OLCOTT THE SWEET SINGER.

Drew a Large Audience to the Frothingham Last Night. There is no doubt about Chauncey Olcott's popularity in Scranton. People may or may not believe that he is the greatest singing Irish comedian on the stage today but all must agree that as drawing card Chauncey's place is up

He appeared at the Frothingham last night in "Mayourneen" as a benefit for the Scranton Ricycle club and the capacity of the house was tested to its utmost. Every seat was taken and many had to be contented with standing room.

"Mayourneen" the drama in which Mr. Olcott was seen last night is not a new one to theater-goers. It has been seen here before many times but never to better advantage than it was last night for a very competent company supports the star. Mr. Olcott was in good voice last night and sang "Molly O." "The Auld Countrie," "Mayour-neen," "Ring the liels" and "She and I Towardam" with a weatless and I Together' with a sweetness and sympathetic feeling that called forth repeated encores.

HILARITY AT DAVIS' THEATER. Charles A. Loder and Company Give

Entertaining Performances. Charles A. Loder, a man who has many natural claims as a German dialect comedian, and his company of specialists gave "Hilarity" yesterday afternoon and last evening at Davis' theater. The man who wrote the farce disclaims any deliberate attempt to make a plot; he only tried to concect something funny and the audience yes-terday thought that he was successful. The show is really pleasing. Loder, himself, is amusing at all times and his songs are sung in Loder's own peculiar way. In the third act there is a very funny scene called "McFadden's Row of Flats." Specialties, and clever ones too, are given by Harry Clarke and the girls of the company dance a number of up-to-date figures. "Hilarity" will be given today, and tomorrow, field.
