SALOONS ARE CLOSING.

This community must be getting especially moral; two saloons have been closed up this week. Yesterday "the We laundry stiff college with sheriff" knocked at the front door of a saloon kept by a man named Carey on the corner of South Main avenue and Eynon street. The sheriff, however, was disappointed in the fact that said Carey had taken nearly every valuable out of the place. The removal was made at 1 o'clock in the morning when a big dray wagon rolled up to the side door from which silently poured a stream of tables, chairs, etc., etc. The other saloon closed up was that of Steve Maybe, on North Main avenue. Mr. Maybe managed the place for a man named Fitzgerald who resides in Olyphant,

WARD CAUCUSES TODAY.

Republican primaries will be held today at the regular polling booths in the Fifteenth ward and in the second district of the Fourin ward. In the Fifteenth ward Common Councilman Joseph E. Oliver is unopposed for reelection. Election officers will also be nominated in the Fifteenth. In the Second district of the Fourth ward only election officers will be named. In this district Richard S. Roberts announces himself for register of voters. John Lloyd is a candidate for register in the Fourth district.

MANY MINISTERS SPOKE.

At the union service of prayer held last evening in the First welsh Congregational church the attendance was large and the meeting the best in the week's series. Before the close of the service the matter of holding another week of prayer in the near future was favorably discussed. Rev. D. Jones, pastor of the First Welsh Congregational church, presided over the meet-

FORMER RESIDENT DYING.

Thomas Freeman, of Avenue C Bellevue, received a telegram yesterday telling of the critical condition of his father, Joseph Freeman, who is dying at his home, Williamsburg, Ia. Mr. Freeman left at midnight last night for the western city. The elder Mr. Freeman was formerly a resident of Bellevue, and is well known there.

THE LATE MRS. SERFASS.

Mrs. Lou M. Serfass, wife of George L. Surfass, 1116 Washburn stret, died on Thursday, January 7. She was stricken with paralysis on Tuesday, December 22, which rendered her speechless, and also deprived her of the use of the entire right side. She was perfectly conscious all the time until a few hours before death claimed

She suffered much, but was patient and cheerful through it all. She was of such a cheerful, genial nature tha all who knew her became her friend and to them her loss will be a severe rial, but to her husband and only sister, Mrs. Milo J. Wilson, her loss is reparbale. Mrs. Zerfass was a faithful attendant at the services at the Washburn Street Presbyterian church and one of the most active members of the Ladies' Aid society, and will be greatly missed by them. Mrs. Zerfas was born in McDonough, N. Y., in 1843, but spen th greater part of her life in Montrose, coming with her hus-band to Scranton thirteen years ago. Funeral services at her late home on Monday at 2 p. m. Burial private in Forest Hill cemtery.

A Thrilling Drama Seen Last Night at Academy of Music.

"On the Mississippi," a drama of thrilling interst, was produced at the Academy of Music last night before a large audience. The Ku Kiux Kian figures conspicuously in the develop ment of the plot and there is also a French adventuress and her scheming husband, who is the inciter of nearly all the crimes that are attempted during the five acts of the drama. The staging is elaborate. The drama opens at the shooting box of Philip Barstow near Chattanooga, Tenn., and in the next act the scene is transferred to New Orleans where scenes are located on the levee and in one of the city's gambling dens during Mardi Gras time. Another striking scene is in the Dismal Swamp above New Or-

TRIAL OF SOMEILLAN.

Tne American Accused of Conspiracy at Cuba --- General Weyler Does Not Believe in Rumors.

Havana, Jan. 8 .- The trial of Louis Someillan, an American citizen, on the charge of conspiring against the Spansh government began this afternoon. There was a large attendance of spectators. General Lee who recently said he thought the evidence against the accused was very feeble, was present. After the usual preliminaries the charges were read alleging that Somelilan was an agent here of the Cuban Junta and was in league with others to overthrow the Spanish authority in Cuba. In the case of Julio Sanguilly recently convicted of conspiracy, the defense protested against the formation of the tribunal. The objection was overruled. Then followed the reading of the evidence obtained at he preliminary proceedings, from which it appeared that Someillan received a code message from Key West, which the prosecution claimed referred to the landing of a filibustering expedition. Someillan was placed on the witness stand and testified that the telegram was intended for his cousin, to whom t was delivered. He declared that he never mixed in politics and he had no connection with the rebels. Witness was called by the prosecution but evidence was weak, they testifying to nothing that would support the charge against the prisoner. The court then adjourned until tomorrow, when further evidence will be heard. A delegation waited upon Captain General Weyler today to compliment him upon his conduct of the campaign against the insurgents. In replying to the delegation General Weyler said he ignored the attacks made upon him by certain newspapers in Madrid. These attacks were due to unjustifiable impatience. He was satisfied that the campaign in the province of Pinar Del Rio had given better results than was expected, not only to the triumphs of troops over the rebels, but also in the small losses sustained the army. He hoped that Gomez of the many members of the club, He has the lebel leader, would come to the made many friends during his short term province of Havana. Should he do so he would surely meet his end. General Weyler further said that he attached no importance to the rumors that he was to be deprived of the command in Cuba. If he were recalled others would do as well, if not better, than he had done. In conclusion General Weyler recommended patience and prudence and urged that all those loyal to Spain should do their best to support her. With union, he declared, the desired results would be attained. General Bosch reports the arrival at Bayamo of the convoy which the rebels attempted to capture while en route. General Bosch says that the insurgents lost over 200 men killed or wounded in the Loma Sordo engagement.
