The death of William Jenkins oc-curred yesterday morning at Shamokin, where he and his newly wedded wife had gone on a honey moon visit. CHARGE AGAINST Z. C. SMITH. A warrant which Alderman Moses yesterday placed in the hands of Constable Burchell for the arrest of Z. C. Smith, who lives at 1308 Sadie place, charges Smith with larceny of the furniture of Mrs. Elizabeth Mill. It seems that several months ago Smith's home on Van Buren avenue burned to the on van Buren avenue burnen to the ground and with it went all his household goods. Mrs. Mill heard of his trouble. "Here," she said to Mr. Smith, "you have no furniture; my husband and I are going to visit friends out of town and our house which we rent at 1308 Sadie place will be empty for a few months. Why not use our furniture during our absence; why not live in our house?" Mr. Smith accepted the proposition and he and his family were soon enjoying the comforts of Mrs. Mill's home. He liked the place so well that he purchased the house and when Mrs. Mill came home from her visit Mr. Smith refused to give up the furniture. At least that is her state-ment. Now she is suing for the house-hold goods and the constable is after What his explanation of the transaction is will be made known when he appears at the hearing before

Flynn entered the Windsor about 8 o'clock in an intoxicated condition, and had some trouble with the bartender to whom he applied a vile name. There are conflicting stories as to just what occurred after that, but at all events McNamara hit Flynn two blows with a bottle. One on the back of the head, fracturing the skull, and the other inflicting a terrible cut across the forehead, an inch above the eyes. The latter wound bled profusely.

Dr. Burnett was summoned by Proprietor Brock, of the Windsor, to dress the wounds, but Flynn was acting like a maniac, and refused to receive any attention. He was removed to the police station, where he became subdued

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY

Judiciary Committee of Councils Considers the Best Method of Disposing of Them.

Three months ago councils passed a resolution directing the judiciary committee to examine such claims as may be pending against the city for damages caused by grading and sewering, and report to councils what would in their estimation be a fair basis of settlement in each case. The immensity

Last night, however, the committee held a meeting and gave the subject lengthy and thoughtful consideration. There were present Selectmen Lansing, Ross, Chittenden, Roche and Common-ers Moir, Zeidler and Gilroy. The committee had before it two statements of the damage claims, one submitted by City Solicitor Torrey, sanother by Ira H. Burns, attorney for all, or nearly all, of the plaintiffs. Mr. Torrey's statement, submitted in April, was as

Mr. Burns' statement of the cases Mr. Burns' statement of the cases against the city which he was prosecuting amounted to $28,000. solicitor. Messrs. Roche and Gliroy be-lieved in following out the full direc-tions of the resolutions.

The firmly rooted belief held by near-ly all of the committee that a vast majority of the claims are undeserving majority of the claims are undeserving of any consideration whatever, set them against any compromise proposition, which to their minds, would permit the bad claims, or at least a great number of them, to receive favorable consideration with the good ones, or in other words, the whole batch would be liable to be railroaded through without any sifting. Another reason for their opposition to the compromise proposition was that it meant an immediate settlement, and as a delay would have a tendency to discourage what Mr. Chittenden was pleased to term "these hold ups," undue haste was to be avoided at all events.

Mr. Chittenden cited the case of New to be avoided at all events.

Mr. Chittenden cited the case of New street, where the viewers had awarded $2,800 damages on a grading job that cost only $175. Mr. Gilroy, one of the New street claimants, explained that the job was done so cheaply because the filling was secured free of cost from the Asphalt company, which at that time was engaged in cutting at that time was engaged in cutting down a knoll in front of the old cem-etery on Capouse avenue. Mr. Lansing contended that at all events New street properties had been benefited more than they had been damaged by reason of the grading, but Mr. Gilroy would not admit this by any means.

It was finally decided to refer the matter to the city solicitor with instructions to report to councils a full list of the claims with his opinion on each of them. Mr. Roche wanted to have the solicitor instructed to report to the committee that it might pass to the committee that it might pass upon them, but the majority favored the other motion and the report of the solicitor will consequently go to coun-cils. This defeats the compromise proposition for a time at least.
