ALDERMAN MILLAR PROTESTS.

Does Not Want Alderman Donovan to

Do Business in Eighth Ward Alderman Millar has decided to apply to the courts for an injunction to restrain Alderman Donovan, of the Twelfth ward, from doing aldermanic business in the Eighth. Mr. Donovan has his law office on the second floor of the Republican building, and Mr. Millar claims to be in possession of information that the magistrate of the Twelfth issues warrants and summonses from his law office and there in favor of the defendant. The costs, sits in judgment in these cases; that as in the case last week, were placed he carries a seal in his pocket for this on the prosecutor. His wife, Annie he carries a seal in his pocket for this

Mr. Donovan has his aldermanic office at his residence on Prospect avenue, near the corner of Hamlock street, but Mr. Millar says that he has evidence that he makes a good many cases returnable at his law office to suit the convenience of parties who cannot easily go to the South Side.

Inasmuch as the courts ruled that Mr. Millar or any other alderman except in the Ninth, Alderman Wright, could not hold police court, Mr. Millar thinks that no other alderman ought to be allowed to transact business in his Jurisdiction. John F. Scragg is attorney for Mr. Millar and will file a bill of equity some day this week.

criminal court was taken up with the trial of six assault and battery cases Slavs of Lloyd street. The defendants were Poweil Dominsky, Barney Ran-sky, Adam Yonolanis, Joseph Yonolonis, Michael Libanot and Powell Yaleman, Joseph Ribisch and his wife, Othelia, were the accusers. Mr. Soper and Mr. Harris represented the defense.

Ribisch's double house, got along well together, and on the night in question, the prosecution alleges, some of the Dominsky's threw through an opening in the basement partition. Ribisch went next door to ing him unmercifully left him bleeding and insensible on the ground. Mrs. Ribisch, who interfered to save her husband, was also roughly handled.

STORY OF THE DEFENSE. The story of the defense was that Ribisch came to Dominsky's house and with a drawn knife in his hand, demanded his rent. Dominsky and his pockets and was in the act of making off with his pocketbook when he interposed an objection and ordered Ribisch to leave the house, Ribisch turned on him, and in defense of himself and wife he ejected the intruder. The other defendants were inactive and disinterested spectators.

All of the dozen or so witnesses on either side had to be examined through an interpreter. This fact, coupled with the confusion of names and the conflict of testimony, made it virtually impossible for a jury to arrive at a just conclusion, except by chance or accident. The likelihood is that "not guilty, divide the costs" will be the finding returned this morning, when the jury reports.

William Brennan, a prospector and driller of Green Grove, admitted in court yesterday that he threw Alonzo ed an invitation to the society to hold its meetings at his office. The invitation was accepted with thanks. Of the doctors Hoyle out of a wagon, hit him in the neck with a neck-yoke and felled him by a blow over the head with the butt end of a musket, laying him up in the hospital for two weeks or more, and yet was acquitted of the charge of assault and battery.

ACCORDING TO HOYLE.

According to Hoyle, all this was done without provocation, but Brennan's story convinced the jury otherwise. Mr. Brennan related that Hoyle was farm near Green Grove, over which Brennan, who is the owner's son-in- low." nan to mind his own business,

Then Brennan jumped on the wagon and threw Hoyle off. Hoyle seized the whip and was about to belabor Brennan with it, when the latter rushed to the barn for protection.

Before he could close the door Hoyle reached the barn and again raised the who was proved by witness to have been a prize fighter and all around "good man" in his early days, was not even dazed by the blow and when Brennan retreated to the house he gave chase, carrying the neck-yoke with house, upstairs and downstairs, followed by the enraged Hoyle. Finally, in desperation, Brennan seized a gun and stood his ground. Hoyle came along like a mad man, the neck-yoke raised aloft. The men met and Hoyle went down from a blow on the head and day for over a year. with the butt of the gun. Brennan picked him up and secured medical atnursed until he was able to leave the house. The jury, after being out only guilty and placed the costs on the prosecutor.

Andrew Harum was called to answer the charge of malicious mischief pre-ferred by John Jezerski. He entered the plea of former acquittal and when it was shown that he was tried and found not guilty of the same charge last week, when Michael Olozynski was the prosecutor, court directed a verdict Harwin, was charged by John Geriska with being implicated in the same offense, which was breaking windows in Ceriska's house; but she, too, was acquitted and the accuser called upon to pay the costs. Mr. Olver represented the defense. The case of false pretenses preferred by J. D. Lloyd against Theodore C. Burger, was settled upon the defendant paying the costs.

A verdict of not guilty was returned in the case of Michael "Scully" Mc Guire, charged by Martin "Boney" Mc-Lean with the theft of a watch. Patrick Hennigan, charged by Patrick J. Kelly with embezzlement by constable; John McNicholas and Patrick Gallagher, charged with assault and battery by Stanley Doer and John Ward, charged by Thomas McCabe with selling liquor without a license failed to answer when their cases were called for trial, and on motion of District Attorney Jones, bail was forfeited and a caplas issued in each case. Great Bargains. Headquarters for bargains in watches, clocks, jewelry, etc., at Davidow

Oliver Byron, supported by Kate Byron and company of comedians, will appear at the Academy of Music Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings. On Friday they will be seen In the new romantic comedy drama, "The Turn of the Tide," written by David Higgins, author of "The Plunger." The piece is full of startling situations, with pienty of comedy, creating roars of laughter during the four acts of the play. The sentimental portion of the piece tells a beautiful story of love and revenge. Oliver Byron as Vandeleur, has a part that suits him well. Kate Byron, as Peggy, an Irish character, in which she has won much fame. The company is an excellent one; there is plenty of singing and dancing, and the piece is well mounted with new and beautiful scenery.
