HYDE PARK BOROUGH CEASES TO EXIST

Final Meeting of the Burgesses and Council Monday Night.
BOUNTY CLAIMS FINALLY SETTLED
Log Draws Out Litigation Which Made it Impossible for the Borough to Wind Up its Affairs—Story of the Bounty, How it Originated, and the Efforts Made by the Claimants to Recover It.
 The borough of "Hyde Park" is no more. It died Monday night, and the certificate of its death was yesterday filed in the archives of the Lackawanna courts.
 This certificate was in the shape of a report announcing the settlement of the long-contested bounty claims. These claims and these alone have kept the borough in nominal existence all these years. With the settlement of the affairs of the borough were wound up and having no other excuse for living it shuffled off its mortal coil and went to the whencesoever, whither it came.
 IN THE YEAR 1855.
 In 1855, one year before Hyde Park was merged into the city of Scranton, a call was issued by the government for volunteers from every municipality in the state. Hyde Park could not furnish its quota and so Ed Heermans, then burgess, offered a bounty of $200 to every man who would enlist. Conrad Grob, Frank Early, John C. Jones, C. C. Battenberg, Ed W. Smith, Thomas Jordan, David Evans, W. W. Archer, H. B. Roberts, John Hand, John A. James and M. D. Fuller were twelve men who went to the front at that time.
 In 1873 they brought suit in Wilkes-Barre to recover the promised bounty, alleging that it was in consideration of Burgess Heermans' offer that they enlisted. They were defeated by reason of the statute of limitation, but undaunted by this they kept up their fight and in 1889 secured the passage of an act of the legislature removing the application of the statute of limitation from these particular claims. They then secured judgment from Attorney Wright against the borough for $200 apiece and interest, but they were again defeated by the action of the supreme court in declaring unconstitutional the act which was intended to prevent the statute of limitation from affecting their claims.
 They clearly could not recover at law but there was a way. In the borough treasury which had been called for the payment of these bounties, the borough officials concluded to distribute it among the claimants. They would not at first agree to accept anything less than the full amount but after all these years of litigation they at last decided to take what they could get and be satisfied.
 SETTLEMENT MADE.
 The settlement effected through the attorneys for the claimants, City Solicitor James H. Torrey, Alderman Fred L. Fuller and Alderman C. C. Donovan, and Attorney D. J. Davis, was that the borough should pay the attorney when Judge Gunster was elevated to the bench.
 A meeting of the borough council was called Monday night. The following members responded: Wilhelm H. Decker, secretary; Thomas Carson, M. L. Blair, S. B. Adkins, Ransom Briggs and Jacob Reibert. S. B. Adkins was elected burgess to succeed Hon. D. M. Jones, deceased, the accounts of the treasurer were audited, the money was divided among the claimants and adjournment was made sine die.
 In order that the division of the bounty money might be made in a legal manner, which would preclude the possibility of future litigation, Attorney C. A. Battenberg was made referee and he did the dividing.
 "PRINCESS OF BAGDAD."
 Margaret Fuller Seems Destined to Reach the Shrine of Davenport.
 Margaret Fuller appeared at the Frothingham last night in "The Princess of Bagdad." She has surrounded herself with a company, but there seems to be a lack of scope in the play for her genius and her acting. She is a beautiful woman, and there is a naturalness and absence of artifice very about her which seems to make her a compeer of Fanny Davenport and Modjeska.
 There is not enough in the play to employ the gifts of the versatile dramatic power which she gives evidence of possessing. It is too bounded and affords her only breadth enough to display herself in a limited sphere. However, she was given a most liberal reception, not in the size of the audience, but in the complete assurance that she was fully appreciated.
 "The Princess of Bagdad" is by Dumas, and it was translated and adapted by William Young, author of "The Rajah" and other dramatic works. Miss Fuller assumed the character of Lionette, the princess, and Thomas L. Coleman made a capital Nourvady. Edwin Nalod, as Richard, the attorney, and Master Ralph Adams, as Raoul, child of Jean and Lionette; and George D. McIntyre, as Jean, the husband of Lionette, are worthy of special mention.

 The new operating room at the Lackawanna hospital was opened yesterday and the first operations were performed by Dr. Frazar assisted by Dr. Blanchard. The room is where the morgue used to be but the apartment was enlarged by an extension on the end. It cost $500 to renovate it, and the new equipments cost over $1,000.
 The operating table is of glass with steel fixtures, and the washstands, and instrument cases are also of glass. The latest and most improved appliances are also used. There is an apparatus for sterilizing water, capable of heating it to 230 degrees.
 Directors James P. Dickson and William T. Smith and Drs. Gates, Burnet and Gunster were present when Dr. Connell conducted the first operation.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.
 The Laurel club of the Young Women's Christian association was highly favored last night by having present Eugene Ham, who gave an excellent flute solo; he also accompanied Mrs. B. T. Jayne in a vocal solo. Professor F. F. McDonald, an artist of the autograph, rendered beautiful music, and handled the Swiss hand bells with ease and accuracy. The club was delighted with the musical features of the entertainment.

 The pupils of Miss Carolyn Dorey gave some pleasing recitations, Misses Mallory, Griggs and Larkin took part in the following officers for the ensuing term were elected: President, Miss Eva Shurt; vice president, Miss Ella Osanan; secretary, Miss Wickschmidt; treasurer, Miss Hine, hostess, Miss Swingle; critic, Miss Jones; chaplain, Mrs. Lowry. Light refreshments were served.

THE POSTER SHOW.
Interesting and Instructive Exhibition by Beidleman the Bookman.
 Beidleman, the bookman, gave a poster show in his holiday quarters next to Connolly & Wallace's on Washington avenue last evening. It was attended by over a thousand people between 8 and 11 o'clock, and was pronounced a grand success by the orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.
 A poster show is a novelty in Scranton. It is nothing more than a collection of the various publishing houses that make a specialty of illustrated work. The lesson to be taught by a poster show is the advance made in this line of work. The posters were got up in very simple style. They were only a peg in advance of the handbill or dodger. With each succeeding year it grew more and more a feat of publishing houses to adopt the most artistic handiwork in getting up posters to advertise new books and magazine stories.
 Mr. Beidleman had on exhibition over 300 posters, some of them rare and valuable. There was one of Napoleon on horseback, offered for sale in New York for $10 and it has the appearance of being worth no more than good food; but it is on account of its obsolescence that it has a value in excess of its inherent value. The posters will be on exhibition during the holiday season. The store will be Mr. Beidleman's holiday place of business and will be opened from now until the season ends.
 Some of the posters represented the work of such well known artists as A. E. Abbey, Penfield, Gibson, Will Bradley and Carqueville.

 William H. Barlow, of 436 Tenth street, was killed Monday afternoon in the Lackawanna yards. He was struck by a 2:24 train from Buffalo struck him and the shock broke his neck. After the train passed he lay on the ground for some time before being found lying alongside the track dead.

The deceased was 35 years old and is survived by his wife and two children. He was employed as an oiler in the railroad yards. Coroner Longest will investigate the case this morning.

LUCKY FINED $15.
Charles Huyck, who was arrested the evening previous for flashing a revolver in Philip Schnell's saloon on West Lackawanna avenue, was given a hearing in police court yesterday morning by Mayor Bailey. He was held in the sum of $500 bail for his appearance at court.
 In the afternoon Schnell appeared and asked the mayor to simply fine Huyck for his conduct instead of sending the case to court. Schnell did not want to press the case on account of the young man's family. Thereupon Mayor Bailey imposed a fine of $15, which amount was paid by the prisoner's friends.

DIAZ'S FIFTH TERM.

The ceremony will be witnessed by a brilliant assembly of foreign diplomats and distinguished people. He is in robust health and is expected to continue his four years' term substantially his policy during this term, with special emphasis to that giving popular education. His administration has made at the end of his term, which concludes the century, several railways crossing Mexico from sea to sea; gigantic port works and hundreds of miles of roads. The government will stick to the silver standard as being in the opinion of the administration the one best adapted to this country, and attending at the present time exchanging an immense protection to home industry, while at the same time securing for its exports a gold premium which operates as a bounty to tropical planters.
 It is believed that General Diaz will go around the world during the coming year as the president of Mexico are in a prosperous condition.

IT IS NO CRIME TO HUG YOUR WIFE

So Says the Jury in the Hoover Case Yesterday.

DEFENSE WAS NOVEL AND CLEVER
Ex-Judge Ward and T. P. Duffy Convince the Jury That Mr. Hoover Only Wanted to "Kiss and Make Up" and Was in No Way Violent in His Treatment of His Better Half. Two Other Interesting Cases in Criminal Court.

Twelve good men and true yesterday declared in criminal court that a man has a perfect right to hug his wife even against her protestations.
 This verdict was found in the case of H. J. Hoover, of Bald Mount, who was accused by his wife with assault and battery. She claimed that he seized her by the wrists one day last summer and also squeezed her so tightly about the waist that she was choked. Mr. Hoover avowed that he did this but not so violently as his wife alleged.
 Hoover says that he and his wife had a falling out in the morning and that they did not speak to one another all day long. At night he approached her with a proposition that they kiss and make up but she wouldn't acquiesce. When she retired he followed her all day long. At night he approached her with a proposition that they kiss and make up but she wouldn't acquiesce. When she retired he followed her all day long.

WAS ONLY PLAYFAIR.
 She was however "mad" all the way through and reported his conduct to her. He then caught her by the wrists and drawing her gently into his lap hugged her right heartily. In the morning she told her relatives that she had seen her husband's goings on and they insisted on her prosecuting him. She did and yesterday's verdict was the outcome.

OUTLAWS MURDER A FARMER.
His Wife Hides in the Attic in Nebraska and Saves Her Life.
 Omaha, Neb., Dec. 1.—A special from Silver Creek, Neb., says that last night two brothers, aged 15 and 17 years, named Shoenfeld, living two miles north of here, shot Owen Hutchings, a farmer, while milking in his barn. They then assaulted Mrs. Hutchings in the house with a revolver. She got away from them and hid in the attic. The young outlaws ransacked the house, finding about $20.
 The boys have both been captured, and claim that Hutchings owed them some money, giving this as a motive for committing the crime. Hutchings was shot in the back of the neck with a charge from a shot gun.

A TELL-TALE KNIFE.
Blades Found Beside a Lotted Trunk Led to an Arrest.
 Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 1.—Frank Day, alias "Sailor Kid," who, the police say, is a notorious crook, and Walter Still, of this city, are in jail on the charge of breaking open the trunk of Samuel Doebler in his room at his home in this city in the middle of last month and stealing therefrom $911, the savings of Doebler.
 Two pieces of blades of a penknife were found beside the trunk after the robbery, and these fit the broken blades of a knife found in the possession of Day when he was arrested. Suspicion was first directed toward the men when the police learned, soon after the robbery, that the pair were in Harrisburg and spending money in rather large denominations in an extravagant manner.

LAMBERT WENT SLUMMING.
 Last June Arthur Lambert, a farm laborer from Clark's Summit, met at the evening previous for flashing a revolver in Philip Schnell's saloon who volunteered to show him the sights. Lambert was down to see the sights and readily accepted the invitation in fact, to pay the costs. He then caught her by the wrists and drawing her gently into his lap hugged her right heartily. In the morning she told her relatives that she had seen her husband's goings on and they insisted on her prosecuting him. She did and yesterday's verdict was the outcome.

USEFUL FORMULA.
 Cement for Aquarium.—A good preparation is said to be the following, which is given by Dieterich:
 Litharge 20 parts
 White sand, finest 20 parts
 Plaster of Paris 20 parts
 Manganese borate 1 part
 Resin, powdered 20 parts
 Belled linseed oil 4-8.
 Mix the solids and make them into a paste with the oil.
 To Render Tobacco Harmless.—Dr. Garret directs to steep a piece of cotton wool in a 5 per cent. solution of pyrogallol acid and insert it into the pipe or cigar holder. He claims that this will neutralize any possible ill effect of the nicotine. Such ill effects as headache, furring of the tongue and more serious ill effects can thus be avoided.
 Protective Varnish.—To protect wooden vessels against the penetration of liquids into their pores:
 Shellac 1 kilogramme
 Resin 125 grammes
 Venice turpentine 125 grammes
 Alcohol 5 liters
 The resins are fused together, and over the yet liquid mass pour the spirits. Wooden containers for hot liquids must not be varnished with this product, as it begins to soften at 70 degrees centigrade.
