FORECAST OF HOUSE PROCEEDINGS

The Lord Bill to Amend the Postal Laws So as to Prohibit Transmission in the Mails of Serial Novels and Sample Copies of Newspapers. Pacific Railroad Funding Bill.

Washington, Jan, 3,-When the senate meets Tuesday morning after the holiday recess it is quite likely that the debate on matters pertaining to our foreign relations and the position assumed by Secretary Olney for the executive, will at once begin to take shape. Whether Mr. Cameron will call up the Cuban resolution on the opening day of the session is not yet known, for that senator has not returned to the city, and the subject is entirely la he will seek to force the issue on the opening day, owing to the fact that the senate present.

Mr. Hale, who is looked upon as the the senate, said vesterday that several on the subject had come out against On the other hand, Messrs, Cameron Lodge, Chandler, Morgan and Mills assert that the sentiment favoring ac tion by congress is becoming more vigorous and that the fighting will b forced from the start. Mr. Hale, who in the absence of Mr. Allison, is acting chairman of the committee on appropriations, expects to have the army bill reported to the senate Wednesday and this will be put forward to an tagonize the Cuban proposition.

Two speeches are booked for the com ing week, one by Mr. Peffer, probably Wednesday, on his resolution for th appointment of a national monetary conference, and another by Mr. Procto on the joint resolutions providing for the election of president and vice presi dent and senators by popular vote,

After this bill has been disposed of, the rest of the week-Thursday, Friday and Saturday-will be devoted to the consideration of the Pacific railroad funding bill, reported by Judge Powers, chairman of the committee on Pacific railroads. Two days will be given to general discussion, and one day to debate, and action in committee of the whole upon proposed amendments. The bill will be reported to the house at 5 o'clock Saturday and the vote on its passage taken on Menday, the .11th inst., immediately after the reading of the journal. The debate on this measure will doubtless be interesting, owing to the opposition which exists among members of the house to the action of the majority of the committee. The bill proposes to extend the government lien over all the physically properties of the companies, which it is claimed the present lien does not cover and substitute for all outstanding obligations a new 4 per cent, mortgage, the government debt to be carried at 2 per cent. per annum. In addition to this, the Southern Pacific company is required to pay the amount charged against the his hands. The American Arrested for Murder Has Been Released.

Can Diego, Cal., Jan. 3.-Charles A. Miller, the wealthy American recently arrested and thrown into a Mexican dungeon or a murder charge, has been cleased on his own recognizance on orders from the general government Mr. Miller was charged by the authorities of Omelopec, state of Guerero, with the murder of Lieutenant Eduardo Zepeda on October 6th.

The accused has given the most positive proof of his innocence and has succeeded in turning the tables upon ble accurers to such an extent that a rigid investigation is now going on under the military authorities, unearthing what promises to be a wholesale conspiracy in the state of Guerrero to have Miller done away with and his property divided, besides gigantle frauds against the government in revenue taxes.

from Starvation.

INDIAN GOVERNMENT IS HELPLESS

Russia Is Doing More Than Great Britain to Relieve the Starving Multitudes -- The Plague at Bombay Adds to Its Terrors .- British Aid Will Be Necessary.

London, Jan. 3.—The letter of ex-Judge Goodridge, published last week in the Englishman of Calcutta, pointing out that the means adopted by the government of India to check the fam-ine were entirely inadequate, declaring that thousands of persons are dying from starvation, and calls attention to the general apathy on the subject thus far displayed in England. The queen some time ago sent a telegram to the vicercy of India expressing sympathy for the sufferers and premising that they would be assisted, but thus far nothing of consequence has been done by the imperial government to avert the effects of one of the greatest calamities that has ever threatened India.

Comparisons are made in the matter between the attitude of Great Britain and Russia, which do not redound greatly to the credit of this country. It is known that the Czar has several times expressed himself as being deeply concerned in the outcome of the famine, and his interest has taken a practical turn. One of the means adopted by the Czar to secure aid for the sufferers was a grand concert, which produced a large sum of money. All the artists who appeared volunteered their Rhondes did not understand at first services, and all the receipts were devoted to the fund for the victims. As the affair was under the direct patronage of the Czar and Czarina, almost the entire court was present, as were also the civic and military officials in St. Petersburg.

The newspapers of Moscow and St. Petersburg continue their earnest appeals for help for the famine sufferers. and in other directions steps are being taken to aid the victims. In some English quarters the opinion obtains that this generous action of the Russians is only a mask hiding some deep-laid political scheme, having for its object the raising of disaffection in India against express their approval of declarations that have appeared in certain Indian papers to the effect that aid from such a source should not be accepted. But they do not urge the government to extend ald to the sufferers, and in the meantime thousands of the natives are those who are not blinded by hatred right. of Russia that the Russian movement had its origin entirely in charitable motives, and that it was intended as a response to the foreign aid given at the time of the great Russian famine some five years ago. The Russian newspapers point out in their appeals for subscriptions that had it not been for the aid extended to the Russian sufferers by Great Britain and the United States the death roll would have been much larger than it actually was. Quantities of grain have been purchased with the money raised by public subscriptions in Russia, and the Russian government has undertaken to forward the grain to India free of cost, to cope with the situation, and unless imperial aid is extended the famine visitations of the kind that has ever affected India. Advices received here from Bombay show that the bubonic plague, which is supposed to have been imported into that city from Hong Kong, where it raged with great violence about a year natives, who, thus far, have been the principal sufferers. Thousands of the residents have fled from the city, but their exodus is more than counterbalanced by the arrival of large numbers of victims of the famine, who are pouring into the city in the hope of eitner pangs of starvation. These, weakened by want of food, quickly fall victims to the disease, which thus far has baffle the efforts of the physicians to contro

The sanitary condition of the native quarters also tends to the spread of the disease, but the natives, with their usual fatalism, are not to be taught the benefits of cleanliness in their habltations, and accept the plague as a visitation from their gods. It is thought that unless the sanitary regulations can be enforced by the civil authorities, it will be necessary to call upon the military for assistance in compelling the natives to observe the health laws.
