TROUBLE FOR ALDERMAN.

Some Will Have to Account to the City for Fines Collected.

Mayor Bailey yesterday signed a resclution of councils that will cause un-easiness to any aldermen who have not paid into the city treasury such fines and penalties as were collected for infractions of city ordinances. The resolution is as follows: That the city controller be and is hereby requested to furnish councils with a written report of all moneys paid into the city treasury by the aldermen of each ward of the city on account of fines and penalties collected by them during the current fiscal year; and if any of such aldermen have failed to make report of fines and penalties collected as aforesaid, the city controller is hereby requested and directed to demand of each of them an immediate report, in accordance with law, of all fines and penalties so collected.

POLICE AID ASKED.

Assistant City Assessors Are Experiencing a Little Trouble. Some of the assistant city assessors are being denied access to properties for assessment purposes, and in some cases are met with a refusal to answer civil questions. There were similar instances during Mayor Connell's rule, and he authorized the aid of the police if necessary. Mayor Bailey now has been called upon and has furnished the board with the following letter, which

This is to authorize the board of city assessors to summon to their aid the police department whenever they or their assistants require the same in the prosecution of their offices, (Signed)

OLDEN TIME STARS.

Jem Mace, Mike Donovan, Billy Edwards, Arthur Chambers, John L. Sullivan and Others in the Ring.

New York, Dec. 14.—About 2,500 people attended the Mace—Donovan benefit at the Broadway Athletic club tonight. In addition to the heavy weight cham-pion of the world and the one-time American middle weight champion, a host of other by-gone stars were in evidence. Among the spectators were men well known in the higher walks of life, who were present to show their appreciation of the manly art.

The fun commenced with a threeround bout between Charley Norton and Dan Keefe, of Newark.

Jim Hall, the Australian and Pete

Burns, of Harlem, gave a lively "go" which pleased the crowd immensely. The old veterans George Rooke and John Donaldson, both of whom have felt the force of John L. Sullivan's blow, were the next pair. They smiled the the played at "felt and counter" as they played at "jab and counter" for three one-minute rounds and got a great ovation.

A tremendous burst of applause greeted John L. Sullivan as he was announced to make a short speech. He received another ovation as he retired.

Billy Edwards, the ex-light weight champion, and Arthur Chambers, of Philadelphia, his old rival then sparred three rounds. Chambers were quite fast but Billy did fine. They did not bother about the gong but sat down when they were tired and the three rounds were more than enough for Bob Armstrong, the colored heavy weight from Chicago, was pounds heav-ier and inches taller than Tommy Kelley, of Hoboken, and the latter had a hard time to keep away for three rounds.

Barney Aaron and Dooney Harris followed. Earney got a big floral horse-shoe, before he put on the gloves. George Dixon was heartily cheered when he was introduced as was also "Kid" Lavigne. Neither would make the loudly requested speech. A great reception was accorded to Corbett, he came into the ring to box six rounds with Jim McVey, his spar-ring partner. The champion looked in good shape. He was as lively as a kit-ten and gave a beautiful exhibition of science. When the stars of the evening ap-peared there were 2,500 people in the house. Mace and Donovan entered the ring at 10 o'clock. Parson Davies acted as master of ceremonies. Parson Davies announced there would be no decision as the set was to be a scientific exhibition of a friendly nature.

Donovan was very active on his feet and danced around the old Englishman

SPORTING NOTES.

In an article in a London (England) paper.R.C.Lehman, Harvard's new rowpaper.R.C.Lehman, Harvard's new rowing coach, gives his impressions of foot bail as follows: "Foot bail cannot be a gentle game, and a milksop has no part in it, either in England or America. But the game I saw, though violent and rough, was never brutal. Indeed, I cannot hope to see a finer exhibition of courage, strength and manily endurance without a trace of meanness than was shown by these teams. American foot ball is not so much a game in our rough-and-ready sense of the word, as it is the development of the word, as it is the development of a series of intricate tactical evolutions. Players go through a course of train-Trimmings, ing which no English amateur ever had any experience of."

According to stories heard at New Haven, Conn., Yale and Harvard are now involved in a correspondence, the purpose of which is to arrange the details of athletic contests between the teams representing the two universities. It is said there is a hitch in the proceedings. The trouble, if there is any, is thought to exist in the matter of a boat race. Yale wishes to row Harvard alone, but Harvard cannot agree to this, because she is bound by an agreement with Cornell. An effort, it is said, is being made to have Yale enter a triangular race. enter a triangular race.

Joseph F. Donoghue, the skater, has received a challenge from Paul B. Gowcher, of Ohio. If the challenge is genuine Donoghue says that he will meet the Ohio man.

The negro bicycle riders of the United States are to make another effort to induce the League of American Wheel-men to withdraw the color line which men to withdraw the color line which now governs membership in the organization. The matter will be brought up once more at the national assembly of the league in February. The leading colored cyclists of the country will be delegated to attend the assembly and demand to be placed on an equal footing with white cyclists. Several prominent attorneys have then engaged, and should the assembly decline to amend the constitution of the league to admit colored riders, the legality of to admit colored riders, the legality of its action will be tested in court. This color line question caused quite a lively discussion in the national assembly of the League of American Wheelmen held in Philadelphia some four years ago. At that time the southern con-tingent of the league threatened to re-sign in a body if the negroes were admitted to membership, and as a conse quence the line was maintained.

Some of the ministers of St. Louis have declared war against the South Side race track and declare they will not stop until it is closed. At the La-fayette Park Methodist church Sunday the Rev. S. H. Werlein preached a ser-mon on gambling and its dire effects on the moral community. He paid paron the moral community. He paid particular attention to the race course evil and took the South Side track as an illustration of the harm that it has done. He said, in part: "Within three blocks of this church an iniquity has been in existence for a number of weeks. I refer to the South Side race course, which has with great persistency prosecuted its nefarious work through all kinds of weather. It has gone on corrupting the morals of the people, and, so far as I know, neither hand nor voice has been raised against it. so far as I know, neither hand nor voice has been raised against it. I asked a tradesman, a resident nearby, why he never came to church. He replied that his business prevented it. I asked him if he had been to the races. He hesitated a moment and said that he had been there one afternoon. 'What is the harm of seeing a horse race?' he asked. I answered: "You are a partaker of other men's sins by lending your presence to an undertaking which has nothing but harm in it. And this much I say to any and all people who patronize the races. If people refuse to present themselves at places of questionable morality, purveyors of un-godly sports and amusements will close their establishments.'
