THE SALVATION ARMY. The Salvation Army is actively engaged in preparing for its annual self-denial week, which takes place throughout the United States from for the past month has swung on Main throughout the United States from Nov. 16 to Nov. 22 inclusive. Large sums of money have been raised in past years, and it is a wonderful testimony to the army's development and activity. Each member of the army, as well as the friends of its many social institutions, are asked to abstain from all luxuries, and in many cases officers and soldiers have actually determined to do without certain articies. officers and soldiers have actually de-termined to do without certain articles of food which are ordinarily consid-ered necessary in order that by their acts of self-denial they may add fin-ancial support to the army and its many different branches of work. The social operations throughout America have been greatly developed during the past twelve months. New "Food and Shelters" have been opened in New York, San Francisco and Kansas City. As a natural consequence, therefore, the demands upon the army's funds have increased, and this will require still greater effort to raise a corresponding increased amount during this special self-denial week. The total aimed at is $40,000.

When she returned the Bing-hamton citizen had disappeared. So had two gold watches belonging to Mrs. Kurtz. William Brown, who boards at Mr. Kurtz's, saw the young man walk through the rear door and cross the belaware and Hudson freight yard, in Pelaware and Hudson freight yard, in the direction of the Von Storch culm dump. SOUTH SIDE NEWS.

Board of Trade Will Meet Tomorrow Night---Rumor That the South Works Will Resume Monday.

An effort will be made to get a quorum of the board of trade to-mor-row night and hold a meeting. It is a long time since a meeting was held, and a quorum of members got together would, indeed, be a cure for sore eyes. The decadence of the board began when P. W. Gallagher retired from the posi-tion of secretary. When he occupied that position he was full of hustle and business, and he carried the most of the work on his shoulders.

The board had been so used to having him do so much that one member began to rely on another after he left, and the result was that chaos soon assumed control. One by one the active mem-bers left it, and it stands to-day only a mere shadow of its former greatness. It is to be hoped that the attempt at reinvigoration will prove a success, and that the board once more will become a power for good.

The abutments for the new bridge over the Roaring Brook on Remington avenue, are completed, and work on the bridge proper will begin in a few days. The Casey & Kelly Brewing Company is doing the work.

The need of an electric light in the centre of the Roaring Brook bridge is felt by every person who walks or drives over it after dark, particularly since the street car began running over it. A light is needed for two reasons, to let people see where they are going, and to make the bridge a place where highwaymen cannot operate with sucnighwaymen cannot operate with suc-cess. There is not a more sultable place within the city to hold a man up than on the bridge at present. New stock of elegant wall paper and paints at Borcher's, 713 Cedar ave. **

THE GREAT DIAMOND ROBBERY.

Greatest of All Melodramas at the Academy Last Night. The fame which "The Great Dia-mond Robbery" has attained makes it superfluous to comment on it, except by way of contrasting its presenta-tion last night with its production here one year ago, when it gave Scranton theater-goers such a great and agreeable surprise.

This year three of the women who created the leading roles are not with the company, and the play, it must be confessed, has suffered some there-by. Rose Eytinge does not so ration-ally fit the part of "Madame Rosenbaum" as did Janauschek, but she undoubtedly fills the gap as well as could any one clse. The "Mrs. Bulford," of Selene Johnson, suffers none by comparison with the character as created by Miss Lawrence of last year's east, and will, to the minds of many, be considered an improvement. Louise Closser, who succeeds Maud Banks as the heroine "Mary Lavelot," is also quite as acceptable as her predecessor, her avoidance of the strongly emotional where it was nossible instead of inwhere it was possible, instead of injecting it at every opportunity, which was Miss Banks' only divergence. Mrs. Annie Yeamans and Fanny Cohen a however, still with the company, and this is almost absolutely necessary, for it would be scarcely possible for any one besides them to fill their peculiar

The male stars of the company are about the same as last y'ear and it is safe to say no melodrama ever had such a galaxy. W. A. Whitecar, Thos. M. Hunter, Joseph E. Whiting and George C. Boniface are some of them. Their names are sufficient. Others in the company who fill the minor roles to perfection are J. H. Cossar, Gustave Frankel, Joseph A. Wilkes, James Bevans and Edward Ames; and among The male stars of the company are the women, Ellen Cummings and Irene Hayward.

The great climax in the fifth act set the audience wild as usual. Fourtimes the audience demanded the appearance of the participants. The "Great Diamond Robbery" will be repeated this evening at the Academy. peated this evening at the Academy of Music.
