SCHANK & SPENCER 410 SPRUCE STREET.

THE COSTS WERE PLACED ON KENNEDY

Jury Did Not Believe That He Had Been Assaulted.

OTHER VERSION OF THE AFFAIR

It Was to the Effect That Kennedy Had a Pocket Book Which Did Not Belong to Him--A Case That is Surrounded by a Halo of Romance. Murray Entered a Plea of Guilty. Heinsman Returned Not Guilty.

The first week of October term of criminal court was finished yesterday, with the exception of one verdict, which will be taken this morning.

Joseph Murray, who was on next week's list charged with statutory forgery, confessed his guilt yesterday and was sentenced to spend nine months in the county jail.

George Harris, of Hyde Park, was returned not guilty of stealing 2,000 feet of lumber, the property of David B. Nichols, and the jury in the case wherein James Sheridan, of Bellevue, a 16-year-old boy, was charged with striking Jacob Pitt, a Hyattsville resident, with a stone, brought in a verdict of not guilty and put the costs on the county.

Daniel Heinsman, of Green Ridge, was tried for pointing a pistol at C. H. Miller. Mr. Jones represented the commonwealth and attorney George S. Horn the defendant. Heinsman was charged with pointing a pistol at Miller in a dispute they had, leveled a revolver at his head. Heinsman said Miller was calling him vile names and he did it to check him. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and made an equal division of the costs.

POINTING A PISTOL.

Constable Max Koehler, of Pileburg, was tried for pointing a pistol at Mrs. Charlotte Marsden, of the same place. She alleged that Max came to her house on April 3 last, and wanted to take one of her boarders, Jeff Ringdorf, out to identify a cow. She objected because Max was under the influence of liquor and Ringdorf was an old man and was not feeling well. He denied that he had a revolver with him that night and that he was intoxicated. The jury returned him not guilty, but directed him to pay the costs.

Peter Patrick, Stephen Youropaw and Michael Scarp, three Polish gentlemen from "Conental," were placed on trial charged with assault and battery on James Kennedy, who at one time was a constable in the city. The first named man was charged with the assault and battery, and the other two were charged with aiding and abetting.

Kennedy alleged that the trio gave him a drubbing, but the jury believed their story, acquitted them and put the costs on him. What they say is that they were in a saloon at the corner of Lackawanna and Court streets, and that they saw Kennedy with a pocketbook, and they went over to him and took it. Kennedy said he had a pocketbook, but he put it in a pocket with a hole in it, and on the way out, he saw the pocketbook on the steps and picked it up.

KENNEDY CLAIMED IT.

Kennedy was standing close by and he claimed the purse. Scarp was ten or twenty feet away, and he had not discovered his loss, and Youropaw thought it belonged to Kennedy and gave it to him. After they went a few hundred yards, Scarp felt the pocketbook, and they came back immediately to find Kennedy. The latter ran to the street, and his hat blew off, and when he came back to get it, Scarp had it. He struck Scarp in the breast, and they held on to him to make him produce the pocketbook, but he wriggled away some how, and has not returned the pocketbook. He swore that he had a pocketbook, but he had not, in order to throw the cloak over his own act, and they claimed that if everybody had his due Kennedy would be held to answer a charge of larceny instead of posing as a prosecutor against them.

Victor M. Williams was tried for assault and battery on Evan R. Jones. Attorney John J. Murphy represented the commonwealth with District Attorney Jones and Attorney Nathan Vidaver appeared for the defendant. There is somewhat of a romance connected with the case. Williams is a young man, and at one time was an ardent suitor for the hand of Jones' daughter. He was a frequent caller at the house, and was looked upon with favor.

One Sunday evening the young lady had the parlor laid out for her lover. She waited and waited and he came not. This, of course, made her suspicious, but she thought she must have been prevented from coming by some incident, not his own fault. She was mistaken. He stayed away purposely, and stayed away altogether.

WANTED AN EXPLANATION.

After a while the neighbors, as all good neighbors will, began to gossip about the abrupt termination of what they had taken for granted was going to be a marriage. The young lady's father decided to meet Williams and find out what was the cause of the change. By appointment they met one afternoon at the air shaft on Washburn street, and scarcely had begun to talk the matter over when a fight arose between them.

The old man claimed that Williams attacked him with his fists and struck him several blows in the face, and was prevented from committing an aggravated assault by the interference of some men who happened on the scene. Williams claimed that Jones raised his dinner bucket and struck him, and that any blows he gave in return were administered in self defense. The story of how the match was broken off did not come out in the evidence. The jury returned a verdict at adjournment and Judge Edwards will preside over quarter sessions next week. Those convicted and awaiting sentence will receive their allotment of justice today.

NEWLY PAVED STREET SINKING.

Large Area Near Robinson's Brewery Has Settled Four Feet.

The southerly half of Sweetland street, alongside and extending the whole length of Robinson's brewery, is settling and sinking. Yesterday the surface had gone down as much as four feet in some places, and at no point in the disturbed area is the depression less than a foot.

Street Commissioner Kinley, after a thorough investigation, arrived at the conclusion that the disturbance is due to the settling of the earth over a sewer laid there some three or four years ago. The filling, he says, was probably not packed properly, and the weight of the stone pavement just laid has crushed it down. The sewer, it is felt, is working all right, indicating that it has not been broken.

AS TO NON-RESIDENTS.

Street Commissioner Says He Has Never Employed Any.

Mayor Bailey Thursday signed a resolution of councils directing the street commissioner to discharge all non-resident employees of the city. A copy of the measure was yesterday delivered to Mr. Kinley. He was very much at a loss to know how to obey its mandate, he said, as he has never and does not now employ non-residents.

BOOTH TUCKER HERE.

Delivered an Address in the Elm Park Church Last Night--Spoke Encouraging Words.

Booth Tucker, of New York, who succeeded Ballington Booth as leader of the Salvation Army in this country, when the latter instituted the American Volunteers, paid his first visit to Scranton last night and addressed a large audience at Elm Park church. His wife was expected with him but a sudden attack of illness prevented her from coming. He was accompanied by Brigadier Thomas, of Philadelphia.

Commander Tucker arrived from Philadelphia early in the afternoon and was met at the station by a reception committee of Salvationists from the West Side. The band attached to the barracks in Wilkes-Barre arrived later in the afternoon from that city and proceeded to the West Side. In the evening at 7:30 a parade was formed at the barracks on South Main avenue, and led by the band a large assembly marched as an escort to Commander Tucker to Elm Park church.

After a short devotional service at the church the commander began his address to the Salvationists in this city. He said that when he was in India, the people there used to ask him what was the difference between their religion and the religion of the West. He used to say that their religion taught them that they would go to heaven when they died, and he taught him the same. "What then was the difference?" His answer to them was that their religion taught them that they would reach heaven when they died, but his enabled him to enjoy the spiritual delights of heaven by serving God in this life and he, the commander, was the one of not needing to wait until he died.

He urged upon all to serve God in this life and they would experience the joys of heaven. He said that the Salvation Army in this country now has 12,000 officers, 4,000 stations, and 250,000 persons enlisted in their stations every Sunday and praise God.

FINE CHARACTER ACTING.

One of the Best Irish Impersonations Ever Seen in Scranton.

The performance given by Hopkins trans-oceanic star specialty company at the Frothingham was a clean and interesting variety bill. For one feature alone it would deserve commendation--the skit of Irish comedy given toward the last by the Nawys. The impersonation of an elderly Irish laborer offered by Mr. Nawy in his connection was by all odds the most genuine piece of true character acting ever seen on the boards of a Scranton theater. It was almost the exact counterpart of the "Widow Murphy" seen here in "Chimnie Fadden," and seems almost like talent wasted in so limited a setting.

Other admirable features were the character dancing of Rosie Rendel, the work of Salmo, the contortionist and juggler, and Carroll Johnson's minstrel sketches. The attendance was excellent.

A YANKEE IN CUBA.

Drama of that Name Given by Payton Company at the Academy.

"A Yankee in Cuba" was a very popular play at the Academy of Music last night. The play was given by the company and cheered him again. Mr. Payton and his company gave a fine interpretation of the drama throughout. It was preceded by the curtain raiser "Lord of Five Shillings." In the afternoon Mr. Payton and his company produced "Kathleen Mavourneen."

Mr. Smith's Side of the Case.

Sir: In last Thursday morning's issue of your paper appeared an account charging Z. S. Smith with larceny of the furniture of Mrs. Mill. Eighteen months ago I purchased the property where I now reside and had for tenants Mrs. Mill and family. Six months ago my house and household goods being burnt I gave notice to Mrs. Mill to vacate. When leaving they were in arrears for rent and left as I supposed and (which was the understanding) a wash tub, clothes wringer and few cooking utensils to be returned when I received my rent. She has not returned for the return of her goods without coming and asking for them, nor have she paid the rent for which she was in arrears. Z. S. Smith.

NEXT INSTITUTE IN CARBONDALE

Teachers Decide Not to Meet Hereafter in This City.

THE RESOLUTIONS THEY ADOPTED

Teachers Should Make More of an Effort to Have the Provisions of the Compulsory Educational Act Enforced--Olyphant and Carbondale Nominated for the Honor of Entertaining the Next Institute--The Closing Lectures.

The last session of the county teachers' institute was held yesterday morning in Y. M. C. A. hall. It was decided by the teachers to hereafter hold their institutes at some place outside of the city of Scranton and Carbondale was selected as the place.

As usual the sessions opened with music led by Professor Cogswell and Dr. Mara L. Pratt gave the last of her series of talks on "Child Study." She took occasion during the course of her address to make some comment on the bad taste of the reporter who referred to the teachers as "School Marions" in his reports of the institutes. She looked upon this as a disrespectful title. Dr. Pratt's talks was preceded by a humorous recitation by Professor Power Richards. In responding to the question of "Child Study" she introduced to the members of the institute, and entertained the teachers for a short period. His efforts were received with much favor.

BUSINESS MATTERS.

Professor J. H. White, of Archbald, read the report of the treasurer at the point. It showed the receipts of the last institute to be $766.02 expenditures, $589.42, leaving a balance of $176.60.

Professor J. H. Hockenberry, of Carbondale, read the report of the committee on resolutions as follows: Resolved, That the thanks of this body are due to the officers and instructors who have rendered the meetings so interesting and instructive and we tender our thanks to the press of this city for the excellent reports of the proceedings.

Resolved, That we, as teachers, should give every effort to promote the enforcement of the compulsory school law.

Resolved, That in the death of Miss Lizzie Martin, of Olyphant, the teaching profession has lost an earnest worker, and we tender to the bereaved family our sympathy.

Resolved, That the educational interests of this county would be promoted by holding the institute occasionally in some other place than Scranton.

The resolutions were adopted as read and M. W. Cummings then nominated Olyphant as the place for holding the next institute. Mr. Taggart, of Mayfield, moved an amendment to Mr. Cummings' motion to the effect that the institute be held outside of Scranton. A vote was taken upon the amendment and Superintendent Tayson announced that the motion was lost and that the teachers had decided not to have the institute held outside of Scranton. This decision was questioned and another vote was ordered upon the question, all persons voting being compelled to stand up and be counted. The result of this vote was as follows: Institute outside of Scranton, 15; institute in Scranton, 118.

CARBONDALE SELECTED.

Professor Hockenberry thereupon nominated Carbondale as the place for holding the next institute and the nomination was seconded by Mr. Taggart. The contest for the honor was between Carbondale and Olyphant, and the former won by a big majority.

The last lecture of the institute course was delivered by Professor Holbrook on "Pedagogy." At the basis of all our teaching there must be an interest in the pupil shown. There must be freedom and a spirit of friendliness between teacher and pupil. The teacher must not be domineering in his demeanor if he wishes to secure good results.

the subject of orders issued by contractors and decided that hereafter the board will deal only with the contractor. Their reason for this is that oftentimes, as was the case in an instance, yesterday, the orders are greater than the amount due the contractor and the members of the board feel that it is not their place to decide which of another man's creditors shall receive first consideration.

Football This Afternoon.

At Athletic park this afternoon the School of the Lackawanna foot ball team will line up against the Wyoming seminary team of Kingston. The teams are very evenly matched, and an exciting contest is anticipated. The local team has been practicing faithfully under the direction of Coach Bliss and are confident of making a good showing against their old time rivals.
