ARCHBALD.

The borough council met on Monday vening and transacted considerable business. President Jones presided and all the members were present. Bills were ordered paid as follows: Street commissioner's time, $84.81; Archbald Citizen, $2; John Carden & Son, $2.50; Crescent Electric company, two months, $410; J. R. McHale, police duty, $44; Edward O'Horo, police duty, $2; William Dougher, $4; Mrs. James Johnson, $5; A. Cawley, $3; M. Rupp, $2; C. Maule, $2; Martin Cawley, lumber, At the next meeting, on January 11, $58.59. The bills for police duty caused considerable discussion and it was finally decided that the council alone should say when the officers could go on duty. Two petitions were presented by residents of the Tuird ward and Salem street in the Second ward, asking for fireplugs. Mr. Law of the water company, was on hand to explain the amount of pressure furnished by the company, and the water committee was directed to confer with him in reference to the location of the plugs. The secretary then read a supplement to an ordinance of the "Archbald Trac-tion company" extending the time in which its road should be completed to three years from Oct. 10, 1895. Hardly had it been read when Mr. Behle vigorously opposed the granting of further privileges without some remuneration to the borough. He said he did not believe in giving away every street in the town and thus create a monopoly that would shut out all competition and place the borough in the control of strangers who had little concern for the welfare of the people. "If there is any money to be made on this," said he, "I think Archbaid borough should pointment as foreman of the Conl Brook juest for an extension of time in which the road may be completed. The re-mainder of the council seemed to think that the privileges asked for would never be taken and promptly passed the ordinance, Mr. Behle voting a solitary and vigorous "no." The secretary then read the proposals of the new foot bridge across the Lackawanna at the foot of Salem street. Justus Bishop's bid was $140; James O'Rourke, yellow pine, painted, $160; hemlock, $125; Thomas Spillane, $74 without cost of anchorage; Henry Revels. $150. The choice of the council lay between Spillane and O'Rourke. Neither had figured on all the specifications of the council and it was decided to have the bidders renew their bids to be disposed of at a meeting to be held on Wednesday evening.

JERMYN

There has been considerable talk reently of organizing another fire company in town. The present company has always done good work. They are ever ready for service, and are well equipped for any emergencies, and for a volunter company, bear a good name. both with the people and insurance companies. So far, within the annals of the present company, they have been able to skillfully manage all fires, but a time may come when another corps of firemen will be needed, but it is to be hoped that no such fire will occur. Those popular in the new movement are men of sterling qualities, and undoubtedly will work for the welfare of the town. Several years age a movement was started for the purpose of organizing a company by a few citizens. Considerable enthusiasm was shown for a time, but gradually the scheme sank into oblivion, but those interested at the present time seem determined to carry the scheme through. The music committee of the Methodist church claim they are not responsible for the church organ motor being the trustees. Borough politics begin to wax warm. Jermyn has got such a standing now that great care should be taken in the selection of the different officials. Geo. S. Dunn, the insurance agent, has declared his intentions to seek the highest office in the borough, viz., burgess. Mr. Dunn is a young man, whose abilities have been shown since moving to Jermyn some years ago from Forest City. When he made Jermyn New York, Ontario and Western rail-While serving in this capicity a building loan society offered him the position of state agent for Pennsylvania. A pleasant surprise was given Mr. James Sampson last evening, by the congregating of the members of his Bible class at his home. Mr. Sampson has been the class leader for about twenty-seven years, and during that time has commanded the respect of all. It was a very interesting party, as some have been members during that whole time. The evening was spent in talking over events which have happened during the last twenty-seven years. A lunch was served at a reasonable hour. Mr. Sampson was presented with an elegant rocker as a means of showing the esteem in which they held their leader. The following were present: The Mesdames George Cudlip, H. Fowler, Francis Gendall, Joel Morcom, Frank Baker, Theron Moon, George Woodworth, John Mason.
