUNTAIN PENS

Paul E. Wirt's name on a fountain pen stands for all that is excellent in pen making. What's more unsatisfactory than an unsatisfactory pen? You of experience in using fountain pens know there is only one "best," the Wirt; know, too, that the regular price is $2 50. Does'nt it convince you that this is the place to trade when we tell you that we sell them for $1.48 now and all the time.

LADIES' GOLD PENS

When you're buying a gold pen for a lady you naturally want something dainty, and if money is any object to you you you want to get it as reasonable as possible. Now the daintiest thing in ladies' gold pens is a good 14k, pen in a nice pearl holder. But these have always sold for from $2 to $2.50. How much better to buy one of these of us at 98c. Only a limited quantity at this more than limited price-one you may never get

SILVER THIMBLES

We bought two gross of them. Placed one gross on sale last week intending to save the other gross for a higher price, but the people take naturally to bargains and we were obliged to disappoint a number of patrons. So today we let the last of them go at the same price, 10c. Don't think they're not solid silver because the price seems unreasonable. Every one is guaranteed absolutely solid silver; 144 is all that's left and 10c is the price while they last.

SOLID GOLD SCARF PINS

Set with genuine stones. Sear pins, such as usually bring from $2 to $2.50. Turned into money now they bring us quickly back the cash we were obliged to pay for them, and help establish our reputation for always underselling. Choice for 89c.

LADIES' SILK GUARD CHAINS

When silk guard chains, with sterling silver and good rolled plate slides and swivels, sold for 50 and 75 cents nobody wondered. It's not wonderfal now if they do wonder since we place on sale today 500 of these goods at a hitherto unheard-of price, 25c. Dozens of patterns to select from and your choice for a quarter, 25c.
