DEATH DUE TO HER HUSBAND'S CRUELTY

Such a Charge Rests Against Michael A Kelley, of Ptttston Avenue.

MARKS FOUND ON FACE AND BODY

Kelley Beat His Wife Twelve Days Ago--Arrested Last Night--Coroner Longstreet Will Conduct a Post-Mortem Examination This Morning. The Seven Motherless Children Arc in a Destitute Condition.

Mrs. Mary Kelley, of 321 Pittston avenue, died at 5 o'clock yesterday af-ternoon and her husband, Michael A. Kelley is in the central police station suspected of being the cause of her death.

She received a beating from him a week ago last Sunday night, so severe that the marks on her face can be seen in the coffin.

Neighboring women who washed the body said that the black and blue spots on her sides and breast show plainly that he must have been very violent in the assault made upon her. Coroner Longstreet was notified and he will make a postmortem examination this morning.

The impression prevails in the neighborhood that the beating Kelley gave his wife twelve days ago caused her house in her usual condition of health and she was apparently all right except the discolorations on her face.

It got out yesterday morning that she was very sick. Various persons, women principally, called at the house and urged Kelley to send for a doctor. He kept on insisting that there was no need of one, and not until 3 in the started was no need of one, and not until 3 in the started was no need of one, and not until 3 in the started was no need of one of the send of th afternoon was he persuaded to go after Dr. Haggerty, who came and found Mrs. Kelley beyond medical aid.

She died two hours afterward. The lower part of the body was paralyzed for several hours before she ternoon and said there was a woman lying at the point of death at 221 Pitts-ton avenue and there was a house full of small children there too, with not a crust of bread to eat or scarcely a stitch to wear.

When Mrs. Duggan reached the house in the afternoon at 5 o'clock the woman had just died, and when she looked in the coffin and saw the con-tused wound on one of the eyes and the swollen lips, and she had inquired around the place, there was enough of evidence, together with what she knew of Kelley's habits, to impress her that the case needed investigation.

The will of Alexander McCabe, late of Carbondale township, was probated and letters testamentary granted to Rev. Joseph J. McCabe, of Aveca. The will of Daniel Millett, late of Old Forge townwere the object of consideration not long ago by the Board of Associated Charities. There are seven children, three boys and four girls. The boys are the oldest of the family and the oldest one is a water carrier at one of the steel mills when it works. He is about 15 years old. The other two boys, 13 and 11 years old respectively, were picked up several times on the streets of the central city for begging. They usually follow the occupation of the bootblack and were in the habit of being out on the coldest days and nights without enough clothing on the meeting, informally expressed, nights without enough clothing on them even to cover their nakedness. The Board of Charitles was on the point more than once of having Kelley arrested for not looking after his fami-ly instead of sending them out on the street to beg.

Kelley is an undersized, heavy set man and his appearance denotes a long period of years spent in dissipation. He was very abusive to his wife and laid violent hands on her time and again during the past five or ten years. His cruelty coupled with this neglect wrought such a change in her consti-tution that it was almost broken down and the occurrence a week ago Sunday night was the climax.

CARE OF THE CHILDREN. Mrs. Duggan will provide today for Mrs. Duggan will provide today for the care of the children. She will see that they have a home and food and clothing. The house is as cheerless, desolate and as devoid of everything that goes to make up a home, as it is possible for a place to be. The rooms are in the Brick row facing the Or-chard ground.

chard ground. Undertaker Cusiek, who has charge of the funeral, was ordered not to make any arrangements for burial un-til ordered to do so by the coroner.

PUPILS GIVE A RECITAL

Acquitted Themselves with Much Credit in Miss Dorsey's Studio.

The pupils of Miss Carolyne V. Dorsey, elocutionist and Delsartian, gave a pleasing recital at her studio, on Adams avenue, last evening. The affair was well attended and the guests were highly pleased with the efforts of Miss Dorsey's class.

The programme opened with a piano solo by Evangeline Dorsey. Leone Farnham followed with a recitation, which was well rendered. The "Village which was well rendered. The "Village Sewing Society" was cleverly executed by Lizzie Brandt. Mrs. Grace Brown, the well-known vocalist, rendered "Sing, Pretty Birds, to Me" in a sweet mezzo-soprano, and then little Olive Jadwin charmed the hearers by her rendition of the "Little Oueker Meiden."

style, after which Leone Farnham exe-cuted, with her usual grace, twenty-five dramatic attitudes. Hazel Hopewell could hardly be excelled in her inter-pretation of "Caleb's Courtship." Gertie Lehman, five years old, won encomiums by her rectintion, "Jewis of Winter." The recital closed with a minuet en-titled "As Grandma Did." by Bessie Posner and Liggie Brandt. OFFICIAL COUNT BEGUN.

It Will Take Three Days More for

Court to Count the Votes. The official count of the vote of Tuesday's election began yesterday in court.
Judge Archbald was presiding in an equity suit and he appointed Attorney
R. A. Zimmerman to supervise the sealed returns.

Attorneys George L. Peck and John M. Corbett were appointed reading clerks; Attorneys M. W. Lowry, J. E. Watkins, Walter M. Gunster and Rob-ert J. Kernan were appointed recording clerks, and George M. Okell, P. E. Tim-lin, and Attorney John F. Murphy were HAVOC AT ARCHBALD

lin, and Attorney John F. Murphy were appointed file cterks.

The unwieldy bookform shape of the returns and the large list of candidates makes the work of counting the vote very slow and at adjournment yesterday there were only twenty-five districts out of 150 in the county counted. As far as they have gone the discrepancies between the sealed and open returns have been slight. The totals will not deviate perceptibly from those published in yesterday's Tribune.

His Removal Recommend to Council by Mayor Bailey Last Night. As indicated in yesterday's Tribune, Mayor Balley has dismissed from the fire department William T. Sproats, permanent man at the Franklin En-gine house. The mayor called Sproats in yesterday morning and asked him to resign Sproats refused and when in yesterday morning and asked him to resign. Sproats refused and when the mayor told him he could consider himself discharged he avowed "Not much; I'll fight you in councils." That he might begin his "fight" ear-ly the mayor sent in his removal to se-lect council last night. It was contained in the following communica-

KELLEY PLACED UNDER ARREST
When Chief of Police Robing and Patrolman Neuis went to the house at 3 o'clock last night to arrest Kelley
they found him asleep on a rude bed
in a room adjoining where his wife lay.
He got up and, rubbing his eyes and his bloated face, asked them what was wanted. They said he would be taken to the police station on a warrant alleging that he beat his wife, and that he would have to remain incarcerated until the coroner would determine what was the cause of her death.
He shook his head to the right and left and said he had nothing to do with what caused her death, that the marks on her face were from falling down stairs, but he was willing to go with the officers, and he quietly submitted to arrest. They took him to the city hall and locked him up.
It was through Mrs. W. B. Duggan agent of the Board of Associated Charities, that the case came to the notice of the police. Patrick Roche, of Orchard street, the dead woman's brother, called on Mrs. Duggan early in the afsternoon and said there was a woman lying at the point of death at 221 Pittston avenue and there was a house full of methods and which and the representatives of the various Remeeting and no poening it said it had been suggested that a demonstration be held in honor of Tuesday's victory and the representatives of the various Reheld in honor of Tuesday's victory and heid in honor of Tuesday's victory and the representatives of the various Re-publican clubs had been called together to decide whether or not such a step was advisable. He was of the opinion that the demonstration, if held at all, should be at once.

On motion of E. D. Swartz it was decided to have a parade and another motion made by George W. Brown fixed Saturday night as the time. Colonel E. H. Ripple was afterwards selected as grand marshal, with power to name his

KEENE AS RICHARD III.

Deserves a Better Support Than Is Now with Him.

An audience of more than fair pro-portions considering the bad weather, witnessed the "Richard the III" last night of Thomas W. Keene and a company that was too small and too incapable to properly support so eminent a tragedian. With the inferior support the small amount of special scenery that showed the effects of wear and a woeful absence of settings, the pro-duction fared but poorly, even with that tinge of novelty which features Keene's interpretation of the royal butcher. Keene's portrayal of the victous duke whose series of murderers was a path-way to the English throne has always been a radical departure from that de-picted by Booth, Irving and other fin-ished tragedians. He has slightly increased rather than confined himself to his depiction of Richard as a fashion-plate and one who sought to hide his physical and moral hideousness in ugly humor and fancy dress. Keene's aud-lences must recently have specially applauded whatever there was of Richard's coarse wit and neglected the deeper thought of the character; at least such was indicated by the actor's reception last night, the audience seeming to appreciate the lighter vein of Richard and not his seriousness But it is unfair to suggest anything unfavorable to Keene in his present company. He is, though, blainly beneath his proper sphere and cannot ex-pect to command the econdums his talent deserves until he improves the tone of his surroundings.

Among his support none are well known save the elderly Mrs. Baker, who appeared as Duchezs of York, Richard's mother. Lawrence Lowell, a young actor of promise, essayed the role of Buckingham very creditably as did Mary Timberman that of Eliza-beth, queen to King Edward IV. Not as much can be said of the others. Charles B. Hanford did not particularly distinguish himself as the Earl

The flames were prevented and Saturday night was therefore selected.

It is hard to tell at this writing the full extent of the damage. All over the centre of the town trees and outhouses have been blown down and buildings have been damaged. Lally's hotel, on the public square, has suffered severely and nearly every pane of glass in the place has been broken.

In falling, the spire of the German church struck J. J. Scanlon's hotel and damaged it somewhat. Near the Catholic church on the east side of the river many trees and fences were blown many trees and fences were blown down. Continuing on its tour of de-struction the cyclone ran into the White Oak culm heap and sent clouds of coal dust high in the air.
Anthony Murphy, of the Eldge road,

He was passing in front of the Lutheran church when the gale struck it and he had a narrow escape from death. The brick and slate, he says, were falling on every side of him and he was in terrible peril.

MR. MURPHY'S EXPERIENCE. Mr. Murphy was on his way home from the store with a new hat when he came in contact with the wind. He held the hat tightly in his hand while the gale was fiercest and when it passed over there was nothing left of the hat but the ribbon and brim. The rest of was blown away. Mr. Torrey holds that the license is a personal privilege and can not be peddled any more than can a liquor license or any other like privilege. A licensed auctioneer, however, according to Mr. Torrey's view, need not confine himself to one
