ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION FORMED.

Boys Attending High School Are Progressive and Enterprising.

The Scranton High School is grad-ually fashioning itself in accordance with the methods adopted by higher institutions of learning. The more en-terprising of the boys lately held a meeting and formed an athletic assoterprising of the boys lately held a meeting and formed an athletic association. The following officers were elected: President, Charles H. Doersam; vice president, P. E. Kleudlea; secretary, William Langutaff; treasurer, Joseph A. Wagner.

A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution. This was subsequently adopted, and now a brilliant future seems before the society. A base ball team will be organized and a treix team will no doubt be formed. The foot ball team will to lav play against the Harry Hillman Academy team. This latter team is a very strong one, and the Scranton boys feel that they have a hard task before them, but every man seems determined to play his best, and a good game is expected. The team has been coached by John J. Murphy, the famous Georgetown player. Mr. Murphy has kindly given up his time to the boys, and in a few days he has made a very strong few days he has made a very strong team of them.

The line-up today will be as follows:

FINE CONCERT BY

Audience That Heard It Was Not as Large as It Deserved.

MISS DONOVIN'S WARM RECEPTION

Compelled to Respond to Several Encores .- The Kodak Seen by a Good Sized Audience at the Academy of Music--Spider and Fly Occupied the Boards at Davis' Theatre Afternoon and Evening.

Gilmore's band of forty pieces, now under the direction of that famed 'cel-Gilmore's band of forty pieces, now under the direction of that famed 'celloist, Victor Herbert, gave a concert last night in the Frothingham theater that deserved to have geen greeted and applauded by an audience large enough to occupy all the seats in the house. But the numbers who failed to appear warrants the assertion that Scranton contains some music lovers (?) willing to let as fine an organization as the Gilmore murch by without earing to listen to its music which is admittedly deeper and better than when the lively Patrick himself waved its baton.

Whatever was lacking in its size, the audience made up in its appreciation and applause. Neither was lost on Herbert who cheerfully gave a response to two or three encores to each of the nine numbers on the well balanced programme. The band itself earned some of it but the greater proportionate share was bestowed on the conductor's two 'cello solos and the two appearances of Marie Donavin, the sotor's two 'cello solos and the two ap-pearances of Marie Donavin, the so-prano, who, by her sweet, sympathetic voice, that was all too fine for such heavy accompaniment and by her freshness, youth and winsomeness completely captivated all who heard her. Her charm cost her three respons-es to encores for each of her two num-bers.

Plainly, Herbert has a programme that does not appeal heartily to the great mass of people. It-does not con-tain so much of the slap-dash march tain so much of the slan-dash march and crash. Herbert is a happy med-ium between Seidl and Sousa. He does not cause one to dream one's self to sleep nor to dance on the theater chair. This is illustrated by the band's part of the programme: 1, Wagner grand march from Tannhauser; 2, trio for cor-nets, by Herbert; 3, (a) "Narcissus," march from Tannhauser; 2, trio for cornets, by Herbert; 3, (a) "Narcissus." by Nevin; (b) "Spanish Dance," by Moszkowski; (c) intermezzo, from "Cavalleria Rusticana;" 4, overture, "Fest," by Lassen; 5, (a) "Segnedille," (b) "Havanaise" and (c) "Bolero de Cadix," all by Sesormes; 6, "Starlight Waltz," from "The Wizard of the Nile, and "The American Girl" march, both by Herbert.

Miss Donavin's first number was an aria, "Ah! Forse Lul," by Verdi, Her ance, which as a whole is entertaining. The Nosses play on all kinds of musi-cal instrument and manage to extract music from the oddest kind of instru-ments. "The Kodak" will be repeated this afternoon and evening at the Academy.

SPIDER AND FLY.

At Davis' Theatre yesterday afteroon and evening a gorgeous production of Leavitte spectacular extravaganza "Spider and Fly" was given. It is one of the most elaborate staged productions ever seen at that house.

The spectacle is in three acts and in each there is a generous supply of up-to-date specialties given by various members of the company. Lola and George Vouriers sang several risque French songs that were received with various kinds of favor by the audience. It was evident that Scrafton theatre-goers do not thoroughly appreciate the songs that win fame in the French concert halls.

Much more enjoyable to the audience were the songs of Teddy Simonds and of the Goldsmith sisters which were entertaining. "Spider and Fly" very entertaining. "Spider and Fly" will be repeated this afternoon and evening at Davis.

Coming Attractions.

One of the important comic opera events of this season will be the ap-pearance at the Frothingham next pearance at the Frothingham next Monday evening of the Bostonians in their latest success, "In Mexico," and the sale of seats indicates a crowded house, "In Mexico" is the joint com-pestion of Oscar Well and C. T. Dazey. It is especially written to fit the tai-ents of the Bostonians. The score is described as melodramatic and intense-ly interesting. The scene is laid in described as menodramatic and intense-ly interesting. The scene is laid in Mexico during the so-called Mexican war, and deals with the love and ad-ventures of Captain Selden, United States army, who has been attracted by the heroine, Mariquita Mason, pre-vious to the opera. vious to the opening of the opera.

Thomas W. Keene, the eminent tra-gedian, will appear at the Academy of Music Thursday next in "Richard III." He is accompanied by and under the management of Charles B. Hanford, a young and popular tragedian, and a large supporting company. Mr. Keene, who is the natural and legitimate sucwho is the natural and legitimate suecessor of Edwin Booth, has given careful study to the characters in which he appears and feels a sympathy with each of them. As the Duke of Gloster in Richard III. he is today without a rival. He portrays the passion and rage of Othelio with wonderful power and effect. In Richelleu and Shylock the cunning of the former and the vindictiveness of the latter have never been more powerfully presented. As Hamlet, Booth was never more sincere or thoughtful. As Cassius, in "Julius Caesar," which he has not presented often in late years, he won some of his first laurels, and was considered teal in that character and in Louis XI. he has found a character in which, more than one critic has proclaimed he does the greatest work of his life.

The stirring and deep emotions in the average theatre goer should be awakened next Tuesday evening when "The Girl I Left Behind Me" is presented at the Frothingham. This play has been popular and successful everywhere, and is one of the dramatic successes that we can boast of in the last ten years. It comes to the Frothingham with a new record of 400 nights in New York, and 250 nights in Chicago. "The Girl I Left Behind Me" depicts graphically the life of the American Indian and the American military post and clashes with them strongly. The second act is partly given up to a ball, which, with its music, laughter, flirtations and pretty dresses, constitutes strong contrast with the sombre clouds of danger hanging about the camp.

GILMORE'S BAND

night, Dan'l Sully has found a play worthy of his abilities as an actor, and one which furnishes him an excellent opportunity to display to effect his notable success as an Irish dialect comedian. In this play he alms at and accomplished what no other Irish comedian has succeeded in doing, namely, portraying faithfully the type of Hibernian sons that we meet with in the every-day walks of life, exhibiting, together with the well-known wit and geniality a refined sentiment and lofty purpose that are not sufficiently credited on the stage to a nationality which possesses each to a marked degree,

ALSO UP IN WINTON.

Constable and Landlord Get Themselves Into Very Costly Bother. Alderman Howe yesterday gave $294 rebuke to a constable and land-lord in Winton, who carried things in lord in Winton, who carried the lord in Winton, who carried a high-handed manner while endeavoring to collect a rent bill.

The constable is Benjamin Harris, and she landlord is Thomas Gailagher. According to the story of the plaintiff, Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, these two worthies were guilty of some very irregular, if not to say hard hearted doings. Mrs. Rogers owed $14 rent when she left Gailagher's house, and many seneral office, this city, and Captain W. A. May, the company's many's general office, this city, and Captain W. A. May, the company's possibly could, and she so gave him to understand. He was not content to wait, however, and in direct opposition to the law had Constable Harris seize upon her goods in her new home.

The miners have been assigned the him of the Fifth division, which is that of the Coal Trade Sound Money club. They will be clad in every-day working togs, including boots, caps, lamps, etc., and will carry picks. They will be the escort of the club banner. Everything in the house was sold for $10, Gallagher buying in the goods and disposing of them piecemeal later on.

Mrs. Rogers and her children were left without a bed or stove, and had to sleep on the bare floor without any covering during a very cool night. The consequence was that Mrs. Rogers became ill, and for three weeks was under a doctor's care at the home of her mother-in-iaw.

Including boots, caps, lamps, etc., and will carry picks. They will be the escort of the club banner.
