"Old December and Young May" apsonified by an old man of about sixty | B. Belin, the architect's Scranton repyears who was arrested for aimlessly resentative. strolling about the city at three o'clock yesterday morning, with a beautiful and dashing young girl of about twenty It was early in the evening when Patrolman Kairus noted the pair in the vicinity of Lackawanna and Penn ave nues. They were doing the town and the indications were that she had relieved her aged companion of a liberal quantity of coin of the realm. The old man's name is Charles Earle, and his home is in New Castle, of which town he was at one time postmaster. He came to Scranton about two weeks ago and has indulged in a continuous round of dissipation ever since.

So notorious had he become in the saloons of the town, that a crowd of loafers followed him from one saloon to another with the assurance of a treat for the entire crowd at each place. He has spent a large sum of money since coming to town and when arraigned before the mayor yesterday was unable to pay his fine in cash but left his watch as security. The young woman in the case, Miss Nellie Wil son, keeps a house at 315 Center street and was at one time an actress. She paid a fine of $5 and was released.

A number of young men called to see her during her incarceration in the central station. The police believe she has an accomplice in a young man who it is believed, goes about arranging for her to meet unsophisticated men who have money to be relieved of.
