SHE KNEW WHAT TO DO.

This Woman Had Read How to Assist the Injured.

In some unknown manner Stanislaus Yoschkovick of Remington avenue, had his hand severely crushed by a Delaware and Hudson passenger train at 7:25 Saturday morning near the Steel Works station. The train was stopped and the train hands upon picking the injured man up found that his right hand was bleeding profusely. A woman who was a passenger on the train observed this, and taking two handkerchiefs from her pocket, she tightly bound the arm above the wounds and materially lessened the flow of blood.

Yoschkovick was taken to the Lackawanna hospital, where all the fingers and the thumb of the right hand and to be amputated. It was also ascertained that he had a number of severe bruises and some internal injuries.

NEW YEAR'S SERMON
BY DR. ROBINSON

Preached in the Second Presbyterian Church Yesterday Morning.

APPEAL TO MAN'S BETTER NATURE

Created After the Image of God, Man Disputes the Teachings That He Is Only Material and a Crod of the Valley—It is Demanded That Man Awaken, Receive the Good Impulses from on High and Even Stand in Awe of Himself.

A New Year's sermon that was strong in thought and gave evidence of much scholarly research was preached in the Second Presbyterian church yesterday morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Chas. E. Robinson. Dr. Robinson strove to emphasize the fact that man is something more noble and spiritual by nature than a worm or clod or inanimate thing, and, being created after the image of the God, is bound by the nature of his creation to aspire to follow God's teachings.

Preceding the sermon Dr. Robinson delivered a five-minute address to children. His sermon text was from Matthew, xii, 12. "How much then is a man better than a sheep?" He said: "The importance of the thought is suggested by the real and exalted meaning of life and living. In it there is no sympathy nor congruity with certain teachings that man is only a material thing, a clod of the valley. Such belief is neither Biblical, philosophical nor Christian. Man is man and any attempt to make him anything else will have the same effect as that of constantly upbraiding and demeaning a boy."

"Christ knew that man was made in His own likeness and He knew what was in him, that his qualities were God-given and calculated to elevate him and the world and not to degrade either. Christ came not to condemn a worm or a sheep, but the prince of the line, the lost heir of God's kingdom. The proof of man's greater aptitude for goodness is shown in the happiness that comes with goodness. In the consciousness of it man often stands in awe of himself."

TOLD IN GENESIS.

"The creation of this wonderful world and of man and his power" is told in that familiar and first book, Genesis, written by the cultured Moses, who could not have laid his intellect and good instincts to the task of recording an untruth. "God made man in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them. He blessed them and gave them dominion over the whole world. Take that for your thought, and, too, that the Father's gift was His son."

"It is a good thought that Christ was willing to take on the appearance of our nature. It suggests what I may say is a heart-melting impression by the price He paid in redeeming us."

"Let us not forget in this week of prayer the debt we owe and the bounty we get in the payment. In this season let us turn frequently to that much loved, that great and glorious chapter, the eighth of Romans. God help us that in grasping its letter we do not fail to appreciate its spirit and the heart of it. Leaving out the magnificent contained in the first fourteen verses, we read in the fifteenth 'For ye have not received the bondage of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. If children of God, we are heirs of God. Will we not prove worthy? The twenty-eighth verse says, 'And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to His purpose.'"

MORE THAN CONQUERORS.

"Who is the heir to condemn when it is Christ that died? 'Nay,' as Paul says, 'In all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.' 'Ye that were once afar off are now made nigh, and we can add, in the blood of Christ."

"To have a Savior come to redeem us is but a small part; we must stir, wake up and realize that to eat His flesh and drink His blood is to partake of food sent down from heaven. He that eateth this bread shall never die; dwell Him in ye and ye in Him."

"Perhaps you have noticed what a sleekness there is in a halibut as it lays delirious and stretched on the ground. But it is stirred and assumes its beautiful curved contour when the air that belongs to a higher altitude enters it and it struggles majestically to be free. Finally it is released and soars away, upward, upward. How similar is man's nature. The angels must see it abject, wrinkled and misshapen until entrance is given for the thoughts that come from higher and terrestrial altitudes, when it rises in its beauty and is ready for release and flight into the beautiful eternity. As Browning says, 'We are sunk enough here, God knows.'"

"Let our souls be stirred by the thought of the promise that we 'shall live again.' How would the angels sing? 'Yes, my brother, but how you would sing! Let the thought be not in the flesh, but in the spirit of the song.'"

SERMON BY REV. C. J. COOPER.

Delivered Last Night in the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Rev. C. J. Cooper, treasurer and financial agent of Muhlenberg college, Allentown, occupied the pulpit in Trinity Lutheran church on Sunday evening and preached to attentive audiences at both services.

His text last evening was I Peter, iv, 12-19, on the sufferings of the Christians in America. The epistle of Peter was addressed to the Christians scattered here and there throughout the Roman empire, where, because of their Christian faith and practices they were subjected to persecutions from Jew and Gentile—hence the apostles wrote words of encouragement and admiration.

"Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you as though some strange thing happened unto you, but rejoice inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings."

These words do not apply to the Christians in America today in the same way, for here in this Christian land we are enjoying freedom from all persecutions, from Jew and Gentile, and are allowed to worship God according to the dictates of our own consciences. And yet the Christians of America have sufferings also, but they are chiefly self-imposed, owing to the sinful conditions in which they are born and still live.

"The apostle admonished the Christians not to suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busy-body in other men's matters. Now while Christians are not guilty, as a general thing, of murders, thefts and other lawless actions, yet the root of murder and gross deeds of vice and crime is the want of love in the heart for "he that hateth his brother is a murderer." It is a deplorable fact that there is a great want of love in the hearts of many professed Christians. While none of them would stoop to murder and theft, yet the spirit of hatred and covetousness still found in many hearts, subjects those people to suffering, and rightly so.

For that is what is done with murderers and thieves. But the great trouble with every class of people is that there are so many "busy-bodies" in other men's matters—and a good deal of the church troubles of today must be ascribed to the busy-body, the slanderer and gossip and tale-bearer.

THEY WILL NOT ESCAPE.

The apostles warn Christians against "The judgment that must begin at this houses of God." The church members will be subjected to judgment as well as the rest of the world. What will be his plea? Has not God instructed, warned and admonished all repeatedly from week to week? What will be the excuse? None. Nor does God intend that the judgment should be delayed until the judgment day—for He directs us to discipline the offending and erring brother in all love and meekness—and if he will repent and reform he may be retained, but if he persists in his evil course the church is directed to pass judgment upon him and to refuse to have fellowship with him.

So does God deal with His people, giving them time and opportunity to repent and believe, but if they persist in their evil course He will cast them off into outer darkness.

WEEK NOT APPROPRIATE.

Local Clergymen Do Not Favor This Season of the Year For a Week of Prayer.

The Evangelical board's selection of this week for the week of prayer throughout the United States does not meet with general favor in Scranton. The time is considered inappropriate and there is a general observance of the week in the city's churches, though a number of congregations will follow the recommendations of the board.

In the central city the Second Presbyterian church will be the only one of the large congregations to hold the weekly worship.

Rev. Dr. James McLeod, of the First Presbyterian church, said to a Tribune reporter: "The officers of our church believe, and I concur with them, that this is not the proper season for a week of prayer; it will be observed in our church in the last week in Lent. Just now merchants are busy with their inventories and they would find it almost impossible to attend several services in a week. Home circles are occupied, too, with the entertainment of young men and women from the colleges and this is a part of the Christmas festival season when parties and other social doings are in progress. We believe Lent is the proper time; the season is appropriate then."

The same sentiment was expressed by Rev. Dr. Dixon, pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church. He remarked that during Lent was the most opportune time, both from a worldly and a church point of view. No week has, however, been selected by the Penn Avenue church.

The topics selected by the Evangelical board are as follows: Tonight, "Hamletism and Theosophy"; tomorrow night, "The Universal Church"; Wednesday night, "Nations and Rulers"; Thursday night, "Missions"; Friday night, "Families and Schools."

Union services will be held on the West Side at a special evening in the Plymouth Congregational chapel at 7:45 p. m., conducted by Rev. J. P. Moffatt; Tuesday in the First Baptist church, Scranton street, 7:45, conducted by Rev. J. B. Sweet; Wednesday in the Washburn Street Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. F. S. Matthews; Thursday in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, led by Rev. T. Bell; Friday in the First Welsh Congregational, a meeting of all the churches is being planned for the consideration of the union subject, "Families and Schools."

BASE BALL PLANS FOR THE SEASON

Discussed at a Conference of the Scranton Owners.

MANAGER GRIFFIN IN FULL SWING

The Owners Have Placed No Restrictions on His Plans—New Outfielder and Pitcher Signed, Two Released Bought and Deals on for Other Players—Season Opens a Week Earlier Than Last Year and Probably in Scranton.

Manager "Sandy" Griffin, of the Scranton base ball club, reached here from his home in Fayetteville Saturday morning with base ball spirit and was in conference with the club owners in the afternoon left to spend Sunday in Wilkes-Barre, where he has many friends. His visit has not resulted in the making public of many new facts relative to the '97 make-up of the team. All the new players who have been signed or their release purchased are known, but there are a number of deals on which cannot be developed as the publicity might prevent the success of the negotiations.

Manager Griffin was looking his always robust self, appeared thoroughly refreshed and in good spirits and was satisfied that Scranton would be represented by the strongest team in its history. He was extremely chary about making any further predictions, but to those who know the relations between him and the owners there is reason to believe that he is confident of the faithful local followers of the game.

Griffin has had absolute carte blanche in his planning. No restrictions of any kind have been placed upon him. At the close of last season the owners showed their faith in him personally and in his judgment and experience by notifying him that he should prepare for this season without even suggestions from them. This has been done and the only part the owners have played has been to receive periodical letters from Griffin which served to keep them posted.

PLAYERS TO BE RETAINED.

Last year's players who will positively be retained are Ginnison, catcher; Gilman, pitcher; Maguire, third base; Kagan, left field, and "Jack" O'Brien, who may be played in the outfield or at second.

Catcher Berger will not be held if O'Neill, the Minooka lad, comes up to expectations. Tommy Johnson was done for pitch for Philadelphia at the close of last season, but the Quakers have failed to pay for his release. If the money don't materialize, of course Johnson will remain on the Scranton staff. "Big Bill" Massey is not surely a fixture at first base, but the indications are that he will be retained. No fault is found with the fielding of last year's shortstop and captain, Charlie Moss, but if a better hitter can be had he will be signed.

Buffalo has been flirting for "Pat" Meaney, Scranton's corking hitter, and would trade almost any two players for him. Scranton wanted First Base—man and Captain, and "Jim" Fields, but Franklin said nay and the negotiations ended. Buffalo has wanted Meaney and wanted him badly since July of last year and some kind of a dicker may yet be made.

The releases of Pitcher Harper and second baseman Frank Bonner were purchased from Brooklyn six weeks ago, but terms have not been made with the players. Harper is in California and Bonner in Wilkes-Barre, where Griffin probably saw him yesterday and may have something to report when he returns to Scranton today. Both men are as willing to play here as anywhere else.

WELLSER, A PITCHER.

William Wells, of Hamilton, Ohio, a pitcher who played last year with Galveston and was one of the best pitchers in the Texas league, has been signed. He is built, physically, on the Rusie plan and is a right hander. Griffin says he has deals well started with two other pitchers, one a southpaw.

JAIL NO PLACE FOR HIM.

A Supposed Insane Man Sent to the County Prison Recently.

Martin Kelly, of Carbondale, was sent to the county jail Saturday for thirty days by Mayor Bailey for being drunk and trying to effect an entrance into a Spruce street store.

That a charge of attempted burglary was not preferred against him is explained by the fact that he is, according to the police docket, a little off in his upper story. He has been frequently arrested in Carbondale and several times before in this city. The county jail officials decline to accept him, as they claim he should be in an insane asylum and not a prison. It was proposed yesterday that he be sent to the Hillside Home, but there was some doubt as to whether or not he was a charge on this docket or Carbondale. When the question is settled it is probable that he will be removed from the jail and placed where he can receive treatment befitting his case.

TRIED TO THROW THE OFFICER.

Just to Make Cause for Arrest McKinney Committed an Assault.

"This man served time for arson" follows the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct set opposite Milton McKinney's name on the central police station docket. Why this memorandum was made does not appear on the surface, but it was posted shortly to give weight to the complaint made by Patrolman Day that McKinney caught him by the lapels of the coat and tried to fire him off the sidewalk.

McKinney wanted the patrolman to back off, a reason that he could not be locked up without cause. Thereupon he proceeded to effect a cause by assaulting the patrolman. Mayor Bailey gave him fifteen days.

PROF. J. D. REGAN'S FUNERAL.

Remains Laid to Rest in Hyde Park Catholic Cemetery.

Saturday morning the funeral of Professor J. D. Regan took place from his late residence, 522 Lackawanna avenue, and was attended by a large number of friends. At 10:30 a requiem mass was celebrated in St. Peter's cathedral by Rev. J. W. Malone, who also delivered a sermon, talking for his text the words: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord. From henceforth rest, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors, for their works follow them."

Interment was made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery. The pall-bearers were Mr. J. Kelly, James Carroll, C. P. Durkin, Thomas Connor, Thomas Kelly and T. F. Connell.

SWISS RESIDENTS CELEBRATE.

Had a Pleasant Time in Blatter's Hall on Lackawanna Avenue.

The members of the Swiss Maennerchor, composed of a number of the Swiss of the city, held interesting Christmas exercises Saturday night in Blatter's hall on Lackawanna avenue. There was a gorgeously decorated Christmas tree loaded with good things and presents for the children and an impromptu literary and musical programme, followed by dancing, was carried out for the edification and amusement of the grown persons.

Professor Korn was pianist, and the Rev. Edward Lange, the musical director of the organization, had charge of the musical part of the programme. The celebration was presided over by Professor E. Gloor, the president of the Maennerchor.

DEATH OF WILLIAM EAGAN.

Was an Old and Well Known Resident of Bellevue.

William Eagan, an old and well-known resident of Bellevue, died yesterday morning at 1:30 o'clock, at the family residence, No. 342 Third street. He was the father of William Eagan and Mrs. D. F. Kearney, of this city, and Joseph Eagan, of Atlantic City.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2 o'clock. A requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's cathedral and interment will be made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.

and hopes to get both of them. Their names are not revealed.

A new outfielder signed is John Walters, of the Fall River team, and said to be one of the swiftest in the New England league. He was recommended by Simon, who played with Manager Griffin on the Syracuse team, and by other of Griffin's player friends "down east."

The season will open April 29, a week earlier than last year, and will close a week later, but whether the first games by the Scranton club will be played at home cannot be determined until the schedule is made. If an old rule is applied, Scranton will play the first games at home, as last year the club opened in Springfield and Providence.

The players will report here April 15 and will train and play exhibition games for two weeks. Manager Griffin is now at work arranging exhibition dates, nearly all of which will be away from home.

IN THE COURTS THIS WEEK.

Grand Jury Will Sit in City Hall and Equity Court in Federal Building.

This is grand jury week in the court calendar. The sessions will be held in the common council chamber, city hall, the committee room attached, serving as the district attorney's office. The jury will be charged in the arbitration room of the court house by Judge Custer at 9 o'clock, after which they will repair to the council room to begin their deliberations. Two murder cases are on the list. One is the shooting of Frank Keszko by Constable Max Koehler, of Priebrung, and the other is the stabbing of Rocco Salvatore by Frank Dambrosio, of Dunmore. Equity court will be conducted in the Federal court room. Bittenbender & Co. dissolution case and the Taylor-Hannick dispute are among the important matters that will come up for a hearing.
