ECHOES OF THAT BIG PRIZE FIGHT

Bob Fitzsimmons Is Angry at the Decision of the Referee.

MAKES AN EXPLANATION

Insists That the Knock Out Blow Was a Foul Whether Intentional or Otherwise .- The Opinion of Other Sporting Men -- Sharkey Is Quite Badly Injured -- Fitzsimmons Shows No III Effects From the Fight.

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—Fitzsimmons was around the Baldwin hotel at an early hour this morning, showing not the faintest trace of his encounter, with the faintest trace of his encounter with Sharkey last night. He is most bitter in his denunciation of the "sailors" foul tactics, Referee Earp and the management of the fight. He says he was robbed of the decision and that it was a preconcerted scheme to give the lettle to his concentr. The blow which battle to his opponent. The blow which laid Sharkey low, the Australian de-clared, was a right hand hook on the stomach. This landed fairly and not below the belt as maintained by the Fitzsimmons is anxious to meet Sharkey again and will fight him any time and place the latter may name. Those in attendance upon Sharkey say that he suffered terribly all night, requiring the constant services of two physicians up to four o'clock, when he fell asleep.

Three of the most reputable citizens in this city, Doctors B. B. Lee, D. F. Ragan and T. A. Rottanzi, examined Sharkey at 10.15 this morning. The result was this statement from Dr. Ragan, the other two doctors acquires. Ragan, the other two doctors acquiescing:

"Sharkey had a gash over the left eye, which could not have been caused cyc, which could not have been caused by a blow from a glove, as the eye is not closed, also a swelling on the left cheek, to which we applied a leech this morning. The left ear is swellen from extravasation, or blood settling under the surface. There is not a bruise or a mark on the upper part of the body save a slight abrasion of the skin, caused by contact with the ropes in the fifth round and which is of no conse-quence whatever. This is what caused the damage.

Here Sharkey was stripped and the physician pointed to a huge swelling on the lower part of the body near the groin. There was discoloration in one spot showing where the blow had landed. This Sharkey said was caused by Fitzsimmons hooking him with his el-bow. Dr. Ragan explained the swelling was the same as in the ear and would require leeches to subdue. There is no hernia and no permanent injury. but the doctors were unanimous in the belief that Sharkey could never have entered the ring or stood on his feet had he been in his present condition. It will be several days before Sharkey can leave his bed.

New York, Dec. 3.—Wyatt Earp, referee of the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons fight, telegraphs the Evening Journal as follows regarding his decision:

right on Sharkey's shoulder, and then with an uppercut with the left he struck the sailor below the belt. Sharstruck the sailor below the belt. Shar-key was leaning over and the blow ment to Mr. Haig, which has not yet knocked him down.

"It was clearly a foul and before the sailor moved I mentioned that the fight was over. The first blow was weak and I believe the second blow was intended for an uppercut, but it struck foul.

Mr. McNaughton, sporting editor of he San Francisco Examiner, tele-raphed the Journal as follows: "If Fitzsimmons struck Sharkey a graphed the Journal as follows:

He was making grimaces and placing his hand on his groin, and if he were not in agony all I can say is that he must be a consummate actor and must have acted that particular scene many a time. Afterward I heard a dozen citizens of excellent reputation say they saw the foul plainly. Some of them said the blow was accidental and others thought from the manner of its delivery that it was intentional. This is livery that it was intentional. This is something I cannot understand. In the fith round, when Fitz sent Sharkey down under the ropes, the Cornishman put out his hand and helped the sailor to his feet. He complained to the referee and chiedd Sharkey every time the sailor struck foul in his clinches. Why on earth should he alter his tactics and fight foul, the more especially. tics and fight foul, the more especially as he was over the worst part of the journey and had his opportunity?"

VICTIMS OF WEYLER'S ORDER.

Two Thousand Persons Dying in Bramales of Hunger.

Havana, Dec. 3.—In Bramales, province of Pinar Del Rio, the situation of the poor country families obliged to gather in the town by the recent decree of General Weyler is so awful that more than 10,000 persons are dying there from hunger. Public subscriptions have been reject in Haven to tions have been raised in Havana to send them clothes and food, but in the general financial distress of the coun-try not much help is obtained for these unfortunates.
The families that could not reach

Bramales within three days after the promulgation of the decree have been mercilessly slain by the Spanish guerrilas. These guerrillas do not dare to travel too far in their march from the main body of the column to which they belong for fear of insurgent ambushes, but they are called the "Black Van-guards" of the Spanish columns. They guards of the spanish columns, they are composed principally of negros, and their deadly work is against the pacificos. They do not spare old men, women or children, whom they tear to pleces with their machetes.

The inhabitants of Pinar Del Rio therefore are dying from hunger, as in the case of the people of Bramales, or are being massacred by the soldiers of Weyler.

George Halg, a Scotchman, the Man Who is to Lead Mrs. Astor's Daughter to the Altar.

New York, Dec. 3.—It was reported yesterday on what seems the best of authority that Mrs. Augusta Drayton, the cidest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Astor, is about to be married

The happy man is George Haig, a Scotchman of position, now a member of the firm of Haig & Haig, whiskey rchants, with headquarters in Lon-

Mr. Haig is 40 years of age, and a favorite and well-known man-about-town, and has been very devoted to Mrs. Drayton during her residence in London. His sister married Mr. Jamieson, the head of the great distilling sen, the head of the great distining firm of that name, and is a very smart woman in London society.

During the latter part of this season George Haig arrived at Newport and spent a few days there without becoming generally known in society. Mr. McNaughton, sporting editor of aggressive position he had at first as-graphed the Journal as follows:

"If Fitzsimmons struck Sharkey a foul blow last night I did not see it. But even at that I would scarcely like to go on record as saying that the punch on which the fight was given to the sailor was no foul, as Fitz had his back to me."

"I saw a whizzing left hook go up from Fitzsimmons' hip. It caught Sharkey on the chin or mouth and the sailor began to sink. Then I saw Fitzsimmons' right elbow come back and he delivered a body punch. I should imagine it took effect somewhere about Sharkey's stomach or short ribs, on the left side. Anyhow, in a moment Sharkey was on the floor on his back. He was not knocked out. He was making grimaces and placing

FACTORY INSPECTOR

Mr. Campbell's Annual Statement to Governor Hastings.

GOOD SHOWING FOR PAST YEAR

The Manufacturers Have Willingly Complied with the Law and Prosecutions Have Not Been Necessary Recommends That the Semi-Monthly Pay Law Be Amended .- Other Suggestions Made.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 3.-Chief Factory Inspector Campbell has sent his annual report to Governor Hastings. He says manufacturers have willingly complied with all the requirements of the law. It was not necessary to prosecute a single case during the year. A great many establishments are not amendable to the factory law because they do not employ five women, five minors, or five of both. Chief Campbell says the law should be amended that all establishments employing men, women establishments employing men, women or children come under its provisions, thereby protecting all employes.

He says further: "The department having no authority to inspect boilers, there should be legislation either requiring a certificate of safety or a competent boiler inspector furnished by the department." He also says: "All children between the age of thirteen and sixteen years should be required to have a certificate from the school superintendent in which they live that they had attended school at least six months in the school term preceding their engagement to labor, and no minor under the age of eighteen be emor under the age of eighteen be employed that cannot read and write the English language. The law limiting the age of children before they can be employed in shops and factories, should apply to all other avocations in which children are employed, and the restriction of the hours of labor of minors to sixty hours a week should apply to women.

PAY LAW SHOULD BE AMENDED. In the judgment of the chief inspector the semi-monthly pay law should be so amended that it would be less cum-bersome, and he suggests that the de-partment should be relieved of the responsibility of prosecuting firms that are not amenable to factory inspection. He says the sweat shop law has resulted in securing better and larger shops and improved sanitary conditions, but does not reach the family worker. He thinks the law should be worker. He thinks the law should be amended so as to require this class to take out permits. He says a tour through the sweat shop district will convince anyone of the importance of a restrictive immigration law.

The inspector recommends that bake shops be made subject to factory inspection. A summary of the work done by the department shows that 6,656 inspections were made of factories and shops, where 365,585 persons are employed. Number of accidents rewas 1.034: fatailties, 77. total number of persons employed in News of the Issuance of Retalia'o y Proclamation Again t Germany Is Received with Interest.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.-News of the issuance of the president's retalla-tory proclamation against Germany was received with intense interest by the diplomatic corps, especially by the ambassadors of Great Britain and France. An inkling of the intention France. An inkling of the intention had reached them ten days ago and has been communicated to their respective governments. Both ambassadors have been diligently looking up the official literature bearing on the subject, which is both interesting and pointed. He found that while the imperial government of Germany as a nation did not impose any ton-name duties on American vessels arnage duties on American vessels arriving at German ports, the maritime states which compose part of the Ger-man empire, do impose such a tax in violation of the treaty existing be-tween the two countries.

It is not believed that the German government will consent to the imposition of a discriminating tax on German vessels without at least a more vigorous protest than has yet been made. The German contention, it is understood is that the tax complained. understood, is that the tax complained of in the president's proclamation is of in the president's proclamation is not imposed solely on American vessels, but upon vessels of all nationalities, including Cerman vessels. The revenues arising from the tax are not covered into the imperial treasury, but become the property of the several states within whose jurisdiction the tax is laid. It is argued that if Germany should rescind this tax, as far as American vessels are concerned, it American vessels are concerned, it should at once call forth a protest not only from English, French and other European powers whose vessels would still be subject to taxation, but from German shippers as well.

IRON TRADE QUIET.

But the Business Is on the Road to Improvement --- Strong Undercurrent with No Weakening of Prices. Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 3.—Tomorrow's edition of the American Manufacturer will say concerning the iron and steel

The situation in the iron and steel The situation in the iron and steel trade just now is very similar to that noted previous to the election. Nearly all lines seem to have become steadier, and some show signs of less activity. In a few lines prices are hardly as strong as they were three weeks ago. The amount of business done during the past week was quite small. Neither side wants to mush the market conseside wants to push the market, consequently trade is decidedly quiet. At the same time there is nothing like a slump in any line, and considering everything, the entire trade is still on the road to improvement. It has been found that in some few branches of the market the expectation of higher prices immediately after the election caused holders to pile up stocks which have since been put out, thus lowering prices. This has been the case with Bessemer pig particularly. The east-ern markets have been rather disap-pointing. Chicago reports a strong undercurrent of business with no undercurrent of business, with no weakening in prices. In Cincinnati large sales of bridge material and sheet iron is in good demand. Cleve-land reports trade fair, with the im-provement being sustained.

MARKETS AND STOCKS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Dec. 3.—The stock market started off weak this morning. The pressure to sell, however, at no time reach dimportant proportions and soon after the opening the market took on a firmer tone. During the afternoon the tendency was upward, but operators were not disposed to branch out to any extent pending the publication of the President's message. The Grangers were strengthened by the declaration of the regular dividend by the Chicago and Northwestern directors. A good demand prevailed for the girl edge investment stocks and Lake Shore advance 3 per cent.; Delaware and Hudson, 2½, Manhattan was in demand to cover short contracts. In the industrials Sugar was heavy and lost ½ per cent. for the day. Speculation closed strong, owing to a sudden rise in Lake Shore and other high-priced issues. Net changes show gains of ½a2 per cent. Total sales were 179,000 shares. Wall Street Review. gains of 4a2 179,000 shares.
