A LARGE DELEGATION OF WOMEN

The Visitors Received in the Tabernacle .- A Tribute to the Republican Party -- An Address to the Aged Visitors -- A Constituent of Jackson Who Will Vote the Republican

Canton, O., Oct. 28.—All Canton was divided in two parts this evening, those who marched to Major McKinley's and those who viewed and cheered the marching throngs. The business men of Canton, irrespective of party. announced a few days ago that on Wednesday about sundown they would call in a body on Major McKinley. Tonight they made good their promise and they were joined in their demonstration by most of the others in the city. More than 5,000 formed in line and marched with banners and bands to the McKinley residence just at sun-down. Darkness fell as they gathered in solid phalanx and in the street around the candidates home. There were acres of people, Far as the eye could reach the glittering are lights revealed a sea of upturned faces.

Major McKinley has not been greeted by a larger or more carnest assemb-lage than that of his own townsmen which confronted him tonight. He was visibly affected and there was a thrill of emotion in his voice when he spoke. It was the most engaging and inspiring scene of a day that has been crowded with pleasant and interesting incidents. To his fellow townsmen and neighbors, Major McKinley said:

neighbors, Major McKinley said:

It would be a hard heart indeed that would not be moved by this magnificent demonstration of my neighbors and fellow townsmen, who have assembled here to-night, without regard to party, nationality or creed to give expression to their good will, great cause, for which I have been designated to stand.

The great demonstration of two weeks ago from the workingmen of the city ta voice, "They are here again, Major" and applause, was one that filled me with the most profound feeling of gratitude, and then to have this supplement, from the business men of the community—the men and the women, is the crowning assurance of your confidence and regard. I have been accustomed to receive from your hands so many kindnesses for so many years that I was prepared for almost any demonstration, but this latest one filles me with gratitude and thankfulness quite inexpressible and brings to me ha honor that appreciation of which I do not conceal if I would, and I would not conceal it I could, (Cheers).

leal ties. (Cheers). It is not a question of candidates, it is not contention for office, it is a contention for country, not a contention inspired by sectional considerations, but of devotion to the duty which affects and inspire the great heart of the American people. Not since the first shot went crashing against the walls of Sunter, rudely awakening the startled nation to the realization that civil war had commenced, had she masses of our fellow countrymen ever been aroused as how. With what shall always seem to me are unaccountable rashness, it is proposed at the end of a hundred and twenty years of a glorious national life, proposed in earnestness, for the first time in our history, to cast repreach upon the honor of the American name.

The proposition is unworthy of American citizenship and is an insult to the integrity, the good faith and the inspiring instery of our great republic. It should receive, and I believe it will receive firting rebuke from the ballots of fifteen million of freemen. It should be so overwhelmingly defeated that no national convention of any great party will ever dare make so debasing a proposition in any important political campaign again. The American people will never take so rash and wicked a step as to invalidate or impair the value of their own government obligation. They will never consent by popular vote or otherwise to the repudiation of one farthing of their national do it. They will aver brook the thought of not looking the whole world in the face and ehaliening any nation to point to a more honorable or creditable record than ours. But, my felolw citizens, the arguments have been made; the case is ready to go to the jury and the jury is waiting impatiently to announce its verdict, and we, as Republicans, confidently submit our contention to the great tribunal of the American people—the highest and best hope in the world.

At a meeting this evening the Ladles' McKinley club of Canton was serious.

At a meeting this evening the Ladles' At a meeting this evening the Ladies McKinley club of Canton was organized. The club will call on Major McKinley Saturday, The Canton troop called formally on Major McKinley this morning and through their captain addressed some words of greeting to Ma-dressed some words of greeting who responded pleasantly.

THE FIRST DELEGATION. The first delegation that loomed up through the rain and mist came from Wellsville, Ohio. It was composed of seventy-five women, who were presented to Major McKinley by Dr. Parks, Major McKinley made a brief speech thanking the women for the deep interest which they manifest in public affairs this year.

Shortly after noon a large delegation of citizens from Buffalo, N. Y., arrived to pay their respects to Major McKinley.

The delegation was composed of members of the Republican league and the Central Italian club, of Buffalo. The men were handsomely uniformed and marched with military precision. When Major McKinley advanced to the edge of the platform the audience rose to its feet and cheered tumultous-ly. It was an inspiring scene. Major McKinley spoke with great vigor and earnestness.

TRIBUTE TO THE PARTY. Among other things he said:

Among other things he said:

The Republican party occupies this year a post of most distinguished honor and responsibility. It has been given to few parties in the history of the American republic to take the position thus occupied by our grand old party, standing as it does for country, sound currency, public honor, the supremacy of the law and great federal courts that have been incorruptible in the past and have been our safeguard in every time of peril. (Cheers). The Republican party assumed the responsibility which is assigned it and congratulates itself that this year, carrying the standard that represents the best things in government, that around such a banner will rally not only Republicans, but Democrats from every section of our country. We want to return to a policy that protects and defends American labor, the American workshop and the American market and takes into account always that the best things for any country is that which gives work to the men of the country and insures labor against idleness. (Cheers). Then, we want a palicy that will raise enough money from tariffs and traffica to pay as we go. Stop ebt., cell incies and bonds in time of peace. Then, my fellow citizens, we want to continue the present standard monetary and financial system we have teday, where every dollar is the equal of two.

every other dollars and which is equal toone hundred cents in gold. After the speech making the Buffalo del-egation excerted Major McKinley to his residence, where a photograph was taken. SPEECH TO AGED PERSONS.

SPEECH TO AGED PERSONS.

A delegation from Minerva, Chio, which Major McKinley addressed in the Tabernacle this afternoon, contained many aged people. The spokesman, Hiram Hostetter, is 72 years old, and a Mr. Unger, who sat in the platform, is 94 and voted for wackson. He will break a lite long repord of adherence to the Democratic party this year by voting for McKinley. Major McKinley in addressing his old constituents from Minerva said: from Minerva said:

from Minerva said:

Nothing does accomplish so much good as a revival of patriotism and that is what we are having this year from one end of the country to the other. All this means that the people are to, be trusted with the conduct of the government and that they are fully competent to attend to the interests of the republic and are especially zealous this year, for the honor and credit of the United. States. We might just as well settle this years for all time that this is not a nation of repudlators and that we propose to pay every obligation of the government in the best form of money known to the civilized world at the time of payment. My fellow citizens, the hope of this country and its future are in the interest of the plain people, in the plain American home where virtue presides and where truth reigns. You love the things that are good and loving that you are going to vote for them for this will bring honor and glory to the republic (Cheers).

The next delegation was from Tiro,

The next delegation was from Tiro, Crawford county, Ohio. It was pre-sented by Charles McConnell, Major McKinley, in response to his remarks, spoke briefly.
A small delegation of well-known Wheeling people called at the house on Major McKinley, but no speeches were made.

Later in the afternoon, Major Mc-Kinley's associates on the union Re-publican ticket in 1869, when he was a punican ticket in 1995, when he was a candidate for prosecuting attorney of this county, Judge J. W. Underhill spoke of his colleagues, S. G. Bowman, E. A. Johnson, J. M. Allen and Thomas S. Stanley. The talks were reminiscent in nature.

THE PEOPLE AROUSED.

The people are aroused as never before and I believe that the election on next Tuesday will show a much larger vote that was ever polled in the history of our country before. Every American elector feels this year that he has a grave duty resting upon him and they are not oniv going to vote, but they are going to vote; lit is a contention for of andidates, it is not contention for of andidates, it is not contention for of fiee; it is a contention for country, not a contention inspired by sectional considerations, but of devotion to the duty which

William A. Helsley, of Long Branch, was chosen chairman. Mr. Hobart was greeted with cheers and applause and it was several minutes before he could be heard. He prefaced his address by an appeal to the voters to return to congress Benjamin nees.

It was a good day's work when you elected Governor Griggs. I never could understand why Monmouth county gave Grover Cleveland a majority of 12,000. There was prosperity and plenty of wages then. The national credit was perfect; the public debt was decreasing. You have tited almynistrations under protection and free trade. Which do you like best? It is for you to say whether or not you will go back again to the present hard times. There has come into this campaign a false issue. You are to decide whether it shall be a debased currency or the standard of currency you now enjoy. Free silver means the confiscation of one-half of the property you have saved; the repudiation of half of your debts. Is there any reason for this? The whole is a conspiracy of the silver mine owners in order that they might get rich at public expense. Under the Bland and Sherman laws the United States bought 465,000,000 oulces of silver. At the present price of silver the government has lost $155,000,000 which you and I must pay for. Free silver, according to the Chicago Popullstic platform, will make us a fifty-cent nation, No honest dollar can be made from fifty cents' worth of silver plus a legislative flat.

LILLIAN BLAUVELT APPEARS IN DIVORCE

The Well Known Vocalist Joins Fargo's Famous Colony.

SHE WANTS TO BE SINGLE AGAIN

After Several Years of Married Life She Seeks Separation from Mr. Royal S. Smith Who Has Proved to be Uncongenial.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 28,-The local divorce colony has been swelled by the arrival of nearly a dozen women from New York. Among them was Mile. Lillian Blauvelt, the noted concert singer of New York. She was a Brooklyn girl. In private life she is Mrs. Royal Smith and has been married several years. eral years. She is accompanied by her aunt and seeks a divorce on grounds of musical and theatrical circles here. It musical and theatrical circles here. It was understood that Mile. Blauvelt was in Europe, Intimate friends of the singer and her husband said today that they had always imagined the couple to be most devoted to each other. Lillian Blauevelt was born in Brooklyn. She studied to be a violinist, and when proficient became a pupil of the National Conservatory of Music on East Seventeenth street, where she took vocal lessons under Professor Bouhy and Mme. Fursch Madi. It was at this Conservatory of Music that she met her husband, who was also a pupil there. After studying at the conservatory for several years, Miss Blauvelt left for Paris, and studied under Pro-fessor Bouhy, who had left this coun-try and opened a school in that city. Miss Blauvelt returned to this country about four years ago and made her debut at one of Seidl's concerts in this city. Her voice was of a high soprano order, and she scored an immediate success as a concert singer. Since that time her services have been in great success as a concert singer. Since that time her services have been in great demand with the prominent musical societies and leading concert directors. Several years ago she married Royal S. Smith. Her marriage did not in any way interfere with her professional engagements. She became quite ill early last spring and sailed or gave out that she was about to sail for Europe in search of health, instead of that her friends believe she went to the Far West and has been there ever since.

Previous to her illness Miss Blauvelt signed a contract with the late Henry E. Abbey to make her debut in opera comique, which Mr. Abbey intended to run this season, at his theater. The fallure of the Abbey firm later on, however, broke the contract. Miss Blauvelt has cancelled all her engagements for this year, and will not be seen on the concert street with the services. for this year, and will not be seen on the concert stage until next fall.

Royal S. Smith, the husband of Miss Blauvelt, is a baritone singer and teacher, with a studio and office in the Carnegie hall building. At present he is out of town.
