Henry Rudolph disappeared from his home in Tamauqua last Friday and no trace of him has been found since. He was a shiftless disposition and of late became despondent. Before leaving became despondent. Before leaving home he donned an old suit of clothing, and it is feared he was waylaid while wandering through the woods as was his custon. The mountains have been soured by searching parties, but no trace has thus far been found. He was a miner by occupation and aged 56 years.

A grocery store owned by John Mc Laughlin on Park avenue was burglar-ized on Tuesday night and a quantity 12ed on Tuesday night and a quantity of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and sev-eral tins of salmon were carried away. The pads evidently are well acquainted with the store and its proprietor, as they gained access by pushing open the transom and without any difficulty succeeded in breaking in the lock. Mr. McLaughlin estimates his loss at $30. The wedding of Miss Kathryne Fra-ley and David E. Jones, at Binghamton, some weeks ago, has just been made some weeks ago, has just been made known. The groom is a Plymouth con-fectioner, and the bride the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fraley, of River street, this city.

uel Brown, son of John Brown, of "soul goes marching on" fame, met William Booth, son of the sheriff who hanged John Brown. As is the custom of all conventions in Oregon every delegate does his best to get acquainted with every other delegate, and all delegates speak whether acquainted or not. Several delegates were going about introducing a rather handsome man of 40 or thereabouts, whom they called Mr. Booth of McMinnville. They would say of him:
Mr. Booth is the son of the sheriff who hanged John Brown, of Ossawatomle, at Harper's Ferry."
All of which caused people to take more than a common interest in Mr. Booth. Finally Mr. Booth was introducer to a man of excellent appearance, whose name was Samuel Brown. After the introduction, Mr. Booth and Mr.

to "put them on an equality" with their hunsbands. The laws prohibit certain things alike in men and women. In such matters the laws are transpressed a thousand times by "respectable men" where they are broken once by "respectable women." In spite of the laws, custom forgives this in man where it does not in women. So it may seem here that husbands have a larger "Iberty" than wives, and that there is a discrimination against the liberty of women in the marriage relation. But this discrimination is made by women the
