

Norman & Moore

FIRE INSURANCE,

120 Wyoming Ave.

WHY SEND YOUR LACE CURTAINS
OUT OF THE CITY TO BE LAUNDERED?

Special facilities with artistic manipulators of the art warrants your patronage at home.

The Lackawanna

308 Penn Avenue. A. B. WARMAN.

Watch
This Space
For Our Opening Ad.
Of Our New Store.

Williams & McNulty

Carpets, Draperies and Wall Paper.

127 WYOMING AVE.

CITY NOTES.

The tandem in the window of Bittender & Co. will be drawn Saturday evening, Nov. 14 at 8 o'clock.

John Boyle O'Reilly Council of the Young Men's Institute will conduct its annual social in Selig's on Thanksgiving eve.

The building committee of the board of control met last night, considered a grading project about No. 16 school and transacted matters of routine.

The Delaware and Hudson Canal company yesterday paid its employees at the White Oak colliery, Archbald, and its train men south of Scranton.

The South Scranton Basket ball team would like to play any basket ball team in Scranton at any time. Frank Sweet, manager; James Marion, captain.

Judge Edwards will today in the federal court room hear the evidence for and against the petition asking for the erection of the new borough of Tyne.

The will of Mary Burns, late of Scranton, was yesterday admitted to probate by Register Hopkins, and letters testamentary granted to the son William F. Burns.

A piece of falling coal inflicted a painful scalp wound on John Flaherty, a young, unmarried laborer at the Bellevue mine, yesterday. He was cared for at the Moses Taylor hospital.

Court, yesterday, authorized Harry E. Race, guardian of Eunice, M. Robinson and Floyd Robinson, minor children of William H. Robinson, late of Elmhurst, to sell their interest in their father's real estate.

John Mirchinsky and Annie Baraltz, of Olyphant; John Bullock and Lena Swankick, of Scranton; Richard Sanderson and Cora E. Everett, of Peckville, were granted marriage licenses yesterday by Clerk of the Courts John H. Thomas.

On Sunday evening Rev. Dr. McLeod will deliver at the First Presbyterian church a stirring sermon upon "Martin Luther, the Great Reformer and Noble Hero." The fact that 1896 is the 400th anniversary of Luther's death will give some measure of pertinency to this address.

The tenth annual ball of the Scranton Typographical union in Excelsior hall on Thanksgiving eve promises to be a social event of considerable importance. Lawrence's orchestra will furnish the music and handsome programmes will be distributed. The admission tickets will be $1.

The Wilkes-Barre foot ball team last evening notified Manager Daniel Gelbert, of the Scranton team, that they would not play in Scranton today because they were not in condition. There will be a game at the park, however. Scranton will line up against the School of Lackawanna, Business college and St. Thomas' college teams.

Save Doctor's Bills
By wearing modern Hosiery, in cold weather. Every person should have their feet and ankles protected with warm stockings. We have Woolen Hosiery, which considering the wear, are cheaper than cotton. Ladies' fine Ribbed Hose, only 25c; Children's extra warm hose, 20c to 25c; Men's Cashmere Hose, 25c. Ask to see them.

MEARS & HAGEN.

FATHER M'ANDREW'S CONDITION.

Hopes of His Recovery Were Abandoned Last Night.

Rev. James E. McAndrew, whose serious illness was noted in yesterday's Tribune, continued to fall yesterday, and last night his condition was extremely critical.

Last night hopes of his recovery were abandoned.

THE SCRANTON BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The attendance grows larger daily. Buck Whitmore & Co. do not organize branch schools. They think it pays best to devote their whole time and attention to one school.

Reese Lewis was this week sent to a stenographic position with one of Scranton's best known firms. Reese is quite a "hustler."

Mr. Fred Carpenter, bookkeeper and stenographer, informs us that he has recently made a change for the better.

A business college conducted by men who have spent the greater part of a life time in preparing for such work, and who employ only experienced teachers, is bound to be a success. The S. B. C. is a good example—no student-teachers employed there.

The November number of the Western Penman contains an excellent likeness of Prof. O. F. Amburn. The editor says: "Since September Prof. Amburn has been teaching in the Scranton Business college, one of the largest business training schools in the East."

Special attention and private dining rooms for dinner parties at Lohmann's, Spruce street. Service and cuisine unequalled in this city.

Dr. McDowell, dentist, 240 Adams avenue.

Take Advantage of the low prices on watches, clocks, brace-a-brace, etc., at the great auction sale of Davidson Bros.

ANOTHER MURDER ON BUNKER HILL

Rocco Salvatore Dies from a Wound
Inflicted by Francesco Dambrosio.

MURDERER FLED TO THE MOUNTAIN

Frank Chippiano, with Whom the Men Boarded, Tells a Story of the Stabbing That Is Not Borne Out by the Appearance of the Body—Salvatore Figured Conspicuously in the Murder of Frank Conforti in 1894.

Within a stone's throw of the spot where Frank Conforti was murdered on Sunday evening, Nov. 11, 1894, Rocco Salvatore, who figured prominently in that case, was murdered at 6:30 o'clock last evening by being stabbed in the right breast with a stiletto. The deed was done by Francesco Dambrosio, and after committing it he escaped to the mountains.

Salvatore and Dambrosio boarded with Frank Chippiano in Bunker Hill. The latter was seated at the supper table, when Salvatore came in. Chippiano said that Salvatore was under the influence of liquor and that he was drunk. Salvatore told him to shut up so that he could eat his supper in peace and that the response only served to make Salvatore more angry.

After quieting down Salvatore drank for 10 cents worth of beer and sent it, refusing to share it with any of those in the house. When Dambrosio went through eating the argument was resumed and it led to a scuffle between the men. Both pulled out knives, Chippiano said, and his wife ran between them and implored them to do nothing desperate. He also asked them to put away their blades and Dambrosio answered him that he had better and his own business or he might get something he was least expecting.

SALVATORE STRUCK FIRST.
For fear of getting hurt he stepped aside and let them at each other. Salvatore struck the first blow, he said, with his knife and Dambrosio got it in the middle of the back. No sooner did Salvatore raise his knife to strike the second blow than Dambrosio made a swift lunge and sent his blade through the center of Salvatore's chest as soon as he did it, he ran out the door and Salvatore, bleeding, followed him. Both ran straight out through the unoccupied front of the house and into the street when Salvatore reached a spot about 100 yards from the door he fell down on a heap of dead leaves.

Dambrosio kept on running and went into the house of Frank Chippiano and went to the so-called street, where he tarried long enough to have the blood wiped from him and some landings put on his wounds. Then he made his escape to the mountains.

This is the story that Chippiano tells, and Pippo Dambrosio, a cousin of the fugitive murderer, Pasquale Dambrosio, Joseph Lorenzo, and Joseph Rocco, four of his boarders religiously stick to the same version.

When Coroner Longstreet arrived and an examination of the body was made, the case took on a new complexion. Immediately after Salvatore's death, and as soon as it was ascertained that he had been stabbed in the body where it was, and he went to the office of Justice of the Peace Robert A. Scott, gave the information and swore out a warrant for Dambrosio.

BODY WAS UNDISTURBED.

He asked "Squire Scott what I do with the body. The 'squire told him to cover it over with a sheet or blanket and see that no one disturbed it until Coroner came. The warrant was placed in the hands of Constable Frank Williams, of the Tenth ward, of this city. Mr. Williams is an Italian, and has been a constable for a special officer in Dunmore.

When Coroner Longstreet arrived, after examining a jury, he proceeded to make an examination of the body with the aid of two lamps. It was lying on its back, inclined toward the right side, the left leg was crossed over the right, and the body was lying on its left hand. The left hand was extended at right angles with the body.

What would have been the result of the story told by Chippiano is the fact that in the right hand was clutched a plain wooden pipe, the stem sticking out between the first and second fingers, and the little finger bent into it. The pockets were searched, and no weapon of any kind was found except the ordinary jack knife, and all the blades of that were shut.

VALUABLES ON THE BODY.

In the right hand pocket of the vest was a valuable new gold watch and a handsome gold chain was attached to it. In the left hand pocket there was a silver watch and a silver chain, and in the right hand pocket there was a pocketbook containing a 10-dollar bill, and in the same pocket was a 10-cent piece, the knife already mentioned, two small keys, a detached postal card with Italian writing on it.

In his coat pockets he had a lead pencil, another postal card, a paper tobacco, a snuff-box made out of the dried rind of a lemon, and two letters. On his left hand he had two gold rings, and on his right hand a gold ring set with an emerald.

There was a strong beard of about three-weeks' growth on his face. The eyes were wide open and the black pupils were looking as if there was life in them still. The lips were closely compressed and the lines of agony on his face indicated that he had suffered intense pain.

Coroner Longstreet said that death was swift and sure. Everything pointed to the fact that there was no truth in what Chippiano tells. The black suit of clothes, the collar and tie and white shirt in no way indicated that there was the scuffle that he spoke about. The collar was not disturbed, the tie was properly in place, and every button of the vest was closed. The watch chains were pendant from the first and second buttonholes.

CLOTHING SOAKED WITH BLOOD.

There was a rip an inch wide in the vest near the first button hole. The shirt was in the same condition, and it was saturated with blood. The red undershirt was soggy with blood, and when the coroner removed that the wound in the breast was large enough to admit his underfinger to the knuckle point. The stiletto just grazed the breast bone and passed between the ribs two inches from the right nipple. It sunk into the right lung.

Coroner Longstreet after making this examination sent word to Undertaker T. P. Letchworth, of Dunmore, to come and remove the remains to his establishment. This was done. The coroner conducted an autopsy at the undertaking rooms and was assisted in the work by Dr. J. P. Garvey, of Dunmore, and Dr. E. M. Pennypacker. The jury empaneled consists of A. E. Vozzi, O. M. Custard, John T. Brown, Robert A. Scott, Chief of Police P. J. Haley, and Officer M. E. Dolphin. The jury will meet next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the arbitration room of the court house to take testimony.

Constable Frank Williams, an Italian special, both of whom know Dambrosio, searched all of the Italian houses of Bunker Hill for the murderer, and at midnight another search was made through the place by Police Haley and Officers Dolphin, McGrail, Biglin and Bolgar.

DESCRIPTION OF MURDERER.

Dambrosio was dressed in blue overalls, a greenish jacket which was once brown, but faded, and he has very black hair, eyes and mustache. There is a peculiarity about his nose which may lead to his detection. It is twisted to one side. His face is broad and is covered over with small pimples. He weighs about 150 pounds.

He is married and has a wife and four children in Italy. He came to this country two years ago and spent his time in Dunmore until last summer, when he went to New Jersey and worked for Burke Bros., the contractors. He returned about two months ago and boarded since with Chippiano but did no work. He is 23 years old.

Salvatore is about 25 years old, unmarried, and came to this country six or seven years ago. He worked at the Columbia colliery on North Washington avenue, but was not at work yesterday. It is a singular thing that two years ago almost to the day, Conforti was murdered not more than 200 yards from the spot where Salvatore fell, and Salvatore was one of the three, the two others being Antonio Imbriano and Joseph Dambrosio, who were arrested for the murder. But the grand jury indicted only Imbriano and Salvatore and Imbriano was one of the three principal witnesses against him, John Myran being the other one.

DARK AND BLOODY SPOT.
Less than 200 feet from where Salvatore fell another murder was committed five years ago, when an Italian named John Gendro met his death. There isn't a more forbidding habitation in Lackawanna county than Bunker Hill, and that characteristic has been accentuated by the bloody deeds committed in it.

It is situated on a high cliff above the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and Erie & Wyoming Valley railroads, and the black and desolate looking background of cleared mountain behind it makes it anything but a pleasant place to live.

FIRST FALL OF SNOW.

It Made a Business-Like Appearance from the West.

Yesterday witnessed the season's first fall of snow in Scranton. For an hour early in the afternoon there was a whirling, swirling sweep of the beautiful, accompanied by high wind from the West, and a drop in the temperature. The wind blew with such force during a half hour of the flurry as to suggest the rage of a general storm which had been prevailing in the West.

Throughout the afternoon evidences of the blow and snow were plastered on the western surface of every perpendicular thing. The storm was too brief, however, to interfere with any kind of traffic, though the streets were left with a white and blinding of muck that made pedestrianism anything but pleasant.

Colder weather is predicted for today.

The meteoric shower which the prophets promised would light the heavens during the night had not appeared when the first snow came.

The only peculiarity of the weather was its increasing cold. If the meteors existed, they could be only seen with telescopes.

DISPLACING THE HUMBLE MULE.

New Device That Decreases Its Usefulness at the Coal Breaker.

That a large coal breaker can be worked advantageously without employing either mules or men, seems impossible, but by the end of next week, when the improvements, now under way at the Delaware & Hudson Racket Brook breaker, are completed, the five mules which pull the cutters will be removed to some other colliery and the driver boys, who have charge of them and are the only miners employed in or about the colliery, will have to seek new jobs.

The Link Belt Engineering company, of Philadelphia, are constructing a "Continuous Flight conveyor" at the breaker, which will transfer the culm from the chutes direct to the culm pile. The conveyor consists of a steel lined trough, which is twenty inches wide and about ten inches deep, built on trestle work at an inclination of 34 inches to the foot. The culm from the chutes drops into this trough, and is forced along it by pieces of steel called flights, which snugly fit into the trough. The flights are twenty inches wide and eight inches high. They are held in place by rollers, and are driven by a new forty-horse power engine has been placed in the breaker for the purpose of running the conveyor.

Power from the engine is transmitted to the conveyor by means of a manilla rope. The transmission of power by this means in account of its many desirable qualities, rapidly coming to general use, and is displacing rubber and leather belts, and in many cases shafting and gears.—Carbonade Herald.

DISTURBED THE HARMONY.

Dropping of a Curtain in Mears' Hall Did Mischief.

While a dance was being conducted last evening in Mears' hall, the heavy curtain fell, and several members of the Crescent orchestra who were seated upon the stage, Robert Steiner, cornetist, had his instrument to his lips when the black curtain struck it. Steiner had several teeth knocked out and his lips were split.

The fall of the curtain was caused by the senseless prank of some young men who loosened the ropes. The fall was conducted by William J. Morgan, and the curtain dropped on the scene at 9:30 o'clock.

STORRS' SHAFT DISASTER.

Jury Will Meet Monday Night to Hear Testimony.

Coroner Longstreet, at Dickson City, Thursday night, empaneled a jury to investigate the cause of the death of Williams, Pimble and Solinsky, the men who were fatally burned in the Storrs' shaft, No. 1.

After viewing the bodies the jury adjourned to meet Monday night at Dickson City, when testimony will be heard.

DYNAMITER ARRANGED.

Edward J. Ivory, Alias Edward Bell, in the Bow Street Police Court.

London, Nov. 13.—Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell, the alleged Irish-American dynamiter, was again arraigned in the Bow Street police court this morning and subsequently removed for trial.

In accordance with the prisoner's previous request, the judge of the American citizen, Mr. Carter, representing the United States embassy, was present to watch the proceedings.

Republican Headquarters.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 13.—In an interview with a United Associated Press reporter today, Chairman M. A. Hanna said that permanent Republican headquarters will be established at Washington, that Chicago headquarters will be closed within a week and that New York headquarters will be closed Jan. 1.

Patrons of Husbandry.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The morning session of the National Grand Patrons of Husbandry was devoted to a continuation of the hearing of reports of the state masters. Tomorrow the delegates will be received at the executive mansion.

Vandalism Has a Receiver.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13.—A receiver was appointed for the Vandala system this evening.

New Coin Toe.

Shoes are the noblest thing out. You have style, grace and wear in this shoe for $2.00 and $3.00 a pair. 5 Brothers' Shoe store, 508 Lackawanna avenue.

"NOW WILLING TO LIVE."

The Well Known New York Merchant, David Hirsch, Finds Health in Paine's Celery Compound.

With the return of cool weather hosts of men and women who relied on their summer vacation to make them strong and well came home still tired, with a nervous and depressed by the thought of the months of hard work ahead.

Their overwrought nerves and bodies today demand something more than a mere rest. Their blood needs to be swept of its impurities and the entire nervous organization reinforced and built up by a genuine invigorator before good appetite will wait on digestion and health on both.

The bracing weather of November, with debilitating summer past, and the severity of winter not yet arrived, is the very best time for recruiting the strength and getting rid of disease. Contrast the healthy, well nourished appearance of persons who have taken Paine's celery compound with their former bloodless, nervous, drowsy condition! Men and women getting along in years find a remarkable increase in vigor and a brighter, more cheerful state of mind from the use of this great remedy.

Don't move along and submit to indigestion, liver disorder, constipation, headache, rheumatism, Paine's celery compound will make you strong and keep you so. Its nourishing, health-making virtues have been so carefully ascertained and so exactly fitted to the needs of the tired, exhausted body, that its work does not have to be done after it. It cures heart palpitation and the weakness, feeds the nervous system so sleep becomes natural and refreshing, promotes an increased appetite, and furnishes the nervous force to enable the body to convert the food into solid flesh and blood.

Of all the means that medical skill has ever discovered for recruiting the exhausted energy of the worn-out system, Paine's celery compound is far in advance. The pallid face, the pinched features, the growing thinness and the nervous movements that tell the story of badly impoverished nerves and brain—all these forebodings of approaching disease disappear with the profound nourishing that Paine's celery compound always provides throughout the body, even to the minutest nerve filaments and blood capillaries.

David Hirsch, the well-known Broadway merchant, New York city, writes as follows to Wells, Richardson & Co.:

"I am advocating Paine's celery compound among my many friends, because it has done me so much good in a very short space of time. I have been suffering for years from indigestion and all its consequent ills, sleeplessness included. I had lost about 30 pounds in weight, and was getting weaker and more nervous every day. I was unable to stand exertions of any kind, and I used convalesces for every short distance.

"After taking two bottles of Paine's celery compound I feel in every respect better, stronger, more cheerful and willing to live. I will certainly never forget the effects of Paine's celery compound upon my system, and I wish to state that I am now past 68 years of age. I have traveled most all over the world, and now I feel I can keep on doing it and also enjoy it."

Paine's celery compound has done as much for thousands of others.

WILLIAMS' COLLEGE NOTES.

The young people of the debating society are to hold a public meeting at the college halls next Friday evening, and about 100 persons are expected to attend. The programme will be presented after which all go with friends to Excelsior Hall for enjoyable festivities. A grand time is expected.

Miss Essie M. Will, one of our most earnest and worthy girls, takes a responsible position in the school of mines.

Mr. Halstead enjoys his station on the D. & H. R. R., and will succeed. Class work is thorough every day, and examinations prove the successful study of the large classes.

Several new people entered this week—three of them from the country. Prof. Barney returns to his work on Monday after a brief illness. His popularity has been his absence felt all the more.

General school work was never better done or attended with results more satisfactory to pupils and teachers. Lectures this week on Arbitration and Life Insurance.

THEIR LAST NIGHT.

Your Last Opportunity to See the Automatic Exhibition.

Tonight's exhibition closes the visit of the wonderful automatic "Swiss Village." Since it opened here it has been visited by the leading families of Scranton, many of whom have been there time and again. It is a wonderful exhibition of mechanical skill. The average man can scarcely comprehend that it is all the result of one man's patient labor and brilliant genius. The scenes are a constant succession of surprises from the moment one enters till the last object has been inspected. The gentlemen in charge are mainly fellows and made hosts of friends while here.

LAWYERS

Who have cases of great length to print need not hesitate to place the copy in our hands for printing. One hundred pages a day can be easily set at our office, and the inconvenience of having to read a few pages at a time is readily removed. Send for our representative if you have not time to call at the office.

SCRANTON TRIBUNE.

Every Watch Purchased

at Davidson Bros' great auction sale is guaranteed to keep correct time. All watches have been looked over before putting them on sale.

Harding's China Store.

Lamp opening today and Monday. Also our full import of China and Bohemian glass in a wide design.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25 cents.

Watch for the White Wagons.

Our work is always thoroughly washed, nicely starched, beautifully ironed. Crystal Laundry.

Twining, optician 125 Penn avenue, in Harris' drug store. Hours 9 a. m., 5 p. m.

Miss Carolyn V. Dorsey, teacher of elocution, oratory and diction, 424 Adams avenue.

Opening.

A dainty line of Children's Coats at the Baby Bazaar, 512 Spruce street.

to enable the body to convert the food into solid flesh and blood.

Of all the means that medical skill has ever discovered for recruiting the exhausted energy of the worn-out system, Paine's celery compound is far in advance. The pallid face, the pinched features, the growing thinness and the nervous movements that tell the story of badly impoverished nerves and brain—all these forebodings of approaching disease disappear with the profound nourishing that Paine's celery compound always provides throughout the body, even to the minutest nerve filaments and blood capillaries.

David Hirsch, the well-known Broadway merchant, New York city, writes as follows to Wells, Richardson & Co.:

"I am advocating Paine's celery compound among my many friends, because it has done me so much good in a very short space of time. I have been suffering for years from indigestion and all its consequent ills, sleeplessness included. I had lost about 30 pounds in weight, and was getting weaker and more nervous every day. I was unable to stand exertions of any kind, and I used convalesces for every short distance.

"After taking two bottles of Paine's celery compound I feel in every respect better, stronger, more cheerful and willing to live. I will certainly never forget the effects of Paine's celery compound upon my system, and I wish to state that I am now past 68 years of age. I have traveled most all over the world, and now I feel I can keep on doing it and also enjoy it."

Paine's celery compound has done as much for thousands of others.

WILLIAMS' COLLEGE NOTES.

The young people of the debating society are to hold a public meeting at the college halls next Friday evening, and about 100 persons are expected to attend. The programme will be presented after which all go with friends to Excelsior Hall for enjoyable festivities. A grand time is expected.

Miss Essie M. Will, one of our most earnest and worthy girls, takes a responsible position in the school of mines.

Mr. Halstead enjoys his station on the D. & H. R. R., and will succeed. Class work is thorough every day, and examinations prove the successful study of the large classes.

Several new people entered this week—three of them from the country. Prof. Barney returns to his work on Monday after a brief illness. His popularity has been his absence felt all the more.

General school work was never better done or attended with results more satisfactory to pupils and teachers. Lectures this week on Arbitration and Life Insurance.

THEIR LAST NIGHT.

Your Last Opportunity to See the Automatic Exhibition.

Tonight's exhibition closes the visit of the wonderful automatic "Swiss Village." Since it opened here it has been visited by the leading families of Scranton, many of whom have been there time and again. It is a wonderful exhibition of mechanical skill. The average man can scarcely comprehend that it is all the result of one man's patient labor and brilliant genius. The scenes are a constant succession of surprises from the moment one enters till the last object has been inspected. The gentlemen in charge are mainly fellows and made hosts of friends while here.

LAWYERS

Who have cases of great length to print need not hesitate to place the copy in our hands for printing. One hundred pages a day can be easily set at our office, and the inconvenience of having to read a few pages at a time is readily removed. Send for our representative if you have not time to call at the office.

SCRANTON TRIBUNE.

Every Watch Purchased

at Davidson Bros' great auction sale is guaranteed to keep correct time. All watches have been looked over before putting them on sale.

Harding's China Store.

Lamp opening today and Monday. Also our full import of China and Bohemian glass in a wide design.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25 cents.

Watch for the White Wagons.

Our work is always thoroughly washed, nicely starched, beautifully ironed. Crystal Laundry.

Twining, optician 125 Penn avenue, in Harris' drug store. Hours