MASQUERADE PARTY.

Shield of Honor Receive Their

Friends in the Watt Building. The dancing hall of the Watt building was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers on Thursday evening when the Shield of Honor, Diamond lodge, No. 26, received their friends. The Germania band furnished the music for the merry dancers. In this masquerade party were seen a multitude of quaint costumes representing a variety of characters. Great merriment was occasioned by the strange make-up of the different guests. The success of the ball is due in a great measure to the excellent management of the commit-

Death of Thomas Thomas.

A cablegram from Pembroke, Wales received by Fred Thomas on Thursday, informed him of the death of his father, Thomas Thomas, a former resident of this city. Mr. Thomas returned to his native land about four years ago, after suffering from an attack of paralysis. Since that time his health has been poor. He was formerly a tailor, employed by August Gerhardt, on South Main street. Four children mourn his loss, Fred and Robert, who was with his father in Pemoke; Mrs. George W. Evans, and Miss Nellie, of this city. Mr. Thomas was sixty-five years of age.

necessary so to construct the dam that the floating ice will not interfere with the regular operation of the plant. The work was begun by the construc tion of an artificial canal along the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. Mrs. Gilbert Wermouth, who has been above the Lachine Rapids, and about five miles from Montreal. The main dam of the work, running out from the shore, consists of a series of isolated piers of masonry and concrete, and is constructed about 2,500 feet down the river from the ice fenders. These piers are made to form the flumes to take the turbine wheels and shafting, which generate and deliver the power. The sixty turbines will operate under head of twelve feet, and will develop 260 horse power each, making a total James Penticost has been seriously of 12,000 horse power, all the year round. There are three power houses in which will be located the electric generators, four in each power house each of about 1,000 horse power. These generators are coupled to a jack shaft, fined to the house for the past ten days and six of the turbines are connected to this shaft with bevel cone gears, thus transmitting to each generator the power of six turbines, or 1,200 hors power. The building extends the full length of the main dam, and is 42 feet wide, excepting at the power house where it is 60 feet. The original lea of the company was to generate the power merely and dispose of it on the jack shaft, and to lay out a large portion of the adjoining grounds into factory sites. Recently, however, it was decided to bring the power into Montreal and dispose of it there.

In addition to the great developmen of water power the Lachine Hydraulic and Land company has decided to lay out its property adjoining the work in the form of a model town. The property will be divided into suilding lots, drained, graded, supplied with water electric lighting and electric heating besides having its own electric railway

LINCOLN'S HORSE TRADE.

One Case in Which the Martyr President Got Worsted. From Harper's Round Table.

Abraham Lincoln was fond of a good story, and it is a well-known fact that he often illustrated an important point in the business at hand by resorting to his favorite pastime. Probably one of the best he ever told he related of himself when he was a lawyer in Illinois. One day Lincoln and a certain judge, who was an intimate triend of his, were banterinug each other about horses, a favorite topic of theirs

"Well, look here, judge, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll make a horse trade with you, only it must be upon thes stipulations: Neither party shall se the other's horse until it is produced here in the courtyard of the Lotel, and both parties must trade horses. If eith er party backs out of the agreemen does so under a forfeiture of $25." "Agreed," cried the judge, and both he and Lincoln went in quest of their respective animals A crowd gathered, anticipating som fun, and when the judge returned first the laugh was uproarious. He led, o rather dragged, at the end of a halte the meanlest, boniest, rib-staring quaduped, blind in both eyes-that ever ressed turf. But presently Lincoln ame along carrying over his shoulde carpenter's horse. Then the mirth of the crowd was furious. Lincoln sol emnly set his horse down, and silently surveyed the judge's animal with emical look of infinite disgust. 'Well, judge," he finally said, "this is the first ime I ever got the worst o
