The watchman at the Lackawanna Knitting mills at 7.30 last evening dis-covered fire in the bleaching house and he promptly sent in an alarm by tele-phone to the Century Hose company. phone to the Century Hose company. That company immediately started for the mills, and a few minutes later an alarm was sent in from box 58 at the corner of Cherry street and Remington avenue, bringing the Neptune and Wil-liam Connell companies out. But there is a hose carriage at the mills, and the men employed on the night shift got it out and got a stream on the blaze. Chief Hickes was quickly on the scene and under his direction the flames were quickly subdued. The entire loss will not exceed prob-ably $50. That was the statement made
