AMUSEMENTS.

The management of the Frothingham takes pleasure in presenting to its patrons this evening the well known character comedian, Edward Harrigan, who stands without a peer in the de-lineation of eccentric and grotesque characters in his successful comedy of New York life entitled "Old Lavender," which has won the highest approval of emiment writers of two hem ispheres. The company and scenic environments are the same that enterof Ivorites of the West Side to be held tained New York amusement goers for in the Frothingham on Tuesday, May several seasons and the appearance of such an eminent artist in Scranton whose performances appeals to all classes of theater goers should be sufficient to fill the handsome theater.

> Billy Barry, the popular Irish com edian, undoubtedly has more admir-ers than any other comedy star on the American stage today, appearing in celtic character, and in his latest great success, "The Rising Generation," he has an opportunity of being seen at his best. His supporting company numbering twenty-five people, gives him the honor of having the largest comedy organization on the road. This atraction will appear at the Academy of Music Friday evening.

"The Gay Parislans" has made an unquestioned hit in New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia, and will be seen at the Frothingham next Saturday af-ternoon and evening. From the time the curtain rises on the first act until 10.45 there is not a moment when the action lags, but there is always a whirlwind of merriment. Apart from its fun it shows most favorably what serious consequences may result from a man's caring too much for another man's wife and the extreme danger to $3.00 Hats now. the wife of indulging in what to her seems mere harmless flirtation. In providing an excellent cast Manager Frohman has almost outdone himself in selecting the company. In this com-3 00 pany even those who play the least im portant parts do so with a capability and finish that is remarkable. The cast includes W. J. Ferguson, Sadie Mar-3 00 tinot, James O. Barrows, Mrs. E. J. Philips, Charles B. Wells, Margaret Gordon, Virgie Graves, Vivia Ogden, Marion Fairfax, Geraldine de Rohne and Perley Dudley.

The Oriental Extravaganza company will open a three-day engagement at Davis' theater this afternoon. Very flattering reports from this show have been received by Manager Davis. It is especially strong in its vocal numbers. There is an abundance of good scenery and beautiful costumes. The play is a travesty of the old-time story of "Bluebeard" and his numerous wives, hinging, of course, upon the inordinate curiosity of his last one. There are fine opportunities for laugh-making, and the company is said to make the most of them.

Of the "Sporting Craze," which apday afternoon and evening an exchange Reuben, the "sporty farmer, who goes Clark, the Dutch comedians, also forsake their line, Carlin appearing as Obadiah Broadbrim, a sanctimonious hypocrite, and Clark in a variety of The female parts are in the hands of Emma De Castro, Mrs. George Adams, Tonina and Lillie Adams, Cecil Iverness, Kate Helston and Viola Dean. On Monday and Tuesday with a special matinee on the last named day the Edison Vitascope and Concert company will be seen at the Academy of Music. The Chillcothe, Ohio, News says of the entertainment given: scenes shown were very interesting and realistic. Among the best were those of the whirlpool at Niagara Falls, the surf at Manhattan Beach, the dancing of Loie Fuller, the watermeloneating contest, the artillery in action, the Passaic falls, the bicycle parade. The waves at Manhattan Beach rolled on, one after the other, and one could hear the roar of the surf. The smoke effect in the "Artillery in Action" was very fine also. The vaudeville portion of the entertainment was very fair, some members being extremely good. jumping of Mr. Baker."

Mrs. Bridget O'Brien, 29 years old. a tenant in the house 247 Jay street, Brooklyn, is locked up in the Flushing avenue station, accused of killing her ten-months-old child Lillian, said Monday's New York Sun. George Mooney. of 323 Pacific street, shortly before 7 Misses May O'Hoyle, ... zzie Farrell o'clock last night found a child lying and Mary Carbine, of Olyphant, aton the sidewalk in front of the house 247 Jay street.

He thought at first it was dead. He licked it up and carried it to the Adams street station. Captain Miles O'Reilly sent for an ambulance, and when the surgeon arrived he pronounced the child suffering from a fracture of the skull. The child was taken o the Cumberland street hospital, where it died at 9 o'clock last night. It was a girl.

Captain O'Reilly sent Roundsman McCarthy to the Jay street house to investigate the case. He found the investigate the case. child's mother, Bridget O'Brien, laughing in her kitchen. He asked how the child got on the sidewalk, and she said she had thrown the baby out of a second-story window with the intention of killing it. "Why did you do that?" asked the policeman.

"It had the devil in it," she replied, "and I didn't want any devils around me, so I threw it out of the window." Mrs. O'Brien said last night that she was afraid the child she threw from the window would corrupt the morals of the elder child, and that is the reason she threw it out of the window.

The O'Brien family lived in Archbald about a year ago and moved from that city to Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. O'Brien was noted there as a woman of refinement and education, but was an omniverous reader of novels. Since her removal to the City of Churches several persons from Archbald have called upon her at the address given in the New York Sun's item.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien are well known here, they having lived on Hill street until about a year ago, when they went to Brooklyn.

Misses Katie Barrett and Hattie and Emeline Myers attended a party in Carbondale last evening.

The experience of the nine men at the Pierce mine on Tuesday morning was the principal topic of conversation here yesterday and the men are being congratulated on their good fortune in escaping death. All unite in saving that it was the most thrilling occurrence in their lives. They all fully realized their danger and most of them. when not hurrying to and fro trying to get out, spent their time praying. It this being especially true of the high was said yesterday that the part of the mine in which the men took refuge fell soon after they left.

tended the fair on Tuesday evening. There is a prospect of trouble in the Democratic party in the Second ward because of two calls having been issued for a ward caucus. The Times on Tuesday printed a call for a general caucus on Jan. 18 and a Second ward caucus on Jan. 21. Both were signed "by order of the committee," John J. Barrett, the chairman of the ward caueus last year, says these calls are unauthorized and that he alone has the power of calling the caucus. Agreeably to his view he has caused a notice to be posted calling a caucus for the Second ward voters on Friday evening, Jan. 15, at Father Mathew Opera house It is likely that this will be an interesting caucus, as there is a vigorous battle being waged for the nomination for school director from the Second ward. Heretofore a Democratic nomination in this ward has been considered almost equivalent to an election, but in view of the bitterness now existing it may not be this time. Mr. Barrett himself is a candidate for the office and his
