Sensational Charge in Which Watson and Zimmerman Are Involved.

ZIMMERMAN'S STATEMENT

Allegation That $550 Was Used to Buy Off the Street Commissioner in His Opposition to the Night Lunch Wagons and That the Wagons Were Good for a "Fiver" Once in a While on a Holiday--The Manner in Which the Permits Were Allowed Explained by Attorney Zimmerman

Saturday night's session of the Kinsley inquiry developed the most sensa-tional feature of the investigation. It was the closing charge of the World's side of the case and it was the most serious of them all, inasmuch as it in volved not only the street commissi or, but his foreman George Perigo, the law firm of Watson & Zimmerman and indirectly the city councils. The ac-cusation in substance was that the pro-prietors of the night lunch wagons had to pay princely tribute to prevent their business from being closed up.

Mr. Newcomb upon reaching this phase of the case expressed a sort of phase of the case expressed a sort of regret that it was necessary for them to stir up such a hornets nest and said that if, when he first inserted this charge among the others, he knew as much as he did now, he would have hesitated to introduce the matter at all. The charge had been made, the witnesses were present and he could not do otherwise now than proceed to prove to otherwise now than proceed to prove

Aaron Goldberg was then called to the charge.

Aaron Goldberg was then called to the stand. He testified that he is the owner of one night lunch wagon and part owner in four others. When these wagons first came here he secured an wagons first came here he secured an annual permit for $15, paying $10 to the city and $5 as a fee to the street commissioner's department. The permits expired last March and he went to Mr. Kinsley to have them renewed. Mr. Kinsley refused to renew them and he went to Mayor Connell. Mayor Connell said he favored the wagons and would see Mr. Kinsley about the permits. He called on the mayor later and was directed to go to Mr. Kinsley and that he would secure the permits all right. Mr. Kinsley did not openly refuse to follow the directions of the mayor but instead told Goldberg to come around later; that he would look into the matter, when he could find time. Witness made repeated efforts to see Mr. Kinsley after this but could not get an audience with him. In April, some time after Mr. Balley be-came mayor, witness again went to see about the permits.

HE SAW PERIGO. He was directed to see the street commissioner but was unable to find him. George Perigo was in the office and he teld witness not to be bothering Mr. Kinsley about the permits as Kinsley was opposed to the wagons and could not be induced to grant the permits, though Mayor Bailey should in the permits of the permits as the permits of the permits and permits as the permits of the permits as the permits of the permits insist on it. Perigo, however, sug-gested to him that he might be able to get the permit if he had any money.
Witness answered that he had a little whereupon Perigo wrote a letter and sealing it gave it to Goldberg with instructions to present it to R. A. Zimmerman and to allow no one else to see it. After Attorney Zimmerman had read the letter be told witness that it would cost him about $500 to get the permits. Witness thought this was too much but after consulting with his haif-brothers it was agreed to pay the $500 if they were guaranteed protection as long as they wanted to continue the lunch wagon business. When he went back Mr. Zimmerman told him it would cost him $550 as it was neces-sary, he had discovered, to see other men than those he had first bargained on. Goldberg paid the $550 by check. on. Goldberg paid the $550 by check.

The check was put in evidence. It was made out on April 14, 1896, to Watson & Zimmerman and was for $550. It was signed Goldberg Bros., contained Watson & Zimmerman's endorsement, and, also, the cancellation was both of the First National bank. Goldmark of the First National bank. Goldberg got the four permits from Mr. Zimmerman and paid $10 to the city treasurer on each of them. On July 4 last Kinsley ordered him to close his wagons, but a $5 bill slipped into Perigo's hand made obedience to the order unnecessary. Mr. Perigo took a paper to Mr. Kinsley and had him sign it, and after that the wagons were never disturbed.

A man named Welssberger, who rea man named weissorger, who re-cently opened a lunch wagon here, told the witness that it had cost him $75 to get a permit. Goldberg's half-broth-er, Isadore Furkelstein, heard the conversation.

Furkelstein was sworn and corroborated this last statement of Goldberg. He saw the July 4 permit issued by Perigo, and saw his half-brother tear ing it up in a rage. This concluded the evidence bearing upon that part of the allegations.

JONES WAS RECALLED. John T. Jones was recalled to testicy further about the teams. He said he worked on a private contract for grading behind Hill & Connell's last December, during the time he was in the employ of the city. He also had three city teamsters working there, Belcher, Ramsey and Hiltz.

Thomas Hennigan, who was also a witness Tuesday night, was recalled and swore that last May, when he, one day asked Edward Ramsey about a particular red horse that was on one of the street teams, Ramsey told him it belonged to Kinsley.

James Rvan, one of the witnesses, who was absent Tuesday night, and who, it was said, made the remark that would be blanked if he would testhe hearing Saturday night by Constable Carman. He said he appeared at the city hall Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, the hour which appeared on the subpoena, and finding no one about went away.

In answer to Mr. Newcomb's searching questions, he admitted reluctantly that he had worked a little around Kinsley's house, and barn while employed by the city. He worked on Kinsley's private contract at the Driving Park seventeen days last month, and a few days this month, but he got his pay from Mr. Kinsley for this work. He denied that he had ever received any pay from the city for work done for Mr. Kinsley. He admitted that he talked with Mr. Kinsley last Wednesday, but all Mrs. Kinsley told him was that it would be better for him to be on hand at the investigation Saturday night so as to save himself

J. P. Briel, in response to Mr. New-comb's questions, stated that he had had a talk with Emmet Peet one day, had a talk with Emmet Peet one day, and that Peet admitted to him in a round-about-way that he received his pay from Kinsley.

James Gilroy, of Bellevue, swore he worked one day on the grading behind Hill & Connell's store and drew his pay for it from the city.

Oscar Freeman, from Green Ridge, was sworn to tell about the grading of Wyoming avenue, between Green Ridge and Delaware streets, but all he could say was that he thought Ramsey worked on this contract. could say was that he thought Ram-sey worked on this contract.

The defense will present its side of the case next Friday evening or pos-sibly Saturday or the Monday follow-

MR. ZIMMERMAN INTERVIEWED. Mr. Zimmerman was seen at his residence last night by a Tribune reporter and he made the following statement: "This whole transaction about the lunch wagon licenses commenced prior to Mayor Baileys administration. Mr. Goldberg came to my office one day and said he was unable to get his license this year; that Mayor Connell was willing, but the street commissioner was not, and he wanted to retain me to see if I could not get Mr. Kinsley to grant the license. I met Mr. Kinsley to grant the license. I met Mr. Kinsley the next day going down to the city and rode with him in his buggy. We talked about the lunch wagon license and he said he was opposed to granting it and understood the incoming administration was also opposed to it.

"This, I think, was a week before Mayor Bailey's inauguration. I met

Mayor Bailey's inauguration. I met Mr. Burros and told him what Kinsley said. The very day that Mayor Bailey was inaugurated Messrs. Goldberg and Burros came to our office and were anxious that I should go at once and see the mayor and street commission-er. I went to see the mayor and Mr. Kinsley both, and the mayor told me that a number of the restaurant keepers, who kept their places open all night, had spoken to him and urged him not to grant the lunch wagens a linot to grant the lunch wagons a li-cense. Up to that time Mr. Burros told me that he wanted a license for only one wagon, and after two or three interviews with the mayor and street commissioner I told Mr. Burros I could get him a license for his wagon and asked him where he wanted it sta-tioned.

NOTHING SAID ABOUT PAY. "So far there had been nothing said about what he was to pay me. I had not asked, and he never told me. But, then, he said it wasn't one, but four licenses he wanted, and I told him I thought it would be impossible to get them. He then made the following proposition to me: He said if I could get a license for four wagons for him, one on Franklin avenue at the Valley house, one on Penn avenue opposite Samters, one on Lackawanna avenue opposite the First National bank, and one on the corner of Main and Lafayette streets, Hyde Park, that ne would give me $500; that's Goldberg's own statement, and I was to get him the licenses and see that nobody else got a license. "I informed him I could not guarantee any monopoly of lunch wagons, and didn't believe I could get four licenses for him. To this he replied: 'I think you can get those licenses. I am informed that your partner, Mr. Watson, is a very good friend of the mayor, and I believe you can get them if you try

"I told him to call in a few days. I then spoke to Mr. Watson again about it, having spoken to him a number of times before, and I told him to go and see the mayor and I saw Mr. Kinsley. After a number of visits running over a week or ten days, during which time Mr. Goldberg or Burros, one or both of them were in our office every day and were very anxious to know how we were getting along. I was able to tell them that we finally succeeded in getting along the succeeded of the succeeded the succe ting the street commissioner and mayor to grant the four licenses, but the station of the Penn avenue wagon was changed to the court where it stood last year, and with the provision that if complaints should be made against the wagons they should be moved to

BROUGHT A BLANK CHECK. They brought the check up; it was a blank check, and I sat down to fill it out for $590. Mr. Goldberg told me to fill it out for $550, as they wanted me to pay the license fees, which, they thought, were $12.50 apiece. I filled out the check and got it cashed the second day afterward. I got the four permits day afterward. I got the four permits and when I paid for them they were only $5 apiece. When I gave Mr. Goldberg the permits I returned $30 in cash to him. I agreed with him at that time that I would do what I could to prevent any other lunch wagon licenses from being granted. I told him I didn't think there would be any more granted; that the department was opposed to it, and I felt that they considered these four enough for the city.

"I also agreed to defend him in any suits which might be brought against him by parties who might arrest him. There was also a rumor at that time that an ordinance would be introduced in councils to abolish the lunch wagons, and I promised him I would do what I could to prevent any interference with his license if such were possible, either the court in the councils was a such as a s by getting his license exempted from the force of the ordinance if it would be impossible to prevent it from being passed. Since that time I have defended Messrs, Goldberg & Burros in and there is a suit pending against them now for keeping their lunch wagon notwithstanding their license, in which I am their attorney.

ABOUT THE GUARANTEE. "Mr. Goldberg is correct in stating that he wanted me to guarantee that there would be no other licenses grant-ed. He is also correct in his statement that I refused to do it, because, I told him, I could not control the depart-ments. I never heard any dissatisfaction or complaint about this transaction until Mr. Kinsley granted a li-cense to a man named Weisberg. Then Mr. Goldberg came into my office one day, was very angry, and said I ought to have prevented it from being grant-ed. I repeated again I could not have done so, and that I never agreed to do

"I heard nothing more about it until Friday of last week when Goldberg and Burros come into my once and they were very angry. They said the street commissioner had granted a second liense to Weisberg, and they demande should return some of the money they had paid me. I told them I wouldn't do anything of the kind; that it was a business transaction of their own voluntary offer, and didn't see why I should return any of the money. They

"'We'll make it hot for you. We'll go and toll Newcomb that this was blood money you forced us to pay." "I ordered them out of the office and they left very angry. This man Finklestein I never saw to my knowledge, and never spoke to him at all or saw him in my office. Mr. Goldberg was always in company with his partner, Burros, or alone. So far as bringing a letter to me from George Perigo is concerned, it is absolutely false. They never brought such a letter from him to me, nor did I ever speak to rerigo about a license. Nor was any of the money which Goldberg paid to me ever received or used in any other manner than as a fee for my services."

MEDAL OF HONOR

They Will Have Their Next Annual Con-

DATE HAS NOT BEEN SELECTED

It Will He Named by the Local Committee of Arrangements That Will Make Preparations for the Entertainment of the Distinguished Visitors--General Nelson A. Miles Will Preside Over the Sessions of the Convention.

Within a few days Captain P. De-Within a few days Captain P. De-Lacy will have a conference with May-or James G. Bailey at which arrange-ments for entertaining the brave men who have received the medals of hon-or from the government will be consid-ered. These distinguished men have an organization which until recently was known as the "Medal of Honor was known as the "Medal of Honor Legion." This in a sense was a misnomer and the more appropriate title
"Military Order of the Medal of Honor of the United States" was adopted.
At the last meeting of the organiza-

tien in Boston early last summer the invitation of Captain De Lacy to hold the next meeting in this city was accepted. Surrender day, April 9, is the one on which the meeting is usually held, although the local committee of arrangements is always given discre-tionary power in fixing the actual date. The medal is given by the government for distinguished bravery on the field of battle and there are but three of them in this part of the state. They are held by Captain De Lacy, N. A. McKown, of Tunkhannock, and Ser-geant James Rutter, of Wilkes-Barre.

At the coming conference Captain be Lacy will suggest that Mayor Bailey appoint a committee of representative men to make arrangements for suitably entertaining the medal hold-ers when they meet in this city in convention. There will be between 100 and 150 medal holders at the convention and as the greater number of them will be accompanied by their wives or members of their family the convention will bring here about 250 strangers representing all sections of the country. General Nelson A. Miles, major general of the United States army, is president of the order, and will preside over the convention.

ARE MAKING INQUIRIES. Captain De Iacy last week received a etter from James R. Dunham, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the order, in which he asked for the date decided upon for the meeting in this city, and also other information relative to the preliminary work of making convention arrangements. He also sent a sample of the ribbon of the order adopted by the president of the United States. Concerning this ribbon the last issue of the National Tribune says.

"In accordance with the act of congress authorizing him to prescribe the kind of ribbon to be worn with the medal of honor awarded to soldiers for distinguished gallantry, and also the style of knot to be worn in lieu of the medal, the president has selected and prescribed the following patterns: "The ribbon to be of silk, one inch wide and one inch in length; the center stripe to be of white, one-sixteenth of an inch wide, flanked on either side by a stripe of blue, seven thirty-seconds of an inch wide, bordered by two stripes of red, each one-quarter inch wide. The knot to be a bow of the same combination of colors as the ribbon above described.'

The constitution and by-laws of the order set forth its purposes as follows; "Ever mindful that the medal is an in private and public life. Having in the darkest hours of their country's history attested their fidelity, they now in a golden era of patriotism and pros perity, bind themselves to love with equal sincerity and earnestness all por-tions of their country and to teach by conduct and example obedience to a sacred and venerated constitution and the laws of the land and a common devotion to the union, and to the onflag which alone represents its great-ness, power and glory.

THE DUTY IMPOSED. "The principles and objects of the Legion as thus defined include the obligation and duty to cherish all pa-triotic memories to cultivate in truth and charity fraternal fellowship and sympathies, and contribute our earnest efforts at all times, in cordial cooperation with all other organizations. in securing and advancing the best interests of all comrades and worthy soldiers and sailors." All officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army and volunteer forces of the United States to whom medals of honor have been presented are eligable to membership in the organization. THE MANCHESTER MARTYRS.

John Mitchell Club Celebrated the Anniversery of Their Death.

Twenty-nine years ago today Allen, Larkin and O'Brien were executed in Manchester, England. The anniver-sary was celebrated last night by the John Mitchell club of this city with a musical and literary entertainment at Ancient Order of United Workmen's hall on Lackawanna avenue. The place was crowded to the doors with the members of the club, their wives and daughters and sons, and invited friends. Admission was by invitation. M. H. Griffin was chairman. The principal feature of the celebration was a stirring address on Irish patriotism by Attorney M. F. Conry. William Donnegan opened the programme with a song and the last number was a song by him. Others who favored with vocal selections were Miss Rose Bradley William Doherty, Lizzie Nealon, and John Sheridan. Miss Bradley recited also, and so did Miss Mamie Boland. who possesses marked ability in this line, and her father C. T. Boland gave
