BOY BRYAN BEGINS BEFORE BREAKFAST

In the Broken Light of Day His First Speech is Delivered.

THE BRASS BAND IN EVIDENCE

Ovations Tendered Along the Line. The Money Lender of Benton Harbor Receives a Lashing from the Speaker--A Course of Action That Makes Republican Votes.

Bangor, Mich., Oct. 16.—As on yesterday William J. Bryan began his speech-making before breakfast this morning, but it was in the broken light of 7 o'clock, and not in the first peep of the day that the nominee addressed his first audience. His train lay all night in Gravel siding, seven miles from Grand Rapids, and began its journeyings again at 6. Muskegon, reached an hour later, was not in the regular itinerary, but a detour to that place was made at the request of people there. The members of Mr. Bryan's audience, 2,000 in number, gave him some very hearty cheers and heard a short speech about the silver question. Mr. Bryan found another big crowd at Holland, where his train arrived at 8 o'clock. Like Muskegon the little town had out a brass band. Mr. Bryan made another speech, and at Fenville he talked again.

The raw atmosphere of the morning had become more intense in its rawness when Mr. Bryan got off his special train at Bangor to talk to about 1,500 people here. A five minute stop was made.

Arriving at Hartford at 9.10 Mr. Bryan found an enthusiastic audience. A banner overhead attracted his notice, and indicating it, he said: "My friends, I like your motto, 'Free silver and financial independence.'" There can be no financial independence until the American people can recognize their own ability to attend to their own business without interference or without the consent of any other nation on earth. When I tell you that we must legislate for ourselves I am not appealing to any mock sentiment. In our society the family is the unit, and the family must be self-supporting. In the sisterhood of nations the nation is the unit and the nation must legislate for itself. If the creditor nations of the world have a right to use their influence to make money dear because they collect money from us, have we not a right to use our influence to stop it and protect our people from the robbery that has been practiced?

DELIGHTED SCHOOL MISTRESS.

When the Bryan special pulled away from Watervliet at 9.35 after a five-minute stop, it left behind it a delighted young school mistress and her flock of pupils. The train stopped near the school house and teacher and youngsters came rushing out to see the nominee, Mrs. Bryan noticed the groups and sent a big bouquet of flowers to the teacher and the audience of several hundred people, addressed by Mr. Bryan there, did not cheer louder as the train resumed its journey than the boys and girls from the school house.

A score of people only were at St. Joe when the special arrived there. Some boy said that the whole town had gone over to Benton Harbor to hear Mr. Bryan there, so the train pulled out again, after a stop of a minute.

Five thousand people had gathered in front of the hotel Benton at Benton Harbor to hear Mr. Bryan deliver a fifteen minute speech. His train reached Benton Harbor at 10.20 a. m., and started for Niles at 10.40. His audience was enthusiastic and the cheering was hearty and prolonged when S. Jarvis, candidate for congress, presented him. The text of Mr. Bryan's speech was a paragraph in a local paper quoting "a leading man" of the town as saying: "If silver wins this fall it will be one of the greatest disasters that ever befell the farmers. I have had for over ten years nearly $20,000 loaned in this county to farmers. In many instances payments have been met, but for a few years, I have been compelled to extend the time, and I am willing to do so under the financial basis, but if silver wins this fall I will do what every other man will do with his money out—demand immediate payment. I admit I may lose some of the interest, but I have at least three years to save myself and during that time, I will close in every mortgage I have."

MONEY-LENDER DENOUNCED.

Said Mr. Bryan:

My friends, I want to denounce the money lender who attempts to use his mortgages to influence American voters and I want to say that man does not deserve to live in the United States and enjoy its liberty.

I want you to understand that those men, knowing that they cannot appeal to reason, attempt to appeal to force; these men, knowing that their arguments do not appeal to judgment, attempt to appeal to the fears of men. In this campaign, my friends, we have arrayed against us an enemy of society, and every man who seeks to make slaves of those with whom he deals. I am glad they are not on our side. I am glad I have not the support of a man who intends to foreclose his mortgages if men do not vote as he wants them to. (Applause.) I would rather remain a humble private citizen than to hold the most exalted office in this land, if I had to receive my commission from men who know as little about the genius of our institutions as the money lender whose language I have quoted. (Applause.)

My friends, this clipping was sent to me by a man who had always been a Republican, a man who owed a mortgage of $1,000 on a farm which used to be worth $3,000 and worked in his letter that under the gold standard he expected to have to give up his farm because under a gold standard farmers cannot pay their mortgages and simply have to lose what they have invested and turn their land over to the man who loans his money and uses his mortgage to intimidate American citizens. I say I received this clipping from a Republican, and, my friends, it is this attempt of the moneyed aristocracy that is driving those men out of the Republican party to join with us in restoring the money of the constitution and put this government back to hands of the people where it belongs. (Cheers.)

BRYAN QUOTES BYNUM.

There were large crowds at Niles and Dowagiac. At the latter place Congressman Bynum was to speak later in the day, and Mr. Bryan took occasion to quote an utterance of his and make some comments on it. Here is what he said:

It is because of the shrinkage of value as well as the detriment of labor that I raise my voice and utter a protest against a crusade that has been in the past so successfully waged in behalf of the moneyed interests to the utter and most complete destruction of the welfare of the people. The people of the west have been paying an exorbitant interest into the east until they are impoverished. They are energetic, laborious and patriotic. During the days when the nation's body was bleeding from a hundred wounds and its life trembling in the balance, they poured out their richest blows and treasure that it might be saved.

Mr. Bryan has this to say in comment:

Those words were true then and they are true today. The people are as laborious and energetic now as they were when Mr. Bynum described them and they are suffering today as they suffered then and all they ask of the government now is what they asked then—that it will not raise its arm and strike them down with one blow to want and beggary; and yet when they ask for this they are called a mob. I want you to understand that those who are today for sme reason, which they may be able t explain, changed in their position change the truth which they spoke then.

Mr. Bryan spoke briefly at Decatur and Lawton.

KALAMAZOO RED HOT.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 16.—Kalamazoo was red hot with Bryan enthusiasm when the Democratic candidate arrived. Ten thousand people thronged Bronson Park to hear him speak and they expressed their partisan feelings up to the limit of their lung power. Mr. Bryan, in the course of his remarks took a shot at Chairman Lauterbach, of the New York county Republican committee.

The Republican, he remarked, says that you must submit to a gold standard, not one year nor for four years, but forever, if foreign creditors say that you must do it. Against this policy I rebel, my friends. (Cheers.) Against surrendering the rights of suffrage to a foreign government, I enter my earnest protest. I am willing to submit to any decision of the American people. I am not like a prominent Republican of New York city who said the people may not be willing to submit. I say the American people will submit to whatever majority of the American people decide. (Cheers.)

Another great assemblage was at Battle Creek awaiting the Nebraska candidate. It appeared to be fully as large as that at Kalamazoo. The brief speech Mr. Bryan made from a stand near the Michigan Central station was well received. It contained no new material. If the platform from which Mr. Bryan spoke at Albion to about 2,000, had not been so low, a serious accident might have occurred. Mr. Todd introduced the candidate, and the latter was in the midst of a speech when the frail stand from which he was speaking collapsed carrying with it Mr. Bryan and two score of others. The crowd had hardly time to know what had occurred before it saw the nominee pick himself up and jump on a truck to continue. Nobody was hurt. Mrs. Bryan, who usually sits on the platforms while her husband is speaking, fortunately remained on the train at Albion.

BIG BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Increased European Demands for Wheat Are Sure to Bring Good Results---Imports Decreasing.

New York, Oct. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co. will say tomorrow in their Weekly Review of Trade:

Gold commands a small premium. The most powerful force in business at present is a conservative timidity, and the foreign bankers who have been offering for a small percentage to ensure people against a premium on gold until December, have made an early and sure profit out of prevalent apprehensions. From Kansas, Nebraska and other states where the silver agitation is said to be strong, come orders by many bankers and business men to get them gold at a small premium and there has also been some demand for hoarding from individuals in other states who are afraid over their own best judgment.

The one commercial changes which more than any other, ensures better business in the near future, is the excess of merchandise exports over imports.

In two weeks of October the exports from New York have increased 30.6 per cent, against 31.2 in September, while imports have decreased 24 per cent, against 35.2 in September. Continued shipments of gold from Europe, not including $4,000,000 from Austria now amounts to $59,250,000 since the movement began, of which $52,250,000 has already arrived and have not been arrested by measures taken by the great European banks.

The heavy movement of grain is the corner stone. After an increase of 5,923,675 in exports of breadstuffs in September, there have been shipped the past week from Atlantic ports alone 2,134,774 bushels, flour included, and 4,203,845 in two weeks of October against 3,510,217 bushels last year. A more important fact is that all available grain freights have been engaged for months ahead here and on the Pacific coast.

The minister of agriculture in India stated in council on Thursday that distress was expected in a large part of India as the result of drought. A high official of Russia, now in this country, confirms accounts of shortness in the Russian yield. Thus estimates that Europe will fall 100,000,000 bushels short of last year in supply of wheat are strongly supported, and while department estimates of yield in this country are not credited, there is every reason to expect a remarkable foreign demand. Wheat has advanced 4½ cents for the week.

Confidence as to the future makes trouble in sime industries because speculation in materials raises prices so that demand for finished products is checked.

Boot and shoe makers get very narrow orders at old prices, or at an advance less than 1 per cent. Difficulties threaten on the iron manufacture, for pig is higher, bessemer at 1150, and grey forge at 975, while plates, angles and beams are weaker and various combinations hold prices only by leaving outside competitors to take them as far as they can. Steel bars are largely sold at 1 cent, while 1.2 is demanded for iron; all the nails that outsiders can produce are sold at less than the association asks; billets are still sold for less than the pool price and its shipments in September aggregated only 36,000 tons, mainly of sheet and tin plate bars; the demand for rails is growing small.

Wool is stronger, with continued speculative buying, and sales at eastern markets have been 14,536,300 pounds for two weeks, against 21,209,700 last year and 13,702,800 in 1892, but consigned wool has been mostly withdrawn until after the election.

The cotton manufacturers have also started more spindles, but the demand for goods scarcely increases, and print cloths sell at 2.56 cents.

Failures for the week have been 328 in the United States against 263 last year, and 40 in Canada against 46 last year.

WRANGLE OVER THE TICKET.

New York State Populists Wish to Vote for Sewall for Vice President.

New York, Oct. 16.—Lawrence J. McParlan, of Locport, today caled upon Secretary of State Palmer. Mr. McParlan was secretary of the last Populist state convention and is the candidate for judge of the court of appeals. The secretary of the state has already prepared for distribution the sample blanket ballot. The People's party ballot is headed with the names of William J. Bryan for president, and Thomas E. Watson for vice-president. The Populist state convention held in the city of Syracuse on October 2, endorsed Arthur Sewall, the Democratic candidate for vice-president, instead of Mr. Watson.

Mr. McParlan wished the secretary of state to substitute the name of Mr. Sewall for Watson at the head of the Populist column as the candidate for vice-president.

The secretary of state told Mr. McParlan that the Populist national convention has nominated Bryan and Watson, and that under the election law of this state, these names were to be placed at the head of the party columns on the ballot used in that state. The secretary said he could not recognize the endorsement of Sewall by the Populist's state convention, but that the action of the national convention of the Populist party was binding upon him as regarded the names which shall head the Populist column.

CONJUGATION.

"I love, you love, he loves,"
Ceaseless the charmed words say.
For know you what such loving proves?
God rules the world that way.

"We love, ye love, they love,"
O, concentrated powers,
By which we may the mountains move
And make the kingdom ours!

Anne L. Mussey.

MARKETS AND STOCKS

Wall Street Review.

New York, Oct. 16.—Business at the Stock Exchange today was extremely light, the sales amounting to oply 105,156 shares. At the opening the tendency was downward. The early weakness in the general lists soon gave way to strength, but the advance failed to stimulate trading. The most favorable developments of the day was the engagement of over three millions gold in London for shipment to New York. The arrivals were also heavy, aggregating $1,652,500. A brisk demand prevailed for the metal, and local bullion dealers raised their commissions slightly. Imports are likely to continue as long as the metal commands a premium here and money rules stiff. The failure of the market to respond to the gold importations is due to the fact that certain commission houses are discouraged pending the national election. The dearness of money also operates against a broad speculation on the bull side of the account. In consequence the fluctuations in the Grangers, Southwesterns, Anthracite and Western Union were confined to narrow limits. Speculation closed barely steady. Net changes show advances of ⅛a¾ per cent. In the specialties Consolidated Gas declined 2½; Flint and Pere Marquette perferred brought 34 against 40 the last reported sale for full lots.
