The other side had its inning in the Kinsley investigation last night. To the Honorable Mayor and Committee:
Counsel for the street commissioner, at this stage of the present proceeding, desire to present to you the following suggestions as a response to the so-called complaint and the subsequent matters in relation thereto:

Without the slightest disrespect to the executive head of this city, and the assisting members of councils, we say that this proceeding has no proper or legal foundation either in law or ordinance.

The law provides that the mayor shall examine the grounds of all reasonable complaints against any of the city officers. The fault finding of a newspaper without affidavit or signature is of no more legal effect than an anonymous letter, and is not a complaint at all, either reasonable or unreasonable. The definition of complaint as regards proceedings before the mayor may be found in Section 8 of Article 7 of the city charter as follows:

"Proceedings for the violation of the lows:

"Proceedings for the violation of the city ordinances may be commenced by warrant or summons at the discretion of the mayor or alderman before whom complaint is made, but no warrant shall be issued except upon complaint upon oath or affirmation, specifying the ordinance for the violation of which the same is issued."

tainments have been given here.
From the beginning of their performance until the end, the audience last night was doing nothing but applauding. Professor Sage had a number of young men on the stage, all of them being from the city and having yountered to submit to his hypnotte powers, and he put them through some of the most luderous and mirth provoking actions imaginable. There was only one young man out of the twenty-five or more on the stage that Professor or Mrs. Sage couldn't control.

He had them jumping around in three feet of snow, throwing snowballs at one another, washing one another, and having a great time. Selecting six of the best subjects in the lot he brought them forward to the footlights and under his influence they sang and danced as though they were regular comic opera players.

With another group he gave a yacht race, and another a bicycle race, both of them very amusing. There will be a change of programme tonight and the balloon scene will be given. The subject as leeve in the window of Dunn's store will be awakened tonight after having slept forty-eight hours.

Professor Sage last night performed on a Scranton subject the operation of piercing his lip with a needle and thread without any pain, blood or swelling. The Academy was packed to the doors.

To the Public.

By the action of the board of control, fixing a date to investigate the charges made against me by Mrs. Lucy Booth, I am enjoined to waive, until that time, the privilege of making a full defense.

I regret that Mrs. Booth in her speech to the board Monday evening made it appear that I am her accuser. I have never preferred any charges against her. I have simply handed over to the committee charges preferred by other parties. I recommended her for the present position in the high school at an increased salary, and told the committee when I gave them the sworn statements of the prosecutrix that I had no charges and that she was a bright and faithful teacher.

Until the results of the investigation become fully known I respectually request that judgment be suspended. My course in this matter has been dictated by no other consideration than the public good and the sense of responsibility imposed upon me by my official oath.

GEORGE WOODRUFF, COACH.

The Famous Foot Ball Quaker Will Practice Law Here.

George Woodruff, the celebrated coach of the University of Pennsylva-nia Foot Ball team, has resigned from that position to take up the practice of law in this city. Mr. Woodruff, says a Philadelphia dispatch, had contemplated this step after the season of 1895, but he was persuaded by oth-er prominent foot ball men of Pennsylvania to remain another year. Penn-sylvania will have to look elsewhere for a coach.

To George Woodruff certainly be-longs the credit of bringing Pennsylva-nia foot ball from a minor college class up to a class recognized by the leaders of the "Big Four." Never in the history of foot ball at Pennsylvania, history of foot ball at Pennsylvania, before he assumed charge of the work, had a team been able to make anything like a respectable showing against Yale, Harvard and Princeton, Among those mentioned as Mr. Woodruff's successor are ex-Captains Williams and Wharton, Wiley Woodruff, a brother of George Woodruff, and for four years guard on the team; for four years guard on the team: Charles Gelbert, of this city, Pennsyl-vania's great end rush and halfback. and George Brooke, the Quaker's fa-mous full back. All of these men have been trained in foot ball by Woodruff If any of them are chosen they will continue his methods,
