WHERE BOY BRYAN WENT TO SCHOOL

The Cardidate Is Heartliy Welcomed at Illinois State College.

STUDENTS ARE VERY ENTHUSIASTIC

Interesting Exercises Held in Honor of the Visit of the Champion of Free Silver -- Bryan's Address to Students -- Good Advice to Young Men. The Opportunities Offered for Ad-

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 26.—The streets of Jacksonville began to show evi-dences early this morning that some especial event was about to take place in the pretty college town. Vehicles in which people had driven many miles lined up along the curbs of the prin-cipal streets, while the sidewalks were crowded with excursionists. The prescrowded with excursionists. The pres-ence of William J. Bryan and his wife in the community where they were educated and spent the first few years of their married life was the magne that attracted so many visitors, all of whom had come to see and hear the candidate deliver a speech on the public subject in the afternoon. Horse-men, attired in red, white and blue sashes and decorations of shimmering silver foil, galloped about the shaded thoroughfares of Jacksonville from an early hour and the occasional noise of brass bands and silver clubs added to the excitement and interest that pervaded the little city.

Mr. Bryan began his day in a very pleasant way. Surrounded by students of his alma mater he made an address in the chapel of the Illinois State col-lege in the forenoon, in which he de-nied insinuations that he was not ac-tuated by earnest belief in advocat-ling the free coinage of sliver and main-tained that he was anxious to do the greatest good to the greatest number of people in the United States. The little chapel was crowded. No display was attempted, the regular re-ligious exercises that were practiced in Mr. Bryan's time and are still maintained, being carried on in all their

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan joined the students in singing "America," and in the responses to the Twenty-fifth Psalm, which preceded the intro-duction of the candidate, by Dr. J. E. Bradley, the president of the college. The boys forgot their surroundings in heir desire to do honor to the distin-guished alumnus and cheered with a will as Mr. Bryan rose.

MR. BRYAN'S REMARKS.

Mr. Bryan in addressing the students "I want you young men to realize that when you have received great advantages, great responsibilities go with those advantages and that you have no right, as citizens in a land like this, to keep in darkness upon any public question; nor have you a right to listen to any persuasions except the persuasions which come from your conscience and your judgment. I appreadvantages of living in a ike this. You may have had country like this. You may have had people tell you that my ideas were anpeople tell you that my ideas were aniagonistic to our form of government and to law and order. But I want you to believe me when I say that there is not a person in this country who loves our institutions more than I do, or who feels a deeper interest in their perpetuation. And what young man has the right to prize our institutions more than I have? In what other country is it possible for a young man to accomplish as much as he can accomplish in this country? In what other country is it possible for a young man to accomplish as much as he can accomplish in this country? In what other country is it possible for a young man with nothing to commend him except his interest in the cause, to be selected by those who believe in li.a to carry out their ideas.

"I so much prize the advantages of a discountry in the students in the cause is the cause in the cause in the cause in the cause is the cause in the cause in the cause in the cause is the cause in the cause is the cause in the cause in the cause is the cause is the cause in the cause is the cause in the cause is the cause is the cause is the cause is the cause in the cause is the cause is the cause is the cause is the cause in the cause is the cau be selected by those who believed Li.a to carry out their ideas.

"I so much prize the advantages of a country like this that I want to keep dealing out as our fathers intended. I vant it to rest secure upon the founlations which the laid, so that it will guarantee rights to every citizen and give special privileges and advantages to no citizen. I want it still to be so that the child of the humblest citizen of this land may be able to aspire to any office to which his abilities or his ideas, or his labor and his treating it. ideas, or his labor and his integrity fit him. And it is because that I realize I think as I do, some of the influences which in society are tending to close the door of opportunity for young men that I have felt the indignation that I have expressed against great aggregations of wealth which have in many instances trampled upon the rights of weaker members of society. and have attempted, by the power which they can command, to drive out competition, and then prey upon so-clety after it has been rendered helpless and lies at their mercy.

FAITH IN HIS OWN TEACHINGS. "I read in the papers that in various institutions of learning they are nearly all against me. My friends, if I should read in the papers that there was not a college professor, not a businessman, not a man prominent in society who believed in what I am teaching, I would believe in it, I would still teach it. When I hear people say the trouble with the masses of the people is that they don't work hard enough, I recall what the Bible tells us, that Pharoah when he heard the complaint that came up from his people said the same thing. He said: "They are idle, that is what troubles them: make them make more bricks, and make them furnish the straw." I know too that all the great reforms of society have come up from the common people: not down from those who were ple; not down from those who were well-to-do, or who were so surrounded that they did not feel the needs of the people. I remember that the Bible tells us that when one young man was in-quiring what he ought to do and was told to sell what he had and give to the poor, he went away sorrowing be-cause he had great possessions. I know that great possessions some time so monopolize a person's thoughts, so occupy his time, that he has not time to give to those needs of society which are felt and realized by those who are felt and realized by those who suffer. I want you, in the study of all institutions, not to take my views—because, as I say, I may be wrong—not to take anybody's views, but to try to find out what is best for the people, and be satisfied that you can only lift yourself by lifting up those who are

A HOLIDAY ANNOUNCED.

When Mr. Bryan concluded, there were more cheering again and the students broke forth when President Leanley announced a holiday in honor of the Democratic nominee. members of the Sigma Phi society es-corted Mr. and Mrs. Bryan to their carriage, singing their fraternity song and sent another cheer after them as they were driven away.

The crowd at the public square began to collect early and at 2 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Bryan arrived. about 12,000 people were congregated closely around the broad platform, from which the candidate spoke while as many unable to hear, gathered on streets in that vicinity. During hour and a quarter occupied by Bryan, the enthusiasm was frequent and occasionally prolonged. His audience was composed almost entire-ly of farmers, and was undoubtedly in sympathy with his expressed views Mr. Bryan also spoke to an audience of women at the opera house where a reception in honor of Mrs. Bryan was

RAILROAD WAGES IN 1873 AND 1896.

The difference between the conditions of ous day and of 1873, which Mr. Bryan says cove es of disastrous to the toiling masses, ercal in be expressed in a few figures. The tity.

wage earner who received $2 a day in 1873 was receiving in 1892 $3 a day, and the dollar in 1892 woud purchase almost as much of the necessaries of life as $2 would in 1873. A sharp illustration of what has happened since 1873 can be found in the experience of the railroads. I cite the New York Central because it is our state road, traversing the commonwealth from one end to the other, and its conditions are more familiar to us than any other. In 1896—and the same conditions are true since 1896—we are receiving for the carriage of the products of the farm only one-half the rates we received in 1873. This enormous contribution comes from capital to the consumer and from capital to the producer. We are enabled to live at all only because the progress of invention permits us to do the work cheaper than we did in 1873, but not cheaper in proportion to this tremendous reduction in the price we receive for the carriage of freight. While, however, the returns to capital by this reduction have been cut from eight to four per cent., the results to labor of the conditions under the iniquitous gold standard since 1873 have been directly the reverse. In 1873 the locomotive passenger engineer on the New York Central received $50 per month, and now his average earning is $150 per month; the freight engineer then received $50 per month, and now $75 in the passenger service and $50 in the freight service; then trainmen and brakemen received $40 per month, and now $75 in the passenger service and $50 in the freight service; then trainmen and brakemen received $50; the trackmen, who constitute the great body of labor, received $7½ cents a day in 1873, and now they get $1.35.

BEST OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Thursday night's demonstration in the Frothingham theater will be a fitting climax to the local campaign for Protection and sound money. The speakers will include Governor Hastings, at all times a favorite orator: General Latta, eloquent and witty; General Reeder, scholarly and effective; Colonel Harry Hall, apt in anecdote and illustration; and Mayor Warwick, of Philadelphia, who is one of the best speakers in the state. This meeting will be for Democrats as well as Republicans. Let every citizen

The Foot Ball Club Prefers to Rest Upon Their Laurels for a Season. Easton, Pa., Oct. 26.—A conference was held at the Pomfret club in this city this afternoon to consider the advisability of Lafayette and the University of Pennsylvania playing another foot ball game this season. Those other foot ball game this season. Those present at the conference were G. L. McAvey, manager of the Pennsylvania team; Manager Bishop and Coach Parke Davis, of the Lafayette team, and Professor F. A. March, jr., Judge Howard Reeder, James Fox and John Maxwell, representing the Lafayette alumni athletic committee. At the conclusion of the conference it was announced that another game will not be played between the two colleges this season. The Pennsylvania representative was yery anxious that a game

MUST HAVE FOG-HORN VOICES.

Wanted Men to Read Bryan's Convention Speech in Court Houses.

Mexico, Mo., Oct. 26.-A plan has seen promulgated to have Candidate Bryan's Chicago convention speech read in every court house in the United States before the election. Harry Turner, of Mexico, made the sugges-tion to Chairman Jones, of the Dem-ocratic national committee, and has received this letter from the chairman, dated Chicago:

"Your letter is received and carefully read. I would be gratified beyond measure if you would take active hold of the matter indicated and give it as wide a circulation as you possibly can. I believe the reading of Mr. Bry-an's Chicago speech in every court house in the United States will do wonderful good. I thank you very much for the interest you manifest in the

Mr. Turner therefore suggests that the chairman of the central commit-tee of each state "Issue a manifesto re-quiring some leading Democrat in each county seat throughout the country to get up a 'Bryan love feast' next week and have a man with a good voice read

BULLETS DO NOT HARM HIM.

Crazy Ohioan Shoots Himself and Feels None the Worse for It.

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 26.-Henry Ramm attacked his wife and a party of ladies who were going to church with a re-volver. He shot at his wife, but missing her, the bullet struck Mrs. Schmidt in the arm. Mrs. Ramm fled as Mrs. Schmidt fell to the sidewalk. sential tell to the sidewalk. The maddened man pursued his wife two blocks, firing at her constantly. She escaped into a neighbor's house. Ramm then returned and began another fusilade on Mrs. Schmidt, after which he turned his attention to his stepson and fired several shots at him without ef-fect, also turning his weapon on the crowd that had collected. Ramm then walked across the street and taking off his hat fired a bull-t into his own forehead about an inch above the right eye. Ramm was en to the police station to die, later he got up and walked about the

They Beat Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Monoghan in a Shocking Manner. Girardville, Pa., Oct. 26.—Early Sun-day morning burglars broke into the Rappahannock hotel and sandbagged the proprietor. Anthony Monoghan, and his wife. They then forced their way into the bar room and commenced to crack the safe. Mr. Monoghan and wife recovered and rushed into the bar room to fight the masked burglars off the safe to the safe. room to fight the masked burglars off if possible, as the safe contained $5,000 in bonds and other valuable papers. The burglars turned on them and beat both in a shocking manner.

Thinking they were dead they cast their bodies into another room and locked it, after which they blew open the safe and took the contents. They spread a feast in the kitchen and uncorked several bottles from the bar, after which they looted the bar room, taking almost everything in it.

and American development against all the world besides. Then we want to pursue a sound financial system and have every dollar in this country to be as sound as the government itself and as unquestioned in its integrity as the flag that waves above us. We want public honor kept inviolate. We want to teach and practice reverence for public law, respect for our incorruptible judiciary, love of our free institutions, love for our flag and zeal for public and private honr. Let that be the shield of exalted American citizenship. (Great applause.

I am glad to meet you here this morning. I remember years ago of having been in your state and city. Twenty years ago I spoke in the city of Trenton. I was then a young man and we were battling then as now, for honest money, for an honest dollar and a protective tariff. Then later on, I spoke in the chief city of New Jersey, your home city, the city of Newark. This was four years ago. I was the guest of this brilliant company, the Frelinghuysen Lancers. You were my escort while I was in your city and you will remember that I appealed to you to stand for a protective system and I told you that the abandonment of it meant business revolution and paralysis. But we had to try It and we have tried it. (Laughter and cheers.) Now, what have you got by it? (loud cries of "not hing"), and how do you like it? (Cries of "not a bit.") Now, this year Democrats and Republicans are united together, not as partisans, but as patriots, for the voice of partisanship is hushed in the grand chorus of patriotism that vibrates from one end of the country to the other. Democrats and Republicans alike stand for national honor, for the supremacy of law and order and for the prosperity and glory of the great American republic. (Loud cheers.)

ADDRESS TO RAILROAD MEN.

ADDRESS TO RAILROAD MEN. Major McKinley, in addressing the men of the Wheeling road, said: "I believe that the men who stand before me who are entrusted with the care and property such as other classes of other workmen nowhere are en-trusted with, can be safely relied upon to guard their own ballots for their country's good and the benefit of their own families and homes. (Cheers and cries of "you're right.") cries of "you're right.")

"I believe that they chn be trusted to do this without counsel or advice from anybody. Whatever you wear on the outside of your coats, if you vote in accordance with what is inside. I bid you vote on Nov. 3 as you think best when you are in the sacred precincts of your own homes. The men who are accustomed to giving heed to danger signals, as are railined men. who are accustomed to giving heed to danger signals, as are railroad men, intend to keep the signals of danger pointed out, not by Republicans alone, but by the Democrats, not by partisans, but by patriotic motives, and they can be trusted that they can look out for themselves. I make no personal appeal to you. Men are nothing in a great contest like this, but principles and policies are everything."

The largest delegation today came

The largest delegation today came from the Erie lines between Salam-anca, N. Y., and Chicago. It was made anca, N. Y., and Chicago. It was made up of Eric employes between those points and numbered nearly 3,000. The parade was led by 150 women, who bore a banner inscribed: "Hip. hip. hurree, who are we? The Women's auxiliary." The women came from Huntingdon, W. Va

Mr. McKinley's yard could not hold all the delegates. Major McKinley abandoned the porch and spoke from a chair placed on a table near the center of the lawn. The cheers which greeted him were deafening when he addressed them.

The Erie delegation presented Mrs.
McKinley with a very handsome and elaborate floral decoration.

The next delegation was not large, but it was a representative one. It came from Boston and was composed of twenty-three men, the executive committee of the Railroad Men's Non-Partisan Sound Money league of New England. Alexander Robertson, presi-dent of the league said by his removing dent of the league, said in his remarks to Major McKinley that the delegation represented every branch of railroad work and that it also represented 30.50 work and that it also represented 30.50 railroad workmen of New England. The delegation was escorted from the station by the Grand Army band of forty musicians, and by the Canton Mounted troop. Major McKinley received them in his library and made them a brief speech. The last delegation of the day was composed of the wheelwomen of Massillon, O., and Chicago. It is the first organized Wheelcago. It is the first organized Wheel-women's McKinley club in the country. Robert Stainer introduced Major Mc who addressed some pleasant remarks to them,

WOMEN THWART AN ESCAPE.

Locked Four Sale-Crackers in a Dining Room Until ' rrested. Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 26.—A bold at-tempt to liberate the four Roaring Branch safe dynamiters, who were arrested in the mountains near Morris, was made by two woodsmen at the ho-tel at Morris yesterday. Had it not been for the bravery of two women cooks at the hotel the prisoners would ave gotten away.

When taken into the dining room at noon vesterday Constable Hart removed the handcuffs from the prisoners. A woodsman in the plot to liberate the men called Constable Hart to the door. Just then his confederate threw open a rear door and yelled; "Here, boys, is your chance to sbip." The four prisoners arose, but the next instant the two women cooks slammed the door shut and locked it until the men were re-shackled.

were re-shackled.

From the amount of dynamite powder and other explosive paraphernalia found on the men when arrested it is believed that they are of the gang which has been burglarizing depots in Northern Pennsylvania and Southern New York for three weeks rest.
