CITY NOTES.

The annual ball of the Cabmen's union will be held at the hall tonight. A delegation of Wilkes-Barre cabmen will be present. Columbus council of the Young Men's Institute will hold its fourth annual social at Excelsior hall on Wyoming avenue Friday evening, Oct. 20. A smoker was conducted Monday night by Division No. 20, Ancient Order of Hibernians, in St. Peter's hall, Bellevue. An interesting programme was given. The Scranton Clerks' association will hold an important meeting this evening at their hall on Spruce street. Every member is asked to be present, as business of importance will be transacted. Ten new members will be initiated. The annual meeting of the Lackawanna and Wyoming Musical alliance will be held in the Park at 7 o'clock. Pupils entering school for the first time shall be admitted the first school week of September, January and April. Pupils not entering during the first school week of September, January or April shall obtain permission by card from the superintendent. You will have to see the superintendent of schools to secure admittance for your children.—Editor Tribune. Mrs. Helen Judd Strine, of Buffalo, who will constitute the chief feature of an entertainment given by the Epworth league of Elm Park church on Thursday evening next, is well and favorably known in Buffalo, N. Y., as a singer and pianist. She is a devoted mother and a devoted citizen, and her presence at the entertainment will be a great help to the cause. THREE LAWYERS ENGAGED.

Ex-Judge Stanton, John T. Martin and C. C. Ballentine Will Defend. From the outlook at present there will be no action by lawyers to defend Andrew Pallyo and John Bonta, who are charged, the latter as an accessory, with the murder of George Sehm, who died from a lackawanna hospital fracture of skull, received in a drunken fight at Sport Hill, Dunmore, the Saturday night previous. Ballentine was retained and he made an effort yesterday to have Bonta released on bail. Later in the day Attorney John T. Martin instructed from County Executive Leysbon something about the case; and after him came Judge Stanton, who, after being retained, left Mrs. Pallyo and two friends in his office, and came to the court house to see District Attorney John R. Jones to find out if he would not be willing to admit the prisoners to bail. Mr. Jones was busy and Judge Stanton spoke to Mr. Leysbon about it. The latter told him bail would not be taken, and the judge went away saying something about habeas corpus proceedings. The coroner's jury will hold an inquest in the case at the arbitration of the court house this evening at 8 o'clock. Bail was entered before Alderman Millar for the release of Bonta, but when Attorney Ballentine presented the bail to get him out, Deputy Sheriff T. J. Price, the night warden, refused to accept the bail piece as the case is a high grade felony, and bail must be entered before a judge in court, and the surety must be acceptable to the district attorney.

OVER THE NEW BRIDGE.

Street Cars Will Be Run by That Route to Stone Avenue. Superintendent Robert F. Fox, Division Superintendent Giles Schenck and Line Foreman Andrew Johnson made a trial trip with a car over the Roaring Brook bridge Monday night and everything worked satisfactorily, except the curve where the car turned up the incline on the approach. The curve is not rounded enough, but the defect will be remedied in a day or two, and Superintendent Fox expects to open the line for traffic by the end of the week. Stone Avenue cars instead of turning down Mattes street will go up the Laurel Hill line and over the bridge to Front street, to Pittston avenue, to Hemlock street, to Prospect avenue, where they will connect with the old line and run on to the terminus. On the inward trip they will come over the old route, and by this means there will be a belt line service between Mattes street and Prospect avenue. The same service as now will be given. The cars make trips every twenty-four minutes. The new arrangement will enable them to avoid delays and it will also facilitate traffic on the South Side line.

A WOMAN'S PERILOUS POSITION.

Went Into a Drunken Sleep on the Delaware and Hudson Tracks. The poor board came very near being relieved of one of its charges last evening. Mrs. J. O. Beck, of 529 Beech street, who received monthly allowances of outdoor relief, squandered some of her allowance in a manner which will cause her to lose her independence with at least one member of the board. While in the lamentable condition which resulted from her prodigality, she fell asleep on the Delaware and Hudson railroad just below the Docketown crossing. Her two little children were with her and tried to rouse her, but failing in this, and being unable to pull her off the track they ran for help. Special Officer Lawrence Duhig, who happened to be passing near by, was summoned, and running to the spot rescued the woman from her perilous position just as the up-train was whistling for the crossing. The children were sent home, and the woman was turned over to Patrolmen Welsh and Saul, who locked her up in the central police station.

ANNUAL DONATION DAY.

Tomorrow is the Time to Remember the Home for the Friendless. The annual donation day of the Home for the Friendless will be tomorrow. The needs of the institution are great and it is earnestly requested that the friends of the Home, both old and new, will contribute to the fund. There are those people in Scranton who never forget the little orphan or worse than orphan, nor the feeble old ladies in the Home, but every year new residents are coming to our city and their gifts will be greatly appreciated if they will come so kind as to remember this worthy charity. The managers hope to see a very large number of additional names on the list of donors tomorrow. Gifts of provisions from friends in the country will be gladly welcomed and clothing, provisions and all articles needed in a family will be greatly appreciated.

MAMMOTH NEW ENGINE.

It Will Be Erected at the Providence Plant in a Few Months. The Scranton Traction company will enlarge its motive power at the Providence plant within two months by the addition of a 700-horse power engine. The importance of this improvement can be better measured when the fact is known that the total horse power of the engines now at the plant is 1,200. Superintendent Robert F. Fox stated yesterday to a Tribune reporter that the foundation for the engine bed will be started in a few days, parts of the engine being delivered about Nov. 1, and he hopes to have it together and in working order by Dec. 1. It will be a magnificent piece of machinery. It is to be placed in the country ward making a first-class street car service in this city.

BOYCOTT FELL THROUGH.

Retail Liquor Dealers Will Declare it Off at the Next Meeting. The boycott declared by the Retail Liquor Dealers' association of Lackawanna county against the brewers who refused to sign an agreement not to sell to speak-easies has fallen through, and will at next Friday's meeting of the league be officially declared off. One of the members prominent in the association said last night to a Tribune reporter that the failure of the boycott was due to the very men who inaugurated it. They, he said, were discovered by making the agreement not to patronize the boycotted brewers and those who entered the fight through sympathy of course refused to be bound to the agreement any longer.

DIED.

BURKE.—In Scranton, Oct. 20, 1896, William Burke, of 216 Wayne avenue. Funeral notice later. GLOVER.—In Scranton, Oct. 19, at 10:20 p. m., at the home of her brother, W. D. Green, 22 Delaware street, Green Hill, Mrs. Laura E. Glover, aged 67 years and 10 months, died at the home 10:20 a. m. Thursday morning.

GREEN RIDGE VOTERS LISTEN TO LOGIC

Large Outpouring at Last Night's Republican Rally.

THREE ELOQUENT SPEECHES HEARD

Assistant District Attorney John M. Harris, A. J. Colborn and J. Ball Osborne, ex-Consul to Ghent, Belgium, Discuss the Various Campaign Issues—Colonel George Sanderson Presides and Makes a Pithy and Opportune Opening Address.

M. L. Fine, Select Councilman George Sanderson, City Assessor C. S. Fowler, Common Councilman C. S. Seaman, Michael Faust, Miles McDonald, ex-Councilman T. B. Howe, J. Williams, George Henry G. McKie, C. E. Dolph, C. B. Gardner, J. S. Robinson, B. T. Jayne, Alderman A. C. Bailey, John McTague, Edward McCall, Thomas Barrowman, H. L. Burdick. These are the names taken at random of a few of the men who attended last night's Republican rally in the corner of Capouse avenue and Marion street, Green Ridge. They are mentioned merely to give an idea of the class of people who attended the Republican meetings. It incidentally serves to show that there is an unusually lively interest in the campaign, for the Thirty-third ward people are as a general rule very demonstrative and it is only when they want to put themselves on record in some important matter that they will participate in any demonstration. The fact that they turned out last night in numbers that overpowered the commodious hall evidences their interest in this extremely important campaign.

Colonel Sanderson, the chairman of the meeting, made the campaign's importance, the value of the opening remarks. "It is a struggle to determine whether a laborer shall receive his pay in debased dollars; whether the national and individual dollar shall be paid in dishonest currency; whether our supreme court, the most august body in the world, shall be maintained by hand-slingers who will participate in any demonstration. The fact that they turned out last night in numbers that overpowered the commodious hall evidences their interest in this extremely important campaign."

VERY SUCCESSFUL ENROLLMENT OF AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS CONDUCTED BY STAFF CAPTAIN LINDSEY, OF PHILADELPHIA.

Staff Captain Lindsey, of Philadelphia, was present at last night's meeting of the American Volunteers at their headquarters, 215 Washington avenue, and twenty-one recruits were enrolled under the flag of Christ. They were mostly persons who have been reached by attending the services of the Volunteers, and who heretofore were in the habit of non-religious life. It was not their first profession of having abandoned evil ways; some of them have been devout attendants at the services several weeks, but it was thought proper that the recruit, or some officer high in the ranks, should come here and that there should be an appropriate programme carried out. It was the duty of the staff captain, in which he spoke of being pleased to see such a flourishing company in Scranton, and he highly commended the earnestness of the recruits in forsaking lives of sin and unrighteousness and turning to God as their only hope and assistance. Besides a fervent service of prayer, there was instrumental music, and many of the recruits were offered. The volunteers escorted Captain Lindsey to headquarters with a band.

LOST MINE IS RECOVERED.

It Has Been Filled With Water for Forty Years. "For the first time in forty years the old Temperance mine, which was abandoned and filled with water, at Beaver Meadow, was entered Saturday," says the Wilkes-Barre News-Dealer. Three men were killed, and the mine was drowned out. The maps were lost, thus obliterating all trace of the opening and its extent. The late Eckley B. Cox made several efforts to locate it underground, but without success. After his death the search was prosecuted by the late J. W. Decker, but he failed. Several months ago the searchers were successful, and tapped the water. "Saturday was the first time they had succeeded in tapping the water. The iron pump was eaten and rusted, and crumbled apart when disturbed. A remarkable find was an old boot still hanging on a prop where the owner left it and in fairly good condition. "The work of repairing will now be pushed, and the old Temperance will be the scene of life and activity in a short time."

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

Two of the Quartette Were Twins and All are Youthful. Yesterday morning John Williams, of Mayfield, and Rose Sweeney, of Vandling, secured a marriage license at the Court's Thomas office, and shortly afterwards, John Davis and May Williams, of Mayfield, came in and secured a similar license. The late Eckley B. Cox made several efforts to locate it underground, but without success. After his death the search was prosecuted by the late J. W. Decker, but he failed. Several months ago the searchers were successful, and tapped the water. "Saturday was the first time they had succeeded in tapping the water. ORAL SCHOOL DIRECTORS MEET.

Four Directors Re-elected, Officers Chosen and Reports Read. The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Oral School for the Deaf was held yesterday afternoon in the office of Henry Bell, Jr., R. J. Matthews, B. G. Morgan, Rev. T. Coffey, of Carbondale, and Henry Bell were re-elected directors for a period of three years. The following officers were re-elected: Ex-Justice Alfred Hand, president; William C. Conroy, vice president; Henry Bell, Jr., secretary and treasurer; C. H. Welles, corresponding secretary. Executive and finance committees were also elected, and the annual reports of the principle of the school and of the treasurer were read. There are now sixty-five pupils in the institution.

Henry Abbey's Funeral.

Northampton, Mass., Oct. 20.—The burial of the remains of Henry E. Abbey, the theatrical and operatic manager, took place this afternoon in the Bridge Street cemetery, a grave beside that of his first wife. There were no services at the cemetery. Rainy Weather don't make any difference with the crowds at David Bro's. great auction sale. Opening. A dainty line of Children's Coats at the Baby Bazaar, 612 Spruce street.

JAMES KEARNEY HAS DISAPPEARED

Left Home Friday Evening and Has Not Since Been Seen.

WAS ACCOMPANIED BY A DOG

Returned Home Yesterday but no Trace of the Master Has Been Found—Started to Walk to the Central City—Was Very Much Attached to Home and Seldom Remained Away Even for a Night.

James Kearney, who for years has resided at 423 Phelps street, mysteriously disappeared Friday night and has not since been seen or heard from. When he disappeared he was accompanied by his dog which returned home yesterday. This fact has filled the children of Mr. Kearney and his relatives with grave doubts concerning his safety. The missing man was a widower, 53 years of age, and his employment was that of a miller. He has five children. Mr. Kearney was a very domestic man and rarely spent a night away from his own home. This is one of the features of the case that is giving the members of his family much uneasiness, for they argue that if he was alive and well nothing would keep him for four days from his home and children. The last time he was seen was about 9 o'clock Friday night when he left his residence and started in the direction of the central city. A short distance from the house he met one of his sons and told him that he was going to take a walk and would return in a short time. He started for the central city, the dog following at his heels and taking a walk and would return in a short time as if the ground opened and swallowed him up. Chief Robbing was notified yesterday of Kearney's disappearance and the police officers of the city are now endeavoring to find him. Kearney was dressed in a black velvet suit, a colored shirt and a black fedora hat.
