Thursday night a man came to the station house in an excited manner and told the officers that several men and women were engaged in a fight in his house, on North Main avenue. A squad of policemen, headed by Lieutenant Spellman, immediately repaired to the house and found Mrs. Morgan Powell, the wife of the man who informed the police, bleeding profusely from a severe gash on her head, inflicted with a knife in the hands of Mrs. Kittle Williams, a well known character in police circles. After summoning a physician the policemen went in pursuit of the would-be murderer, and after a short search discovered her in the rear of Rev. D. M. Kinter's residence, whither she had gone to hide. She and her husband were locked up until yesterday morning, when they Thursday night a man came to the until yesterday morning, when they were taken before Alderman Fidler, who released them upon the payment

DUNMORE.

A meeting of the council took place Thursday evening, and as was expected was quite lively. The chief topic of the evening was the acceptance of bids for the lighting of the borough bids for the lighting of the borough which had been placed in the hands of the electric light committee. Two bids were handed in, one from the Suburban Electric Light company for $90 a light per year, and the other from the Dunmore Electric Light, Heat and Power company, for $85 a light per year, with an agreement to light the borough building and fire company houses free of charge The report of the borough building and fire company houses free of charge The report of the committee was, that they had deemed it advisable, to reject the bid of the Dunmore Electric Light, Heat and Power company. Chairman Haggerty then arose and asked Mr. Medway to take the chair and proceeded to tell the committee, that they had errd in their report, as all the members at a previous meeting, had voted on advertising for five year bids, and that the contract be awarded to the lowest bidder. Mr Haggerty stated that one company Mr Haggerty stated that one company agreed to furnish the lights for $85 a year, and the other company wanted $96. Still they wanted to reject the bids $90. Still they wanted to reject the bids and continue to pay $91.25 a year, where they could save $500 a year. He denounced it very strongly, saying it was not only an outrage to the council, but also to the taxpayers of Dunmore, in whose interests they were supposed to be working. He felt sure that the people would object to this way of doing business. Burgess Duggan then spoke He thought the council should continue with the plans first adopted; that is, when they had advertised bids for a five year contract to adopted; that is, when they had advertised bids for a five year contract to the lowest bidder, they should not try to buildoze the people by rejecting a bid that was the lowest and would save the borough $5 annually on every light. "I object" he said, "as the burgess, as a citizen and as a taxpayer to awarding the contract to the Suburban Electric Light company." He went on to state that the above company had to awarding the contract to the ban Electric Light company." He went on to state that the above company had been doing for the past nine years, and after a hot two hours debate Mr Ward after a not two hours debate Mr Ward an amendment to the motion.

The same privileges that the same privileges offered an amendment to the motion, instructing the secretary to communicate with both companies and request them to re-bid on a five year contract. All favored the amendment with the exception of Mr Medway. The street commissioners time abeet amounted to $225.53, and the chief of police's time sheet to $90. Burgess Duggan notified the council that he had received a communication from the Dime Bank, stating that the borough account had been overdrawn to the amount of $3,700, and if same was not paid within ten days, action will be brought against the borough. Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Now that the people of this country have made 'manifest by their popular vote, that it is protection that is needed to advance the interests and welfare of our land, and that the moneyed powers that be have sworn to protect the working man and do everything in their power to further his interests; I think that they cannot start any too soon to put some of their theories in the protect the working man and do everything in their power to further his interests; I think that they cannot start any too soon to put some of their theories in the protect and the first thing I would suggest is; that as charity begins at home, they start right here in dustries against outside cheap and illing trade have a great deal to complain of. The carpenter's wages are being cut down, our mills are not being run to one-quarter their can be done at home, and of complain of. The carpenter's wages are being cut down, our mills are not being run to one-quarter their can be done at home, and on account of the home mechanics at that.) lower wages than some laborers are getting in Scranton, send work into our city and put it up cheaper than it can be done at home and on account of the home mechanics having nothing to do in his own shoot, they hire him at their own pauper terms to put their work up for them. We have to live, but we would like it to be known that we have not spent our whole lifetime learning a trade and then in the end get no more renumer attion for our work than the common laborer. The carpenter who has there it is one than the control of the carpenter is a control of the carpen then in the end get no more renumer-ation for our work than the common laborer. The carpenter who has thor-oughly learned his trade can and oughly learned his trade can and should be classed with the other professions. A doctor in Scranton not long ago told me that he was entitled to more pay for his work than a mechanic. He said, we should take into account the money expended upon his education; then he had to spend three years in a hospital so that he should be thoroughly conversant with the practical side of his profession. Now then, the practical carpenter or machinist, or any other first-class mechanic has to He said, we should take into account the money expended upon his education; then he had to spend three years in a hospital so that he should be thoroughly conversant with the practical side of his profession. Now then, the practical carpenter or machinist, or any other first-class mechanic has to serve from five to seven years apprenticeship for which he receives practically nothing. After his time is out he starts in for himself, thinking he knows it all but very soon finds out that he has only just begun. This I am afraid is the case with many of our professional gentlemen also. Then (if he ever intends to excell at his business) comes a life of continuous his business) comes a life of continuous study until after about twenty years of this he becomes known as a pretty than the man who never studied five minutes in his life.

A prominent contractor in Scranton told me only a few weeks ago that he was perfectly well aware of the fact that the carpenters and other mechan-ies of Scranton were ill-paid and that ics of Scranton were ill-paid and that they should get at least one-third more than they are getting at the present time, and he himself would be willing to pay it if it was possible to do so, but they cannot on account of outside competition and contractors figuring down so close that it is impossible to make any profit on the material used. Therefore, whatever profit is gained is Therefore, whatever profit is gained is made out of the bone and sinew of labor and the only way this can be done is by cutting down labor's wages to the lowest point possible. Therefore, we ask for and claim the protection that has been promised us so profusely of late by the powers that be late by the powers that be.

Here let me tell some of these people who have had, or are about to have. work done by these out of town people, that the work can be done right here in Scranton as well, if not better, and I scranton as well, it not better, and I am sure much cheaper in the long run. The cost to them will be the same anyhow for the only people who will make anything out of it are the contractors who have not the milling facilities to get the work out themselves, and who sublet this part of their work to these out of town people regardless of the fact that by so doing they are doing a great injustice to the home manufacturer and mechanic, and often the ar-chitect, through whose influence the work is given to the outsider.

Now, the people of Scranton who have the money to build these houses, made it right here, and they should, as far as possible, spend it here, I have a great many names of people who have through their neglect and indifference no doubt allowed their work to go out of town. Some of them are the most prominent citizens of Scranton. I am sorry to say, but I think that if the situation was brought plainly before them that some of them at least would never countenance it, but would have it inserted in their contracts that all the work, where possible, should be done by home firms and I would suggest union labor. If you want a good job employ none but union men and you will get it. This state of affairs does not apply only to the building trades. It is the same in almost any business you could mention. You build yourself a new house; you then will take a trip to New York and ransack that city and pay exorbitant pricthem that some of them at least would sack that city and pay exorbitant prices for furniture and carpets to furnish it with. After you return home and are settled down, you find that you could be better suited and could have bought your goods much cheaper right here in Scranton. This I know to be a fact. I can quote an instance where there was about two thousand dollars' worth of carpet bought in New York for a certain residence in Scran-ton. After it was laid the greater part of it was taken up and carpets which gave better satisfaction were pur-chased at home and laid in place of it. Take groceries again. People who can afford it will send to New York and other out of town cities for their teas, sugar, coffees and canend goods, think-ing they are better and cheaper than that sold in Scranton, but I can answer you it is not so. If you would only go to your merchant with your order, tell him what you want and pay him the same that you pay the out of town peo-ple, I am sure he will furnish you with as good, if not a better, article for your

as good, it not a better, article for your money.

Therefore you will see that it becomes us to protect ourselves before we gegin to protect others. What is the interest of one is the interest of all, and that by protecting one branch of our industries we will do much towards protecting the others. Our city is a growing city, in which we should all take great pride, and we should do everything in our power to keep up its everything in our power to keep up its reputation. And to thoroughly do that we should advocate the protection of our home manufactures and merchants, see that labor is paid a fair day's pay according to its worth, so that the me-chanic can educate his children and keep such a home as becomes a resident of this proud city of ours. Why should individual concerned in this matter take an active part in protecting home industry, and I am sure it will tend to the welfare of us all.
